NEW CROWN

Even the janitors the day after could verify that Sunday night's Coronation Ball for Grande Czarina Gabriel II of the Peninsula was an elegant affair.

Not much else could be assumed when the garbage consists of butts and pieces of feather boas, rhinestones and broken champagne glasses.

But the garbage couldn't possibly match the splendor of the evening itself. Nor could the janitors testify to its tremendous success or the audience of nearly 400.

The Cabaret in Redwood City was transformed into the Czarina's Royal Palace for the evening, with satin banners in both hers and the Imperial Court's colors encircling the ceiling. Two antique Norman thrones were brought in and set up, each on a separate dais. One was for Empress Crystal and the other for the Czarina, their separate courts flanking them. Dominating the wall opposite the Czarina's throne was her personal banner and crest.

After the Empress and her court were seated, some of the most impressive and well organized pageantry in recent bay area history began.

Now, Dowager Grande Czarina Sally and her court presented themselves to Empress Crystal and took their places on the Czarina's dais.

Courts from Oakland and San Jose presented themselves before Duchess Craig and Countess Billie of the new Czarina's court made their separate entrances.

Dramatic music heralded the arrival of Gabriel and her entourage. Surrounded by four royal guards and dressed in the gown worn by Genevieve Eulold in "Anne of a 1000 Days," Grande Czarina Gabriel was officially given reign over the Peninsula by Empress Crystal.

Dowager Czarina Sally stepped down from the throne to make way for Czarina Gabriel, who then received and crowned Princess Royal Stormy and Grand Duchess Co-co de Straights (a REAL girl, who is straight). After the camp crowning of Duchess Craig and Countess Billie, sea-shell trumpeters and rhythmic tapping on a large gourd announced the arrival of the Chief and Chieftess of the Society Islands (Sandwich Isles). In a ceremony steeped heavily in native tradition, the Chieftess removed her crown and white satin mantle to greet the new Czarina with a hula, danced to log drums played by members of their entourage. Without acknowledging the cheers of the audience, her crown and mantle were put back on her and she and her Chief (wearing a magnificent white satin crown studded with pearls and rhinestones) took their assigned seats.

Several camp knighthoods were made, giving both male and female representatives of the gay community control over certain portions of the Peninsula.

ROGER THOMAS

This column's title wasn't changed because I've turned into some kind of an egoist. I changed it because so many people took exception to its former title. Since no one could go beyond telling me what they didn't like, I decided that I might as well be both title and content. (Modesty for days!!)

A new entertainer was unveiled Sunday at Grande Czarine Gabriel's coronation, who set the audience on its ear. Since my editor assigned the coronation to me for front page news coverage, I decided to devote my column space this week to that bright new entertainer, Bashka.

Bashka (which is Polish for "old hag") was the official entertainment for Sunday's event. His was to be a command performance to Empress Crystal VI and Grande Czarina Gabriel II. (As it turned out, Bashka's command performance was played to one empty throne - (how green boils the pot) - and to Grande Czarina Gabriel.)

Bashka, who lives with his dog Dushka (Russian for "my dear") and a huge portrait a friend painted of him, is not exactly new to the stage.

His first appearance took place when he was eight years old. He did Ethel Merman doing "Everything's Coming up Roses." "Everything--" is no longer in his repertoire, however. "God no! I hate that song," he said.

"I'd rather do something on Eve Arden, or Carol Channing," he says. Bette Davis? "Someone's already doing her, I think."

Bashka claims to have patterned his life after the styles of Joan Crawford and Carol Channing.

"Joan Crawford is my business influence. You know. She's sort of a pink and brown tweed suit. Carol Channing comes out of me when I want to be a little girl. You can flirt with Carol," Bashka said.

