Letters to The Editor

A Open Letter From Brother Bizarre

Dear Gentle Heavy Souls:

Of late, there has been a phenomenal amount of comment (well, okay, three letters) concerning the relativity and overall Gay-ness of the Advocate, apparently in response to my April 17 GAZE, "Touching Our Lifestyle." Therefore, I thought it appropriate to offer my thoughts on the subject, minus the facade of satire that one usually finds in my writings.

As we all know, David Goodstein took over the paper last year and fired most of the existing staff, who have since formed the up-and-coming success, NewsWest (anybody know where I can get a copy? I'm dying to see Buckshot's cartoons again!). We also know that the Advocate has been radically altered in format and design -- and most people agree it has been for the worse. With each succeeding issue, it has grown less newsy, more who's-been-doing-what-with-who-sy, until it is now nothing but a shadow of its former self -- effective then but ineffective now; sort of like SIR, but on a national scale.

As for the Goodstein Image of who qualifies as a gay (note the small "g"), one only needs to consult the questionnaire that appeared in the "new" Advocate's first issue. How many tape decks do you own? How many cars? What do you have in the way of stocks and bonds? What is the value of the house you own? Etc.? My characterization of Daniel S. Goodfag and his lover (who, you may have noticed, is a nameless "yes, dear" type of person) was based on this questionnaire.

Thank you Pam Jones and Don Jackson for your response to my work here at BAR. And I hope that Mr. Goodstein is reading as well; I'm dying to be on his Enemies List!

Cheers, etc.
Brother Bizarre
(Mark Owens)

Dear Sirs:

I am writing you concerning a recent new idea for gays, Cabaret Tours. Four gentlemen started this business in hopes of giving the gay community a new adventure and help get them out of the bars.

I personally would like to express my gratitude to these gentlemen for trying to do something new and exciting for gays. I also would like to express my disgust and disappointment in the gay community as a whole for not trying, at least half-ass, to make this tour company go.

I personally thought that the gays had matured enough to stop setting in baths and bars cruising. I'm sorry that this is not so. I hope you gays think of this company the next time you do say to one of your friend's "I wish there was something else to do besides go to the bars.

Thank you gay community for pulling together and supporting the other outside activities for gays.

With regrets,
Ray Dugan

Editor:

Responding to Don Jackson's letter in the last issue of the B.A.R. in regard to the Advocate:

Lately I've seen another newspaper around town called CONTACT. I purchased a current copy and a back issue in a store and was impressed with the professional news coverage. It seems to resemble the old Advocate.

Rather than waste our time discussing the faults of the San Mateo paper, it would be better to support CONTACT or some other good newspaper that may come along.

Apparently we DO have an alternative to fill the vacuum.

Sincerely,
Frank Storey

Milk Forum By Harvey Milk

72,000 people watching — 10,000 marching. No prior coverage by either of our daily papers. A lot of people just did not know about it until after the event. What would have been the size of the crowd if the Chronicle and Examiner had played it up ahead of time?

The Chinese New Year Festival will get $25,000 from the city's Hotel Tax. The Columbus Day Celebration will get $18,000. St Patrick's Day Parade $10,000. Latin American Fiesta $9,500. Filipino American Friendship Day and Japanese Cherry Blossom each $6,000. And on and on. The Gay Freedom Day Parade and Culture week will get zero. It is time that city hall stop taking tax money from the gay community and returning nothing. The Gay Freedom Day Committee should get funds equal in proportion to the turn-out of the other parades. The "gay" oriented hotels should withhold their tax dollars until this happens. The Gay Day committee should sue if it does not get its fair share. (Even with good advance coverage, last week's Filipino parade drew only 28,000 people.) Discrimination against the gay community is carried forth in many ways. We can not "force" the city's newspapers to give advance coverage of our parade. But we should be able to sue the city for our fair share of that tax money, which is spent so freely for other parades. The gay lawyers of the city should get together on this one - now - and if we do not get our fair share of funds, they should sue. There is still about $28,000 unallocated for next year's activities. Based upon our "drawing power," the Gay Day Parade Committee should get between $10,000 and $15,000 of that money. After all, where does it come from to start with?

It appears that the only way the gay community will be getting its fair share of funds - or anything - is to take action. Affirmative action. Even then, we still get shoved aside on too many issues. Last week's other case was a resolution out of the board of Supes that would have come down heavy on small, i.e., gay and other minorities - charitable organizations seeking to raise funds. Our "friends" on the Board of Supervisors who sponsored this piece of anti-gay legislation were: Feinstein, von Beroldingen, Tamaras, and Pelosi. Four supervisors who were not one bit in tune with the needs of the gay community. At the hearing, Supervisor Francois appeared only concerned about organizations that he himself had interest in. As gay person after gay person spoke out against the issue, he showed a complete lack of concern or interest. When Supervisor Pelosi's aide out-and-out lied to the committee about gay groups who he claimed supported the bill, Francois never questioned it when it was disputed. The point: whenever the decision comes down to returning some support to the gay community - which helps elect our "friends" - on an issue that greatly affects us, these supervisors are silent. Their concern rests with the large "established" organizations. Our "friends" on the Board turn their backs on us, time after time.

There may have been a need for some legislation due to the misdeeds of some organizations. But you don't put road blocks in front of every small charity, because of that. I do not see these same overly concerned supervisors asking for a police revue board because some police have been found guilty of being crooked. Only when the gay and other minority life-styles are questioned, do our "friends" on the Board of Supervisors become concerned about "protecting" all of us.

At that same hearing, there was a one and one-half hour debate on dog barking. While the city's tax rate goes sky high, while crime remains unabated, while Muni falls apart, while industry leaves the city, while unemployment remains high, we hear a debate on how many extra police should be assigned to timing barking dogs. Mendelsohn wanted ticktes issued after ten minutes of barking. Feinstein argued for one half hour of barking. Yesterday, our tax assessments - rents to us non-home owners - went through the roof - except for some large banks and insurance companies downtown. If it wasn't for real, our supervisors' hearings would make a great TV horror/comedy show.

On The Campaign Trail

Jess Retorrick paused and thought about his good fortune.

Everyone had heard about how he had unknowingly scheduled a speaking engagement next to a construction site, and valiantly tried to make his speech heard amid the din of jackhammers, bulldozers and riveting guns. The story had been in all the papers. It seemed certain that the incident would make Jess Retorrick look like a laughing-stock in the public eye and would certainly lessen his chances of becoming Mayor in the upcoming November election.

But wonder of wonders, when Jess arrived at his campaign headquarters three days later, he found telephone operators bravely trying to handle the deluge of phone calls from new supporters, office workers opening up congratulatory letters and telegrams by the hundreds, and his campaign manager happily announcing that their campaign fund was over the $1 million mark. Public support for his Anti-Noise Amendment had grown immeasurably and if anything, Jess's chances of becoming Mayor were better than ever. What had first appeared as an accident with disasterous consequences had become a major triumph.

