HOUSE TALK

Each week we receive a letter or two from a man in prison. From P.O. Boxes and villages one never heard of - isolated spots where "those who know best" deem penitentiaries and correctional facilities belong. The letters share something in common. They are short, simple, and contain a plaintive quality that is disarming.

The letters request one or two things: someone to write to, someone OUTSIDE to know, and the wish to receive Gay publications and literature. Whenever we can, we publish their letters without comment. Sheer economics prohibit us from sending free subscriptions of the B.A.R.

We draw your attention to the needs of these Gay prisoners. We know nothing about them except their attempt to reach beyond their confinement. Even if they are involved in a forlorn strategy - or merely seeking to busy their idle hands - whatever the motive, we feel their pleas deserve attention.

To correspond with these young men might well be an appropriate project (if not responsibility) of the older members of our Gay community. Wisdom fanning the embers of faint hope could well round off lives. Lives gripped in the ragged claws of fate's more imponderable moments. We also believe in heritage and legacy. In our case, it's called pederasty ... in the original sense of the word.

Howie Klein's interview with the "new" Lance Loud is intriguing - in its ambiguity. Loud seems to be making a pitch for intelligence, a-sexuality. Or is he now manipulating the media that once exploited him? Is he covering his tracks - consciously or unconsciously muddying the waters? Or is he somewhat added? We leave it to you.

In this issue we introduce Frank J. Howell who will regularly review books pertinent to the Gay community. Frank is a librarian for the Hayward Public Library and has written reviews for VECTOR for some years. He has been active in both S.I.R. and the Council on Religion and the Homosexual.

If one thinks of a book publisher as a manufacturer pushing a product, one can think of a reviewer as a consumer advocate. Books don't fall apart, but like anything else bought or sold, they can fail to satisfy. A book reviewer isn't a general, or a god - he is a sentry of form and content. One essential to the protection of quality. We believe Gay writers should be supported. Good ones celebrated, and crap tagged for what it is.

For Valentine's Day, Paul-Francis Hartmann assembles a composite of the San Francisco Gay male. And like some avant-garde photography, it displays more warts than beauty marks. Hardly a happy face.

Well Known Gay Artist Run Down

G. MARK MULLEIAN STRUCK BY CAR! photo by Efreem Ramirez

Controversial S.F. severed muscle tissue. In addition, he also received a broken wrist and multiple cuts. From his hospital bed at S.F. General, he was able to weakly smile after five hours of surgery and reassurance. "This won't stop my painting!" Doctors predict that he will have to remain in the hospital for at least four weeks and legs, one of the legs required surgery for recuperating.

Porno Ordinance Update

by Mark Joplin

With a "do pass" recommendation from the Planning, Housing and Urban Development Committee, the controversial Feinstein Porno Ordinance (FPO) now proceeds to the next regular meeting of the S.F. Planning Commission.

The FPO, authored by Supervisor Dianne Feinstein and introduced to the Board over two months ago, calls for the re-location or shutdown of any adult bookstore or theater that is located within 1000 feet of any residential (Zone R) area, and establishes a new set of regulations for these "adult entertainment enterprises." A recent amendment to the FPO further states that adult bookstores and theaters that meet the 1000 foot rule must also be located more than 500 feet apart from each other.

The Planning Commission, chaired by Gordon Lau, meets on Thursday, Feb. 10, at 4:30 PM in the main chambers of the Board of Supervisors, City Hall. Public participation is encouraged.

Gay Demo Club

The San Francisco Gay Democratic Club is the first to be affiliated with the CDC (California Democratic Council) and to be openly designated as a Gay political club. It was formed by Chris Perry, Hank Wilson, Paul Hardman, Larry Long, Jim Gordin and David Goldman - to name but a few.

The club will attempt to bring Gay rights to the forefront of political campaigns and work to organize San Francisco's large Gay community. Emphasis is on gaining public support for Gay rights from candidates before endorsing or supporting them.

The club is building alliances and seeks unity with Gay and non-Gay community groups on a wide variety of issues which include supportive stands on feminist and progressive issues, the rights of workers, ethnic and racial minorities.

Dues are a nominal $3.00 per year with a reduced rate of $1.00 for unemployed persons.

The club will hold its next meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 15, 7:30 pm, at 330 Grove St. All interested persons are invited to attend. At that meeting, invited speakers are Kayo Hallinan, announced candidate for the 5th Supervisorial District (which includes the Castro area), and David Sanchez, potential candidate for the 6th (Mission) District. Also on the agenda will be the upcoming CDC Convention in March and discussion of the Coalition to Support the Black Majority in South Africa.

EDITORIAL

The new police community relations head, Sgt. Henry Williams, wants the Gay community to know that the recent changeover in the Vice Squad does not portend a crackdown on Gay life and Gay activities. But - and without question - a mop-up is underway on street prostitution (whatever the combination). The visible variety will vanish from doorways, lobbies, street corners. Whether the invisible (sex for hire) will be touched remains to be seen. We caution those so occupied to exercise discretion. Anonymous calls to hotels might be more than a wild goose chase. Advertised masseurs are supposed to be licensed.

The city is re-witnessing a political swing right and reactionary. Unable to check the epidemic of rape, robbery, assault and murder, public officials substitute a harder line. Visible "vice" (from Union Square hookers to porno bookstores) becomes the surrogate target. Whether the politicians believe in the quickie bromides themselves is hard to tell. Yet juicy items like porno ordinances are a safe and easy way to mollify public outrage over violent crime. Righteousness is an old-time wind-up doll of every politician's bag of tricks. Even lady liberals are susceptible when the wind blows rightly.

At issue - once again, sadly - is not morals or crime - but the distasteful "sight" of sex on sale.