Carol must have been coming out of Bashka Sunday. After walloping the audience with six fantastic numbers and having a pie mashed all over his face and his original Dior cocktail dress, he gaily passed out gifts to the audience. Lubricated rubbers with a note attached saying "Bashka thanks you". His gift to the Czarina was a large piece of candy from the Cock-sucker Candy Company of Marin County, which he presented with an enthusiastic thrust.

Bashka is fun, and judging from audience reaction, we'll be seeing much more of him. (As a result of Sunday's show, Bashka already has a commitment to do a show at Gold Street.) It's too bad Crystal stalked out so soon. Her Imperial Highness missed a good show.

Bouquets, Angelo and Gail on fun plans at your recently acquired LANCERS in Oakland. Luella will don her lovely Guinevere outfit and trot on over to play musical chairs about your "round table." Am I invited to your first orgy?

New bars, new faces, new names; this girl's end is all unravelled in confusion over the many Grand (and Not-so-) Openings. Mercy me! ...let me see...the ROUND-UP on Folsom Street has swept out all the debris from their recent robust leather do. And those delightful boys are flirts... love 'em all!

NOAH'S ARK tied up long enough to crack the bottle of christening champagne and take aboard new voyagers who have signed on this heavenly seaworthy ship.

A face lift and an appropriate designation on Polk Street... "POLK GULCH SALOON", at Post St. Luella will be in SOON to check for polished spittoons and a congratulatory cocktail (you do serve in long-stemmed Baccarat, I trust!)

Were those packing cases of chrysalis chandeliers I saw being moved into the RIDE ON BAR? How utterly divine!... especially since the interior is scheduled to reflect western atmosphere, as I have been told. Guess I'll just have to nose myself down there and see first-hand what's transpiring. I understand there's something curious in the wind that whistles through the back room.

Getting on the Gay-bar-wagon is an ever infectious occurrence. The popular PICKLE FOX has a new sister neighbor on Valencia Street ... Art's Cave. FOX, be sporting and share a few of your friends with the former Straight house... at least the ones who occasionally relish a lively game of pinball in a quiet atmosphere.

Sausalito, your procrastination in reporting on the "S.I." only leads me to believe that there no longer is intention to present your former Gay Area fraternal friends with an ethical social compromise. Better luck to EVERYONE, next time the goose lays a suspiciously simulated-looking golden egg.

One acknowledges that by standards set centuries ago in royal houses, one in reign would rather perish under the guillotine's blade than disclose discomfort or injured pride. Such apparently was forgotten last Sunday night at the lavish coronation ceremonies in Redwood City's LE CABARET. It is a bit embarrassing that San Francisco should now be sitting down to a feast of humble pie. Peninsula, you're still leader in select Gay Area activities.

Darlings, have a marvelous time at your St. Valentine's "do's".

Theatre "THE BOYS IN THE BAND"

On March 5, as the curtain goes up at The Village for the 1971 Cabaret edition of "Boys In The Band", San Francisco will boast a new theatre company--a young, local group striving to prove that, not money, but good ideas and the community drive to bring them to reality are the basics for creating something worthwhile.

San Francisco Independent Theatre is the invention of 30 year old John Bush. In November, 1969, Bush began to work evenings as an actor at the University of Washington where he appeared in five shows in four months. He later moved to San Francisco and spent most of his time putting SFIT together.

Within a few months, Bush had the rights to do "Boys In The Band" in San Francisco and arranged for a cabaret theatre seating 400. He easily found nine talented and experienced S.F. actors, most unemployed, who were more than willing to invest time and a small amount of money just to be working.

Now, three weeks into rehearsals for a March 5th opening at The Village, "Boys In The Band" is taking shape. The cast is perfecting an updated, localized and innovative version of the play by Mort Crowley. The innovations being made with the show, such as making the cast and staff available to the patrons after each performance for informal discussion, are likely to become trademarks of the new company.

Although the main objective now is eight performances starting March 5 (with an option for eight more), the company is already looking for plays, perhaps a musical, where creativity and energy can replace most financial requirements.