But first of all, Jess Retorrick realized with a broad smile, the horrible clamor made by all those jackhammers, bulldozers and riveting guns had rendered a great deal of his speech totally unintelligible to the people listening to him -- yet they had seemed sufficiently impressed with his speech in spite of it!

Just then, Jess Retorrick had an idea.

"Ladies, gentlemen and fellow members," began Proponents of Individual Growth president Lee De Shipp, "it gives me the greatest of pleasure to introduce to you, here in Queensville Park, our keynote speaker of the afternoon -- the winner of the Gay Vote on Promise Them Anything just three months ago, and our next Mayor, Mr. Jess Retorrick!"

Applause greeted Jess as he stepped up to the podium. "My friends..." he began, when suddenly a bulldozer revved up nearby at the site for a new high-rise apartment complex. A piledriver soon followed, and before long, the site was alive with machinery and men, all making the biggest racket that they could possibly ever make, it seemed. Jess had his head in his hand, shaking it back and forth, and then with a gesture of here-goes-nothing, began his speech:

"My friends, I have come here this afternoon to (jackhammer), and to answer your questions as to where I stand. Gay people should always (jackhammer), and if I am elected, I will certainly take steps to (piledriver, bulldozer). As far as equal rights regarding employment, I have always felt that (riveting gun, bulldozer). Above all, you should (jackhammer), which is why I'm running for Mayor. I'm here to (piledriver) for you and others of your kind throughout the city. My record stands as proof of my (bulldozer, riveting gun), and of my ability to (jackhammer). Under my term, Gay rights will be a (piledriver, bulldozer), and you can bet your bottom dollar on that!

"In conclusion, I would like to say (jackhammer, riveting gun, bulldozer, piledriver), don't forget to support my Anti-Noise Amendment, and thank you for your votes."

Jess Retorrick stepped off the podium to the applause of at least a hundred new supporters, the meeting came to a close and everybody went home. Then the construction crew stopped work, and Jess waved to the forman and called out:

"Thanks, Dan. I'll send you your check in the morning!"

In the last issue of GAZE, the "News Item" which began "Tale of Two Tonics" was discovered to have been based on incorrect information. For this gross error, I offer sincere apologies to both the Gay Freedom Day and Gay Liberation Days Committees. The bulk of the article, however, I do NOT apologize for -- in fact, after seeing this year's parade, I believe in it more than ever!

Show Biz In Review

By Donald McLean

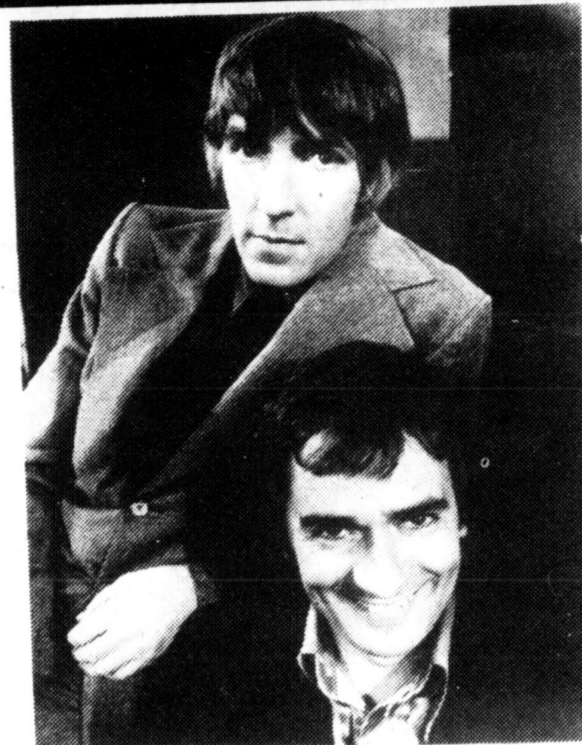

Stage: Good Evening

Two demented loonies named Peter Cook and Dudley Moore have been set loose upon unsuspecting San Francisco audiences at the Geary Theatre; if San Francisco audiences can appreciate a wry, irreverent outlook on life, they should rush to see these delightful madmen before their keeper tracks them down.

Good Evening boasts an entire cast of two -- Peter Cook is a tall, lanky deadpan gentleman who looks like a vivisectionist that enjoys his work, and Dudley Moore is an engaging elf who looks like a choirboy gone wrong. The evening consists of nine sketches and four songs. Nothing is too sacred for these two to take an outrageous look at;

indeed, one of the most uproarious sketches of the show is Gospel Truth, with Moore as Matthew (of Mark, Luke and John fame) interviewing the shepherd who attended Jesus' birth in Bethlehem. It's wonderfully irreverent but never in poor taste. Moore also knocks off little ditties at the piano from time to time, including the River Kwai Sonata, a florid arrangement of nothing but bangup endings. And he's convulsively funny as a screamingly swish unemployed actor moonlighting as houseboy for a staid English barrister, who "works my fingers to the bone!"

The humor is terribly British and not all the sketches work in toto. Tea for Two, featuring "Dud" and "Pete" of the English TV series, overstays its welcome and becomes labored. Ditto On Location. But since these inspired comedians improvise within the framework of their material, the laughs will change nightly. Their timing is perfection, their teamwork incomparable and their sense of humor bizarre. If the thought of a one-legged man applying to play Tarazan strikes you as funny as it does me, you should have a rollicking good time at Good Evening.

It's a huge giggle. Go and enjoy.

Stage: Beach Blanket Babylon Goes Bananas!

It's always interesting to see an old friend after an absence of several months. The first reaction is "How does he look?" "Has he changed much?" "Are those little lines of age beginning to show?" "Has he gained much weight?" Well, our old friend Beach Blanket Babylon has returned after a six month absence; the old friend looks great, has aged very well, age has brought a new slickness and polish and it's a much heftier show than before. BBB has definitely gained some weight.

The new Banana edition is located at the Club Fugazi, 678 Green Street, and it's a perfect room for the show. It's intimate, comfortable and has a high ceiling that allows Nancy Bleiweiss to sport headdresses of staggering height and proportion. Her every entrance is a major theatrical event.

"Banjo Eyes" Bleiweiss is an extremely attractive young lady who possesses one of those rare faces that seems in constant surprise at what its owner demands of it. It's a great face, a face in the tradition of Fanny Brice, Streisand and Carol Burnett, a face capable of being both funny and pretty at the same time. The brain behind the face knows exactly what will make an audience laugh...and laugh...with a skilled subtlety that belies her tender years. Nancy Bleiweiss is a born comedienne and BBB director Steve

Silver knows how to showcase his leading lady with style, charm and lavish wackiness. In the all new version, Miss Bleiweiss not only recreates her characters of Glinda the Good and Carmen Miranda (better costume for Carmen please), but adds a new character that's the epitome of country western singers, complete with white ostrich boa chaps, silver six shooters to the floor, and four feet of blonde curls and ringlets perched precariously upon her head. It's hysterical, especially when she and Tony Michaels (in a 30 gallon hat) link arms to recreate Gertie and Yul in Shall We Dance or as she belts out Tammy Wynette's Stand By Your Man while three Loretta Lynns shout encouragement in red, white and blue pinafores.

But sensational as Nancy Bleiweiss is, and she is, make no mistakes, her supporting company offers some stiff competition. Glenda Glayzer's rendition of Am I Blue is an absolute show-stopper, the vocal highpoint of the evening, tap-dancing tenor Tony Michaels scores several solid moments along the way, newcomer Jim Reiter is a welcome addition to the company with pleasing pipes and personality, the Blonde Venus gorilla strip offers Lynn Brown and three yellow gorillas a bright speciality, and Bill Kendall is a delight as Mr. Peanut. Philip Tobus is more at ease than previously and continues to provide heartthrob appeal, this time with an Elvis Presley takeoff and a Midnight Cowboy vignette. Fran Moitoza rounds out the new trio of girls; she's a dazzler but her one solo spot needs beefing up. Ditto the Christmas Tree and Santa (Kirk Frederick and Roberta Bleiweiss), resident BBB symbols. They seem curiously un-integrated into the new format. But the enlarged company are all first-rate performers under Steve Silver's unceasingly inventive direction and Steve Baumann's super-slick staging. And yes, the four French poodles are back in the pit under Michael Biagi's direction, playing their Alpo hearts out.

If you are one of the unfortunate few who have never seen Beach Blanket Babylon, there is no adequate way to describe the zany goings on at Club Fugazi; it's a visual Hellzapoppin' of exuberant high spirits and talent, magnificently costumed. Beach Blanket Babylon is back and it's going to be a much brighter summer because of it!

It's still the best entertainment buy in town!

STAGE: HOW TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS.

The remainder of the title is Without Really Trying and that sums up the most of the activity at the Curran Theatre. Many of the original Broadway cast are back together again 14 years later and mildew hangs heavily over the Curran stage.

Robert Morse still retains the boyish charm and keen sense of comedic timing that won him a Tony Award and made him the darling of matinee ladies. He now seems to be playing Finch for the approval of the orchestra and his fellow cast members. He goes through all the motions as if he could do the part in his sleep (and probably could), adlibbing and interjecting schlick as if trying to pump some interest for himself in trying to keep the role fresh. For anyone who ever saw Morse create the role on Broadway, his current interpretation is a pallid imitation of his former triumph. Being a performer who practically requires a director with a whip and chair to keep him from over-mugging, Morse has chosen to direct this production himself. Gone is the tight snappy pacing that made the show move like a rocket; now it galumphs along endlessly, flicking to life briefly in the Brotherhood of Man and Paris Original numbers.

Granted, the score is not particularly outstanding. The book is still funny but not terribly timely today. A brash window cleaner buys a book that tells him how to reach the top of the business world by skulduggery, which he does. Rudy Vallee is a completely inaudible and listless J.P. Biggley, Penny Worth plays the vapid Rosemary with a strong voice and a feeling she's parodying the part, and Christian Grey plays the obnoxious Bud Frump at a manic level that is right for the role but jarring to the lowkey level of this production. Joy Claussen is excellent as the sexpot Hedy LaRue and Ruth Kobart and John Myhers have managed to retain their level of performance that time cannot wither nor sluggish direction dismay.

The cartoon-like sets look like they've barely survived the fourth bus and truck company before reaching San Francisco, the costumes are colorful, William Joyce has faithfully recreated Bob Fosse's choreography, and the sound system is highly uneven.

If you've never seen a production of How To Succeed, the CIVIC LIGHT

OPERA has afforded you an opportunity at long last. But you may find it very difficult to believe that this was a show that won the Pulitzer Prize and every major award on Broadway in its heyday...with the same principal performers. Recreation is no substitute for energy.

FILM: ONCE IS NOT ENOUGH

Ya wanna bet!? I haven't heard a show title that was just asking for it right in the neck since Much Ado About Nothing. Once Is Not Enough is exactly what you would expect from a Jackie Susann novel; at it's best, it's fun trash, at it's worst, it's soap opera pap that makes Ma Perkins sound like Chekov.

Kirk Douglas, Hollywood's answer to Mount Rushmore, heads an all-star cast that really should have known better. Brenda Vaccaro manages to achieve new heights of vulgarity as a Helen Gurley Brown-type magazine editor, but she's campy fun. Only David Janssen offers an interesting, somewhat dimensional portrayal as a seedy novelist who falls in love with Deborah Raffin for reasons that totally escape me. Star-gazers will enjoy seeing Alexis Smith and Melina Mercouri portray lesbian lovers (they kiss! how shocking!), and to their credit, they both keep a straight face.

If you didn't read the novel, Alexis is the fifth richest woman in the world who marries Douglas to cover her romantic trysts with Melina, Douglas marries to provide a mother for Deborah, who falls for Janssen as a substitute father-figure, who...oh, who really cares!

If you don't see the film, let me commend you upon your good taste.

FILM: NASHVILLE

Contrary to what the New York critics would lead you to believe, Robert Altman's Nashville is not the greatest movie since Citizen Kane...but it's damned good. Altman has savagely stripped the pseudo-folksiness Americana of the country music industry to reveal the calculating play upon the gullibility of the Middle America public. Second-rate talents singing third-rate songs catapulted to fame and fortune by being "just plain folk." Salute the flag and rake in the cash, endorse sportscars and sing about how we're all equal, give to all charities but remain uncommitted. The hypocrisy of big business, selling the Common Man to the common man...and he has never been or will be. It's enough to destroy your faith in Eddy Arnold and Jimmy Dean's sausages.

Joan Tewkesbury's incisive screenplay covers five days in the lives of 24

people. Often it is abundantly witty, scathingly penetrating insincerity of fame, and under Altman's astute direction, it becomes a series of quick vignettes culminating in one final explosive, shattering scene that reveals the dogmatic, ostrich-like blind worship of any authority figure by the great grey public. The downfall of the film is the static pacing, each scene demanding equal importance and attention and leaving little room for building suspense -- result, periods of dullness -- and the lack of sympathetic involvement with almost all of the characters. Several are pathetic, a few downright appealing, but never are we emotionally involved with them. Almost without exception, the women of the film are brainless bodies manipulated by men, Dumb Doras with a dream. The men are calculating users, exploiters or mindless clods. But all 24 are fascinating to watch, even if we don't care about them.

The credits boast 24 lead actors, and to single any one or two out would be grossly unfair. All are superb in their portrayals. Perhaps it will come as a nice surprise to many that Ronee Blakely, Henry Gibson, Lily Tomlin, Barbara Harris and Gwen Welles all reveal a depth of talent previously unseen in their careers, or to see old pros like Barbara Baxley, Keenan Wynn and Allen Garfield turn in first-rate work. Karen Black, who seems to grind out a movie a week these days, appears briefly to little effect.

Altman has captured perfectly the feel of folksy Americana in a condemning portrait of the middle class. Of course, it's not you or me. We're not a bit like that...are we? Running in mindless adoration to mechanized public figures?? But my neighbor down the hall...