The cast includes Ray Piccinini, who plays Emory. He has been the candy-bearing rabbit to Bay Area children's wards for the past six Easters. Bob Hroncich, playing Cowboy, pays his rent from, among other things, gigs as a clown. Chris Berry, who plays the "birthday boy", Harold, will himself be celebrating his birthday on opening night, March 5th.

Tickets and table reservations for "Boys In The Band" are available through Ticketron or by calling Steve Wynn at 647-5523.

During a brief period of time between the pageantry and a command performance that was scheduled for Empress Crystal and Czarina Gabriel, the Empress and her court suddenly got up and left for a bar down the street. The only hint of Her Imperial Highness's intent of an early departure was when her Chamberlain brought her half-full goblet of brandy and soda to the service bar to be emptied and cleaned. Although neither she nor any member of her court has since been available for comment, it was rumored that she left for lack of drink. Another rumor has it that her departure was a pre-arranged snub, the reason for which is unknown.
The various Royal Courts in attendance and the audience seemed to take little notice of the departure of the Imperial Court however, and the command performance by Bashka went on as scheduled.

A LETTER FROM OAKLAND

To Whom It May Concern:
 I don't know how to begin. I've never wrote to a paper before.
 There's a few things me and my lover would like to say and I'm sure many others want too. Thank you, thank you Wayne and Mark for the wonderful years you have given us all at the Club Carnation.
 Wayne and Mark are expanding their bar to San Francisco. I want to thank them for all the things they've done for the East Bay. Many of you may not know they were responsible for the first Grand Ball of the East Bay a couple of years ago. They also worked hard to elect and promote our East Bay Empress so we would be recognized by our Great City by the Bay. There the only two people we respect as people who try to promote goodwill and understanding among the gay people of the East Bay.
 Thank you again Wayne and Mark.

Peter and Fred
 and the East Bay

Peter and Fred:
 We are pleased to see such admirable response to a club whose cause was apparently so dedicated. We regret that the cause must be Oakland's loss, San Francisco's gain.
 The sacrifice in Oakland, we hope, creates a stronger bond between existing East Bay establishments and that community's gay people. We also wish Wayne and Mark the best of luck in their challenging endeavor.

dear john:

DEAR JOHN,
How big a deal is drag in S.F.? It seems that the Queens need very little excuse anymore to get dolled up. It was okay on Halloween, but I don't go anywhere that I don't see them. Aren't they jeopardizing Gay freedoms?
Butch

DEAR BUTCH,
Apparently, drag is very much an established behavior pattern in the City, but as long as the participants are not flaunting it or disturbing the public, I don't think they are jeopardizing gay freedoms. Perhaps they are exercising one of our rights.
I, personally, would like to see more social activities organized for the average Gay Guy who harbors no particular fetish, but simply likes to be with other males to pursue his pleasures.
Perhaps some of our readers have suggestions which would be beneficial to this segment of our community.
JOHN

DEAR JOHN,
My lover came home last week with a fresh (bloody) tattoo on his thigh. It is a fancy sign that says "chow down" and has an arrow pointing to his crotch. I blew up and told him to get rid of it. He refused and said "it's my body". I guess he's advertising for a harem. Would you advise my packing up?
Obsolète

DEAR OBSOLETE,
Your lover is right; it is his body. But I don't think the disagreement over the tattoo is the real issue here. Apparently the two of you have based your relationship solely upon sex or upon a shallow set of values. If you had any deep love and respect for each other, there would have been a discussion of the tattoo before it was applied, and such a trivial matter would never have caused such a breakdown.
I would suggest a complete re-evaluation of the basis and structure of your marriage and if you find that trivia is all that is holding it together, I would suggest a dissolution of the arrangement.
JOHN

DEAR JOHN,
I guess guys that have got to show everything they've got in their pants (plus an aid or three), are doing their thing, but it really cools me. A lot of cats want to see the merchandise, but isn't it really a turn off to the majority?
Inhibited