July 26th brings us, courtesy of A.C.T., Jim Dale in Scapino, a knock-about romp based upon Moliere's Foibles of Scapin, at the Geary Theatre direct from an L.A. smash engagement.

Cleo Laine sings at the OAKLAND PARAMOUNT July 22nd and 24th, but no S.F. appearance this year; Gladys Knight & The Pips sings July 24th at the OAKLAND ARENA, followed in July 25-27 by the Royal Lipizzan Horse Show; Carmen McRae returns to the GREAT AMERICAN MUSIC HALL July 18th only; Ray Charles brings his revue to the CIRCLE STAR THEATRE July 17 to 19th and Jack Aranson will present his portrayal of Othello at the Marina Aud. for 3 weeks starting July 15th, Bay & Fillmore. And if you're travelling abroad this month, you can see Charles Pierce in London, England, starting July 24th in the West End, giving Danny La Rue a run for his birdseed. George Buchanan brings his marionettes to the MABUHAY GARDENS on Broadway on July 15th for two short weeks.

For you old movie buffs, the CENTO CEDAR CINEMA is presenting currently thru July 30th a retrospective of classic RKO films. Call 776-8300 for weekly schedule. And the POWELL THEATRE has gone from gay porno to straight oldies-but-goodies at bargain prices, but still under the same management. From Fred Halsted to Vivian Leigh is quite a jump.

FROM THE OFFICE OF THE EMPRESS....

Doris' first thank you is to Her new friend, Tagu. If you didn't get a chance to see this extremely intelligent elephant in the Gay Freedom Day Parade, you missed a turbulent but fantastic ride. The idea of riding an elephant has long been a dream for Doris. Finally, Her dream was realized through the courtesy of the "P.S., Casa de Cristal, Mind Shaft, Nickelodeon, Rendezvous, Bay Area Reporter and the new Church Street Station. Tagu came from Marine World, Africa U.S.A. and the trainers accompanying her were courteous and quite concerned over Doris's safety. Doris promises Her Court that she will not take anymore chances during Her Reign.

by the Tavern Guild. Bella was fantastic with both her ideas and staple gun. Matt Brown did a fantastic job as chairman of the float committee. The Tin man, Scarecrow and Lion had a lot of fun with the parade crowd. Their costumes were created for the Oz production which opens August 15th at the Kabuki Theater, for a benefit for Operation Concern.

The Oz float workers were fortunate to be working along side of the gorgeous Buzzby float and Don Berry and his crew really put in a lot of energy and hours. Thank you Don for all your cooperation to our group.

The Hombre bus trip to Redwood City for Roller Skating was another huge success. However, Doris spent most of the evening at the Hospital aiding Matt who sustained a broken arm, a sprained back and facial cuts requiring stitches. Everyone injured is doing nicely and are looking forward to being able to accompany the next Skating Trip.

Doris wishes to bestow Her gratitude and appreciation to Her Lady-in-waiting, Imperial Princess Ginger for attending functions when Doris has other obligations. Ginger has been doing a great job as M.C. at several bar functions and was the recent winner of the 527's Royalty look-a-like contest. Ginger dressed as Empress Freida, accomplished an extremely close likeness, in both appearance and actions. ☆

FROM THE OFFICE OF THE EMPRESS....

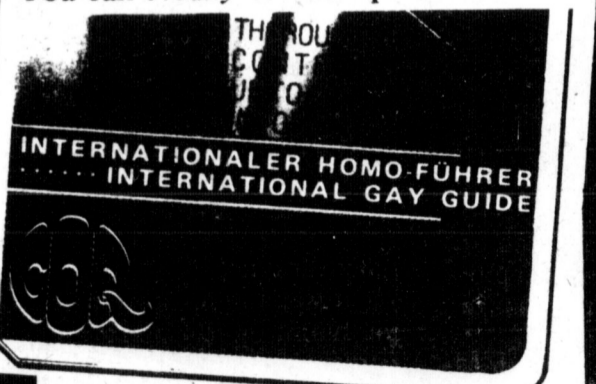

On Sunday, June 29th, Gay Pride Week culminated with the annual Gay Freedom Day parade. It was truly a day that we, of the gay community, could be proud. Although, the San Francisco Chronicle estimated the attendance at over 72,000, it would certainly appear to be a very conservative estimate. I would have put the figure nearer to 100,000. The Emperor, Bob Cramer, wishes to express his congratulations and thanks to the parade committee, organizers and to all the people who took part in this tremendous parade. Also a special thanks to members of the San Franciscans, Melvina, Shirley and Jose for their support and participation with the Emperor and the Cable Car Court in their entry.

A reminder that on July 15, the Council of Emperor's Candidate Review Board will meet to review applicants for the fourth Emperor of San Francisco. The board will hold an open session at the SIR Center and all are welcome to attend. Official candidates will be announced shortly thereafter.

How come the latest hair style always looks good on somebody else?

Because no two people are alike. The man who looks fine with the latest style is the man whose hair texture and features are complemented by that style. The trouble with any "latest style" is that it can't take individuality into account. So, a lot of men try it and end up looking wrong.

At King's Court we don't try to fit you to a hair style. We do it the other way around, by cutting your hair so that it looks best for your face. We take into account whether your hair is thick or fine and how much of it you have. We'll give you an individual style that will be easy to care for between visits. We'll even give you a cup of coffee and some lively conversation (but only if you want it). And, our prices may surprise you.

Letter From Mole End

Dear David:

How was your San Diego vacation? Was it a re-make of "Sailor Away," or did you spend it quietly working on that gorgeous tan of yours? Details, man, details.

I'm finally getting a tan the first time in several years, by using large amounts of Wesson oil on my skin after I get out of the sun, and baby lotion while I'm in the sun (but only for a couple of hours on the weekends). And, after trying the baby oil, cocoa butter, and several other things, I've found a combination that's working -- all over, just like the famous deodorant. Any of your fair-skinned friends might profit from this technique. No more Memorial Day burns for me...

I found another really pretty salamander in the garden the other day. Since they eat slugs and insects, I left him alone, and I'm even thinking about arranging a boggy spot for him to live in, if I can. This was the second I've seen: one under a hydrangea bush and this

The weekend of July 18 and 19, SIR Center will host two functions. First, on Friday, July 18, SIR will sponsor a dinner in celebration of its birthday. Also that same evening, there will be a musical preview of the upcoming production of the Wizard of Oz and a drawing for a $1,000 gift certificate at the Town Squire. On the following night, July 19, Bob Cramer and the Cable Car Court will present the annual Cable Car Barn Dance. Admission to the dance is $2.00 in advance and at the door. Included in the activities for the evening will be the introduction of the candidates for Emperor. All door and bar proceeds for both nights will go to SIR.

In August, at FeBe's, there will be an ALL-STAR Auction. The date is Tuesday, August 19 and all proceeds will benefit The California Committee For Equal Rights. For further details, please contact either Shirley or Dale Evans.

Congratulations to the newly elected members to the board of directors of the Tavern Guild, George Banda, Don Cavallo, Reba, Lorelei and Sweetlips. We wish you all a productive term in office. Also, a special congratulation to Gary McDonald, who was elected Secretary.

Saturday evening, August 16, will be Cable Car Court night at the Wizard of Oz. The production is a benefit for operation Concern and is produced by Doris X and the Daisy Court under the guidance of the Tavern Guild. Mezzanine seats have been set aside for that evening and the donation is $5.50 per ticket. Please contact Wally Rutherford for tickets.

Letters outlining available hotel accommodations, court presentations, pre-coronation week activities and ticket reservations forms are now in the mail to all out-of-town courts. The Coronation Ball will be held in the Garden Court and Grand Ballroom of the Palace Hotel on Saturday, September 13. Voting for the fourth Emperor of San Francisco will be open to residents of the five Bay Area counties from Noon to 8 pm the same day.

one under a potted tree. I'm hoping I find more -- the fewer slugs I have, the happier I'll be.

I've been putting coffee-grounds into the dirt back there, to loosen it up and maybe stimulate the worms to multiply. It's the strangest soil I've ever seen -- just about equally divided between loose, fairly goodlooking dirt and aggregated chunks as big as a fist (no, I'm not sitting on the garden lately). I figure, with two worm farms in town, I should be able to get enough worms in the yard to equalize the soil a bit. One of the farms is called As the Worm Turns, out on Chenery at Diamond near the Glen Park BART station. When I make up my mind I want to avoid a cutesy reference, I can go to the Good Earth Worm Farm, which is closer to my neighborhood anyway, on Potrero. Between the redworms and the French Market grounds, I can plan on a fair degree of success.

Not that the garden is suffering, mind you. The roses and the Watsonia are already done blooming, but the cannas are coming up, the daisies are covered with flowers, and wonder of wonders, the vegetables have pushed through. I walked out quite early one morning and discovered that everything had come up at once: the beets, okra, beans, squash, dahlias, all thriving. Meanwhile, I find more snails every time I turn around, and have taken to violence to keep them away from the vegetable sprouts. I put in some Alaska daisy seeds on Sunday, and nicotiana, which is supposed to be good for evening perfume. I was thinking, if I like the smell of the nicotiana, I might put some in the potpourri when I freshen it (a few drops of brandy, or Tuaca, or Chartreuse works wonders.)

You remember you told me your solution to razor burns and shaving rash was to stop shaving altogether. I must say I do like a beard on a man, but I'm afraid I don't have enough face to look good with a beard, so I've experimented a little, and I think I found my own solution. I wash the razor with peroxide and then put a couple of drops of mineral oil on the blade, and it seems to be making a difference.

I went to the open house at Lavender U. on June 28, and found a very friendly and happy group of people there. They seem to be every bit as various as the course catalogue, and I intend to take some classes this session. The list runs from whitewater rafting to ballet to gay over-forty group to crochet, and I'm having a hard time making a choice. I definitely think they are a group worth support and look forward to participating. They even have a Sunday morning jogging group which runs a different course each week.

I'm painting the bathroom next weekend (my consolation prize is going to be a trip to the DeYoung to see the Chinese porcelains and that incredible jade shroud), and I can hardly wait to get rid of that robin's egg blue. My paint man, Clyde at the Fuller store on Polk Street, told me that, unless I wanted to bathe in the kitchen for a couple of weeks, I had to use oil-base paint, because latex turns brown if it's exposed to moisture, like bath steam, within the first couple of weeks. Apparently, the plastic has to toughen before the color actually sets. But robin's egg does nothing for my complexion, and mornings are hard enough without looking in the mirror and seeing a cadaver, so white with lots of little mirror squares is going to be the solution. I found a deodorizing product called Dale-Drop (anybody you know?) at the market last week, and I'll probably use that to get rid of the smell of the paint. One drop is supposed to keep a thousand cubic feet of air odorless for twenty-four hours. I have used it by the catbox, and it works quite well there, but I think I'll use more than one drop on the bathroom for a couple of days until the paint is really dry.

Thinking of deodorizing: you must have seen the television commercial I just saw -- the one about the baking soda in the refrigerator, with the unnaturally clean and neatly arranged refrigerator full of smelly foods and the fresh box of Arm & Hammer in the corner? the one where the lady takes the old box out and washes it down the kitchen drain to sweeten it? I did that one time, just one, years ago, without being prepared for the outrageous smell the old baking soda released the minute the water touched it. Never again. Cold water and plain salt are good enough for the drain, and the baking soda goes into the garbage can, where it will continue to absorb odors. Let the Scavengers put up with it if it gets wet.

I have to brush the cats now -- did you ever see a palace with so little domestic help in your life? At any rate, give our love to your cats, keep some for yourself, and remember

A Mole's hole is his castle, even with servant problems.

Top Teams to Play Weekend Of July 12 - 13

Only one C.S.L. contest took place since last press time as FeBe's and the Hombre met to play a contest that had been postponed earlier in the season due to rain.

Fielding their Saturday team, FeBe's took the field with the hopes of a win and ending their season 5-5. The Hombre on the other hand was hoping for a win to keep alive their hopes for a second place tie with the Mint in the Northern Div.

Momentum see-sawed as the Hombre took the early lead 2-0 behind the hitting of Tuffy Adams. FeBe's was to match that score and then double it as they took a 4-2 lead after two innings. This was to be FeBe's only lead of the game as the Hombre scored one in the third, 3 in the fourth, and one in the fifth to end FeBe's schedule of games with a 7-4 win.

Congrat's to FeBe's on a season well played, and to VooDoo on a coaching job well done.

Congratulations to the classy vaporettes also. You were a silver bullet high.

As part of a doubleheader, the publicized exhibition game between the Hombre and the Sacramento all-stars brought distressing news to the sports populus of the bay area. The Sac. all-stars won.

After playing a tough contest just minutes prior, the Hombre found they didn't have enough stamina to out duel the fresh and rested travelers from the north.

In a game that saw both teams grab the lead only to lose it, found the uni-sex all-stars escaping with a 16-13 win. Congratulations Sacramento and maybe we will see you in the C.S.L. in "76."

Hopefully the Sac. all-stars will allow a representative team from San Francisco to travel north. What do you say Sacramento?

The final weekend of the "75" C.S.L. season will be played July 12 and 13, and what a weekend that should be.

With Sutter's Mill already claming the Northern Div., the spotlight will be focusing on two big games that could either decide the Southern Div. or produce a two-way tie for the crown.

With two teams, Pendulum and Twin Peaks, still in the running for the Southern Crown, it is only fitting they will be pitted against Northern Div. teams in the season's finals. On July 13 at 12:00 it will be the Mint going against South. Div. leader Pendulum. A loss for the Pendulum would drop them into a tie with Twin Peaks. On July 13 at 2:00 it will be Twin Peaks, one game behind the Pendulum, pitted against Sutter's Mill. A win for the Peaks could throw them into a tie for first with the Pendulum. If a tie does occur, there will be a one gay playoff to determine who will face Sutter's Mill for the league title.