DEAR INHIBITED,
Although I cannot speak for the majority, I would think that if all one is looking for is what a guy "has in his pants", then the obvious basket would be a "turn on." However, if one is interested in the total human being and his personality, it should not matter so much what size equipment he is walking behind.
Also, the "big box" is often deceiving and those interested only in size can be disappointed.
The most important thing is for one to exercise a certain amount of discretion and good taste when out in the general public. When at gay parties, bars, etc., dress is a matter of personal taste.
JOHN

DEAR JOHN,
Honesty happens to be one of my virtues, but since this trait is so uncommon in today's society, my lover always doubts me when I speak the truth. He accuses me, for example, of answering his phone calls and saying that he is not in. When I maintain that the caller had the wrong number in this case, he accuses me of "memory lapses". I do not lie or have memory lapses, but then I do not wish to break up with my lover at the present time. What should I do?
Persecuted George Washington

DEAR P.G.W.,
Insist that he answer the phone for a period of a week or two, and if he persists in his ridiculous attitude after that time, prepare for an end to your relationship.
Actually, he is trying to tell you in this strange way that he wants out, but apparently hasn't the guts to be forthright.
JOHN

Reprinted from "Dear Abby" in the San Francisco Chronicle.

"CONFIDENTIAL to the many who wrote to blast me for my refusal to put down the homosexual. The most burdensome problem the homosexual must bear is the stigma placed upon him by an unenlightened and intolerant society. Their sexual bent is as natural and normal for them as ours is for us. They are neither "sick" nor degenerate. They are simply "different." Mine is a plea for compassion and understanding for these misunderstood and mistreated souls. They, too, are God's children."

It is with thanks to Mrs. Van Buren that we share her welcomed comments with the Gay Community.

The Stars

HOROSCOPE
FEB 11 - 18

ARIES (MARCH 21-APRIL 20)
-Money matters are good, but be conservative. (Make friends with the owner of a waterbed rather than buying one just yet. Who knows what might develop?)

TAURUS (APRIL 21-MAY 21)
-Watch your diet! (Forbid you should get hold of a bad piece of meat, or something.) Also use care in travelling.

GEMINI (MAY 22-JUNE 21)
-You've a tendency toward moodiness now. Don't fret if he doesn't call. It may be your opportunity to go out and meet someone new.

CANCER (JUNE 22-JULY 22)
-Renewal of old friendships. (That groovy "straight" guy from back home may come to the City and NOW he is ready for action!)

LEO (JULY 22-AUG 23)
-Good period for shopping. (Need new "toys" from the neighborhood book emporium?) Go out to a party over the weekend as a busy week is to follow.

VIRGO (AUG 24 - SEPT 23)
-A friendly, romantic week. (Why not bake a batch of brownies and take them to that hunky new guy who just moved into the neighborhood?)

LIBRA (SEPT 24 - OCT 23)
-Avoid rashness (and rashes). Not a period outlandish dress or behavior. (Save the Hot Pink denims for another occasion.)

SCORPIO (OCT 23 - NOV 22)
-A restless period, but DO stay out of the parks. Travel indicated which should bring you into contact with an interesting set of circumstances.

SAGITTARIUS (NOV 23-DEC 21)
-A time for being with loved ones. (Perhaps a group therapy session with all of your favorite buddies would be in order.) Avoid dissension and radical changes.

CAPRICORN (DEC 22 - JAN 20)
-Be co-operative. (If he insists on going to Needles for the weekend, go. It can't hurt you this once.....or can it?)

AQUARIUS (JAN 21 - FEB 19)
-Use caution, good judgment this week. Keep affairs light and casual and avoid HEAVY trips. (Take that as you wish.)

PISCES (FEB 20 - MAR 20)
-Avoid impulsive buying. You need not think you have to completely furnish the new flat before throwing the orgy.