The big game will have to be the Mint-Pendulum. The Mint has to win for a playoff to be possible. A win for the Pendulum would automatically wrap up the Southern crown.

For those of you who haven't attended a C.S.L. game this year, but intending to, your last chance is coming up. You could not choose a better weekend than July 12-13. For those of you who have followed the C.S.L. this year, then you know what to expect the final weekend. Tense excitement. See you at the ballpark.

Final Weekend Schedule

July 12

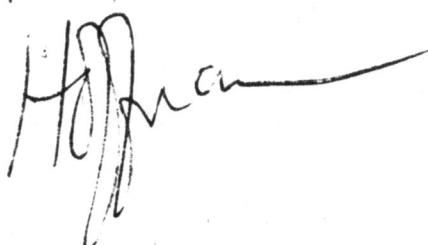

12:00 Roundup and Kokpit
2:00 Pickle and Hombre

July 13

10:00 Hall and Jackson's
12:00 Mint and Pendulum **
2:00 Peaks and Sutters **

People, Places And Things (or Just Plain Gossip)

Sweetlips Sez

Nice to have seen those two fabulous people...Inez and Julette, of Portland. You are heaven people. Remember the Rose Empress Coronation in Portland on the weekend of October 19th, plan ahead

For the finest and bestest Spanish Omelette in town, try the Castro Cafe, especially if the sexy Bob Ried in leather or whatever, chained anymore bikes up Bob...but your Spanish Omelettes do make an S&M girl turn on...love you. Warren of the Q.T. has a fantastic new singer on Wednesday and Thursday nights, direct from NYC. Miss Melanie Jordan, backed up by Jim Brown. Don't miss these two as they really are turned on together, besides, Warren has a great manager, Steve, and you can get something to eat (good) until 1 a.m.

Seems as if the new two-some around town is Lennie (527) and Bob (Royal Palace). They seem to be everywhere together or are they just checking out the competition's business. Understand that one of the two is contemplating opening a new bar in San Diego. Does Pineapple really want to move to San Diego? But then he would be nearer to Daddy Joe, who resides in Coronado. Arlene, Charlotte, Joe Roland, Mike Dooley, Mel Square, Wayne Elder, Keith McC...Steve of the Q.T., David Weber and yours truly flew down to Laguna Beach last Tuesday evening for the opening of Marion and Kay's new bar Main Street. Needless to say, we all had a fabulous time. Mel even had a trick during the three hours we were there. Main Street is a large and well-designed room and it was packed with some lovelies. Kay was in a white gown, Judy in a strapless black gown, and Marion, not to be outdone, was in a beautiful black and white Dior caftan, and looked marvelous. These two have another winner bar and we welcome them back to the mainland after ten years in San Juan.

Church Street Station (formerly the Truck Stop) is now open 24 hours a day. Nice new remodeling job and it should be a fun place, especially with Julie Jordan on the plank during the day. Don't forget to pick up the Guide at your favorite bar. It's a new and up-to-date one, put out by Friends of Dorothy, and you have to be a little older to understand that line.

David (Badlands), how would you like to sit 'On A Happy Face?' Cause the Lips has a 'Happy Face.' When are you stopping down to say hello? We have to quit meeting at the *P.S. like we do.

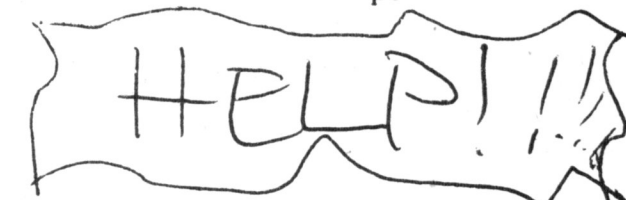

Have you been to Fanny's lately? Marvelous food and service, and a very comfortable room to sit and relax with your friends. Loved it.

Need a gift that is different and unusual? Try the "Obelisk" on Castro Street... Ben & Bob have some of the most marvelous gifts, besides, they carry 'Godiva' Chocolates. Gary Abbott of the Gangway, you really shouldn't go in drag. Remember the rumor has it that VooDoo is running for Empress, again. Don't get upset Ginger. Don't forget that on Saturday, the 12th, the Kokpit plays Roundup. It should be a fun, fun game. Isn't that right, Greta....dear.

Left Bank Gallery, on Polk St., had the most fantastic 4th of July window. The flag and the painting were just great. Love to have it, if anyone's interested in buying me a gift. The painting, that is.

Congrats. to the new Board of Directors of Tavern Guild: George Banda, Don Cavallo, yours truly, Reba, and Lorelei. My, My, three former privy Council Members and Mildred. Daddy Joe's Original Breakfast Club Convention is on the 26th and 27th of July. From 6 am 'til Noon, Surprise guests, etc. Gold Membership cards. Hope they don't turn green, Joe. Sweet Lips will be the MC from 6 am on, in full drag. Hope that I can crank that early. See you all there.

Love to all, especially to you C
Sweet Lips

[Paid Political Statement]

AN ANSWER TO DAVID BERTHAM GOODSTEIN, PUBLISHER OF THE ADVOCATE . . .

David Goodstein, in the July 16th issue of the Advocate stated, "Our spokespeople still need courage and tough hides. A few people, some well-intentioned and some not, have all of their personal egos invested in their own version of gay life and civil rights. Many of these people have failed at every endeavor in their lives, they regard the gay movement as a last chance to prove their worth. When they do not totally control events, they lash out in rage and frustration at those whom they envy. These narrow-minded losers no longer exercise control, if they ever did, in the battle for gay civil rights." End of the David Bertham Goodstein tirade. And all throughout his publication he calls for unity, does the above look as if it will bring unity? I think not! It is typical of the David Bertham Goodstein "machine"! A "machine" which includes many different "trips."

Goodstein is quite wealthy, has a fancy home in the plush suburb of Atherton, and collects rare oil painting and has a stable of fine horses. Yes, he David Bertham Goodstein is the very picture of the imperialistic capitalist. He has worked for and had others work for, every dime he has gotten under this system, and he is to be commended for this. But, only the greedy could possibly envy or be jealous of Goodstein or his "machine."

The Goodstein tongue lashing that he felt inclined to administer, was due to the fact that not everyone feels that he and his "machine" should be "generals" while others of us should be "privates" in the struggle for gay civil rights. Many gay people feel that just because you have money and power, this does not entitle you to leadership.

I know that I am a "failure" by the Goodstein definition, and so are many others of my sisters and brothers in the gay liberation movement. As many of us feel that material gains come second to the needs of your fellow beings. Many have sacrificed all to give to the gay liberation movement, and died penniless. But not because they were failures! It is alarming and sickening that so many gay people have chosen to join the Goodstein "machine," succumbing to the glitter of gold, so that they can be "on the inside." I for one, would never "grovel" at the feet of any because they have money or power. It is dehumanizing, Mister Goodstein. And Sir, the lengths to which some gay people have gone to "curry-favor" with you has made many of us quite ill in our stomachs.

But, the "glitter of gold" does that to many, many people. Yes, Mister David Bertham Goodstein, I was stunned at such a publisher's statement, as I found on page three of the July 16th Advocate.

You, Sir, call for "unity," yet you, in your clever way, have caused more division than there ever was. You have "slung mud" by casting aspersions upon countless thousands of gay sisters and brothers throughout the State of California.

There shall be unity sir, just don't you worry your little self about that. But, it shall be on the issue, and coming from several diverse sections of the gay communities of California.

I wish you and your committee (Concerned Voters of California) the best success. And I would ask that you would do the same to the committee of concerned voters of which I am a member, the Gay Voters League of California, with Howard Fox of Los Angeles, acting co-chairperson, and such gay liberationists as Harvey Milk, attorney B. J. Beckwith, Don Jackson, Elisa Rleigh, attorney Lloyd Taylor, Richard (Steve) Beckwith, Perry A. George, Michael Caringi, and others as members.

Yes, David Bertham Goodstein, the Gay Voters League of California, a legally registered lobbying group, abiding by the law (Proposition Nine), will be right in there helping to stop the Concerned Christian Citizens or any other group from taking away one single right of gay people or any other people.

Quite sincerely!

Reverend Raymond Broshears

President, Harry S. Truman Democratic Club

There Must Have Been a "For Rent" sign hanging on every closet in town on the day of the Gay Freedom Day Parade. Over 80,000 of US witnessed one of the greatest gay parades ever staged anywhere and the work and preparation in advance certainly proved that a lot of you did your homework. Everyone, but everyone got into the act and the post-parade activities in Marx Meadows in Golden Gate and at the carnival in California Hall were very well attended. Sincere congratulations to the Parade Committee and Empress Doris, you absolutely peeee'd on that elephant.

The 4th of July weekend saw an influx of the grooviest dudes into our Town. Those of you who didn't attend the CMC's fantastic run to Ranier Creek or the Knights of Malta run to Pyramid Lake in Nevada will admit that the entire weekend was worthy of your time. Ken Morgan celebrated his birthday on the 4th with a huge turnout and down south, Emperor Emeritus I, Luigi of Los Angeles did likewise. The bars and restaurants were all overflowing with good vibes and the Polk Gulch Fair was a highlight on Saturday and Sunday. So many lovelies in the sun and music, food and beautiful merchandise for sale from Sutter to Washington streets. While all this was going on, the energetic Rob Ross was running his tail off between the *P.S. and the newly-opened CHURCH STREET STATION (formerly the TRUCK STOP). In spite of a long, long shift, the vivacious Steve Cook was the most absolute epitome of patience and efficiency as a waiter on the toughest shift of all from midnight to 6:00 AM. A few doors up from the MIND SHAFT, a newly opened smart little cafe and bar, CARDI'S opened inauspiciously and promises to be another gem in the magnificent panoply of gay restaurants.

Starting next Monday, July 14th, the multi-talented Jimmy Sterling, will open his show, Under the Influence at BRADLEY'S CORNER, beginning at 7:30 PM. Those of you who have attended Jimmy's presentations previously at other establishments will remember what a magnificent array of welded sculpture and mixed media collages this man has created. His talent has been recognized at last by the "establishment" and his works of art can be seen in many homes in the area. VECTOR magazine will feature a story on this man in an upcoming issue. The show runs through July 21st, so make sure you get over there. You will be delighted!

If you want a free ticket to the Inter-Club Fund's Casualty Capers being presented on October 11th, this year, you can get one if you donate a pint of blood between now and that date. Closer yet, the CELEBRITY AUCTION will be held at SIR Center on Sunday, July 20th. The admission is a paltry $1.00 and there will be a no-host bar for you while bidding on such great items as autographed albums, mementos from celebrities around the world and you'll be doing your fellow man a good turn with the purchases you make. See you all there.

The UNCOUTH TRUTH AND OTHER YARNS,,, If you haven't tried the atmosphere at CASTRO STATION, you'll love it. That hunky-owner, Jim Ostlund is no slouch when it comes to picking bartenders - have you caught Stan, aka Mr. Big Crotch there yet? You should!...My spies in Maui, Hawaii tell me they caught Heavenly Heidi of THE STUD (and formerly of Hamburger Mary's) dining almost elegantly at McDonald's Hamburger Hut on that island while she was vacationing there recently....Hope you caught Racey Peters at PLAYLAND last weekend. He was DYNAMITE, as usual. The "gas" contest was fun too, but alas, the winner was TOO shy to give his name. Racey, you are a HOT man!...Rev. Ray Broshears is throwing a Raffle and Fund Raiser at the WINDJAMMER on Monday, July 14th beginning at 9PM - your hosts are Steve (MR. ACME) Edwards, FLAME, Mike Caringi and Sandy King and that sounds like a "must see"....Is it true that Tacky Ruth's new "love" has forbidden the Tacky One to ever go in drag or participate in this year's CLOSET BALL? I don't believe it....Is it true that Bill McWilliams is about to jump into another marriage with someone named HOWARD? Are you reading this RUDY of the RED LANTERN? Why did you cause that little "scene" at the JOLLY KING the other night?....Those of you who still remember that gravel-throat Robin Price was one of my campaign managers when I ran for Emp. will be pleased to know that Robin is now addressed, His Imperial Majesty Robin, Emperor I de Phoenix, Arizona. His Majesty Robin and his Empress Adriana, will attend the Coronation of SF's 4th Emperor on Saturday, September 13th at the Sheraton Palace.... Golden Dildeaux Award winner Chuck (with the rimless glasses), the Golden Shower Queen of SF is sporting lapel pins made by the fantastic FORTIER'S and they are medieval symbols for urine...Our sister city to the north, Portland, will crown their first emperor in that city on October 19th, and friends of MAMA BERNICE will be pleased to know that she is celebrating her 25th year in the bar business on July 27th at the Groovy Guy Contest which will be held at Rooster Rock Nude Beach this year and it sounds like GREAT FUN...The BALL ROOM on 6th between Howard & Folsom is the hottest after hours place going these days. Under the management of the infamous Mr. B, you can find many, many groovy studs there on any given night and the "rooms" are very spacious - you must try it, darlings....Check out the remodeling job at the SAUSALITO INN - it definitely smacks of elegance these days and while you're over there, check out Jimmy at the TWO TURTLES, just around the corner - nice due to know....While they were lovers for a long time, John John still misspells J.J. Van Dyck's name - at least the invitations to his opening on Saturday July 12 in Sacramento of THE ATTICUS I got was wrong. At any rate, J.J. is still around and doing his "thing" in a most refined way, so be sure to catch his act there this weekend. It's at 5121 El Camino in the state's capitol and be there or be square....Little Ken Halter has just returned from a vacation trip in Missouri and his troubles started already. He told DUM DUM (his cat) to catch the yellow school bus on the corner and two days later he got a call from the Greyhound bus station in St. Joseph that Ken better come and get that #•%! -ing cat out of here...What's this I've been hearing that FELL MANCR has ghosts? According to "informed sources," the bordello occupied by Richard Novak, Trixie Mae Leetzow and Tequila Tom Avila is "haunted" - I'm just wondering if maybe it's tequila fumes getting strong over there. At any rate, I do know now why Tom Avila is called Tinkle and it's exactly what you are thinking too - another nominee already for a Golden Dildeaux Award next year, darlings... Fact or Fiction? What South of Market bar owner is planning to run for Emperor IV? Does the Scorpion, the

Fox and the Game Cock know about this? And who is this Zingy Zingy character I keep hearing about - and

On June 28th, the PARAGON held a birthday celebration for Grande Reina Rachel. For a first event, the club was packed to capacity. A really great show featured the fabulous Goldie Montana, along with Crescent and Nickie Nations. Supporting these three outstanding impersonators were Lady Venus, Tanya Phinshk, Carla, Julie,

Bob and myself went down there for their Second Coronation this year... Deadline nearing for the BARBARY COASTERS 9th Annual Run on Aug. 2 and 3 - don't miss THIS one....And the CMC run pins are NEAT this year. That winds it up for this issue guys. See you around the campus, South of Market, of course, and be sure you S&M people catch ROLLER BALL, the movie playing on Van Ness & Sutter. You WILL get off on it. Love your fellow man as you love yourself - cannot go wrong that way. Love you all, MISTER MARCUS P.S. Welcome home, Bob White. I did take good care of your "pet" while you were gone.

Harlow, Elsie, Charlotte, Marie, Leslie, H.I.M Reina VII Deserae and the Regal Reina IV de San Jose, Molly, was the MC for the evening. The cast was exceptionally great this night and the audience was most responsive. The evening was climaxed by the popular Bird and White Band, with vocal by Billy De Frank. This entire affair was indeed most successful. After 2 am, the crowds, still in a festive mood, zipped over to the Savoy for after hours frolicking.....Don't forget the Guys and Gals together Picnic to be held on July 27th at Saratoga Springs. The Picnic is sponsored jointly by the Savoy, the Mecca, the Red Boar and the Tinkers Damn. This should be a great outing this year, and the park is being open to the Picnic attendees only....The Red Boar in Cupertino will present a show on July 29th, Tuesday at 9:30 pm, starring Goldie Montana, Crescent and the Grand Reina VIII Deserae. Grand Reina III Rachel will MC the evening... Gay Students Union of San Jose are meeting regularly each Thursday night at 8 pm at the Women's Center on the intersection of South 10th and East San Antonio Sts. Teams of players for volley ball have been started in June and are very popular with the members and all their friends. Everyone is welcome to come and joing the fun....The Paragon in San Jose will feature Billy De Frank on July 18 and 19, with two shows nightly, 9 and 11. Goldie Montana will also perform with some of his/her popular impressions...The Mecca is sponsoring a Free Beach Party on July 19th, at 2:30 am, after closing. A chartered bus will take all interested to an all night beach party and return on Sunday afternoon. All beer and hot dogs are on the house. So come one, come all. (even I'll be there)....Roy is back at his regular shift at Mac's in downtown San Jose, following a recuperation after his motorcycle accident. Welcome back Roy!....The Paragon will be having its grand opening (to the press on July 11th) and to the public on July 12th and 13th. As a special attraction, the Doll Box review, direct from Las Vegas, the only California appearance, will be featured at 9 and 11 pm. Dinners are now being served here Tuesday thru Saturday from 6 to 11 pm...You'll never believe it, but guess who showed up in drag to honor Reina VII Deserae at the Tinkers Damn? None other than the bartenders David, Hal and Dan - and they served all night in drag! How about that!.... The Red Boar in Cupertino is still featuring their very popular 'Acme Beer Night' every Wednesday with beer only two bits. Steve Hyslop, famed hypnotist will have a return engagement on July 14th and 15th. $2 cover. Well worth it, as he puts out a great show....The Candy Shop in San Jose has started a new policy. San Francisco, (Special). FRIEND'S OF DOROTHY, INC., a publishing organization has spent the last six months, actually visting bars, in many areas, and other listings, correcting previous editions until THE GUIDE is now the most accurate, comprehensive and easily read pocket guide on the market.

Taking a tip from Europe's famous Michelin Guide, the publishers have designed and placed symbols after each listing, indicating the services offered. For instance, if the listing is a dinner house, a tiny crossed knife and fork appears as well as a tiny grand piano if the listing offers piano bar entertainment. Symbols have been designed to cover all conditions usually found or expected in listings which appeal to members of the gay community.

With the user in mind, the publisher has included the most expensive coated thin opaque paper stock, which while totaling 180 pages, is lighter and thinner, making it comfortable and convenient for ordinary pockets.

It was noted in reviewing THE GUIDE that a larger number of bars catering to WOMEN generally, are included, in this - the BICENTENNIAL Edition.

THE GUIDE is wholesaled to bars and other places of business who offer it to their customers. It will prove to be the well informed companion of the well travelled gay community during the balance of 1975 and during the BI-CENTENNIAL 1976.

It is also available by mail from the publishers upon receipt of a check or money order in the amount of $5.50 (includes postage & applicable taxes). Address is, THE GUIDE, 427 Presidio Ave., Dept. PR, San Francisco, CA. 94115. (415) 931-3456.

after a long 4th of July weekend on the CMC run, so will bring my column to a close. How can I add to the events on the run attended by around 250 from all over the state and adjoining areas. Everyone had to have had a grand time in this beautiful high Sierra country. The weather was at its best, and everyone, too numerous to mention, did their share in making this a very enjoyable weekend. If I left you out, please phone or write me your news items. Law In Action

YOU'RE FIRED

Job hunting is so hard. I'd like a job for life. It's not likely you'll find such a job. Some kinds of jobs may be protected by civil service, union contracts, but most private employment is without these protections.

There are contracts of employment for a fixed term, even a few which do provide employment for life. But such contracts are unusual. Most personal service contracts cannot be enforced beyond 7 years from the date of services.

Most employment agreements can be ended at will. This means that the worker may quit at any time. The employer may discharge at any time, without cause, also there is no cause of action even if the discharge was not fair and was unwarranted.

In a recent case, the plaintiff, a citizen of Argentina, met the president of a U.S. company. He was offered a foreman's position at $500 a month. The plaintiff sold his home, moved his family, and worked at the job for several months. Then he was discharged. He sued for damages for wrongful discharge and lost. There was no contract for "permanent employment."

An employee cannot be discharged for refusing to perform dangerous work in violation of an industrial safety order. Also when an order is unreasonable, refusal to obey is not a ground for being fired.

Recent laws protect rights of employees. A special election officer may absent himself from his usual employment on election day. He cannot be fired. A person may not be fired because he is serving on jury duty, nor if he is subjected to a wage garnishment. Nor can an employer control his employee's political beliefs or activities. An employee is also protected so as to engage in union activities within his place of employment.

In another case a union discharged an official for failure to give false testimony contrary to the boss' demands. That discharge was contrary to public policy - to commit perjury.

(Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.]