Sweep it beneath the rug, and all the tangible uglies might go away. Truly absurd, dishonest, illogical... Yet in the weird perversity of human affairs, the righteous have a point. Not an ethical one, but a pragmatic one. The scapegoat literally and figuratively carries the community's sins off into the wilderness. And those left behind feel cleansed and safer... and believing it so can make it so.

Besides, it's a hell of a lot easier to take on a tawdry porno palace than N.B.C., Warner Brothers or the Pentagon.

Public careers will be made and careers will topple in making the streets safe. So, too, an opportunity presents itself to retaliate, to settle old scores, to cripple competition. The career politicians (both in and out) will not miss the chance to steal a few bases.

The S.F. Gay community has long since passed the stage of playing patsy for the opportunists. It remains to be seen if the situation calls for a counter-offensive. The storm warnings are up, and we should sharpen our eyes and ears, close ranks, and let it be known we are no monkey on a string. We remind the ambitious politicians and officials of the old adage of letting sleeping dogs lie. One hundred and fifty thousand mongrels, that is... should they care to count the heads.

Ass't D.A. Maligns Gay Community - Then Apologizes

On Friday, Jan. 21, S.F. EXAMINER reporter Larry Kramer, covering a meeting of "an angry merchants' group" (some 30 business people), quoted remarks of Ass't D.A. Douglas Munson, "We attract more junkies, misfits, winos and homosexuals here than anywhere else in the world."

Gay activists bombarded the D.A.'s office with phone calls and letters... some demanding a retraction, others that Munson be dismissed. A "press conference" demonstration was held at City Hall on Jan. 27 to protest.

Text of Ass't D.A. Munson's Apology

Dear Mr. Freitas:

I wish to express my apologies to the Gay community and to all San Franciscans if a statement attributed to me created the impression that homosexuals are responsible for the City's murders or other crime problems. On the contrary, I believe that the overwhelming majority of Gay persons in San Francisco are responsible, law-abiding citizens who find violence and crime intolerable.

The statements attributed to me, arising out of a community meeting conducted by the S.F. Industry and Merchants Ass'n (reported in the Jan. 21, 1977, EXAMINER) were made amid a heated discussion on the causes and solutions of crime. In my response, after discussing the progress being made by the D.A.'s Office in prosecuting violent crime, I went on to discuss my specialty, the prosecution of homicides. In so doing, I pointed out that San Francisco had become a magnet for many unstable persons with whose conduct the criminal justice system must deal. I unintentionally and inappropriately included homosexuals as a class within the category of other itinerants and drifters from whom much of our street crime devolves. It was neither my intention to include Gay persons in such a category nor my belief that they are to be blamed for crime in S.F. Because I have recently prosecuted a considerable number of murderers of Gays, my concern was directed toward the violent street hustler who increasingly has preyed upon the innocent Gay community.

San Francisco has a large Gay community of responsible, peaceful, law-abiding citizens. I have never meant to suggest that homosexuals should be a scapegoat for S.F.'s crime problems.

I deeply regret that anything I have said could be so interpreted. I hope that you will convey this apology to the appropriate parties.

Sincerely,

Douglas C. Munson
Ass't District Attorney

Gay Freedom Day Committee To Incorporate

Big things are planned for the 1977 Gay Freedom Day Committee (GFDC) as they gear up to go "big time."

In conjunction with attorneys from the Pride Foundation, the Committee intends to set itself up as a non-profit corporation, so that all contributions of time or money by Gay women and men may be tax-deductible. Aside from the tax deductions, the incorporation will also prevent unscrupulous individuals and groups from taking money from persons or businesses in the name of the Gay Freedom Day Committee. Striving for financial security, a proposal was also made at a recent GFDC meeting that all persons serving on the Finance sub-committee be bonded.

GFDC co-chairs Carol Hilder and Charles Lee have also made appointments to several committees. Jodi Safier and Bill Beardemph have been selected as this year's co-chairs for the Parade Committee, with Safier also serving as GFDC treasurer.

Mark Joplin heads up two sub-committees - the Route & Site Committee and the Publicity Committee, which he co-chairs with Roland Schembari, long-time member of KPFA radio's "Fruit Punch" collective.

Greater public participation in this year's committees is encouraged. Meetings are held every Friday at 8 PM in the new Gay Center at 330 Grove. The parade route and fair site will be set at the next meeting on Feb. 4, and chairpersons for the other committees will be selected at that time.

For public convenience, the GFDC will be setting up offices at 330 Grove and establishing North, East and South Bay contacts.

Gay Chosen as Lobbyist

Gary Miller, former President of the Alice B. Toklas Democratic Club, Assembly has been approved by the Friends Committee on Legislation to do lobbying work. Miller has worked for the FCL, a Quaker lobbying organization, in San Francisco and for the past year in Sacramento as an assistant to their legislative advocate. He will now be spending about 25% of his time working on civil rights issues which will include the rights of women and Gays. He will be working under the direction of Laura Magnani, FCL's Legislative Advocate.

New Jersey Next?

The Garden State is expected to be the next state to decriminalize private sexual activities between consenting adults. The New Jersey House has already passed a 185-page reform of that state's criminal code which includes sex law repeal. The state Senate will vote on the package soon and Gov. Brendan Byrne has promised to sign the bill into law if the Senate approves.

Fresno GOP to Head Criminal Justice Committee

by Paul Hardman

The California Committee for Equal Rights expressed concern that a Fresno Republican, Kenneth Maddy, could be appointed to head the Criminal Justice Committee by Speaker Leo T. McCarthy of S.F.

A new chairman will replace L.A. Assemblyman Alan Sieroty who quit the post last month.

When explaining that people did not understand the role of the committee, Maddy said to the media, "Our committee has always tempered public opinion, by not forcing things onto the floor, where oftentimes politicians will have to vote what they think are the sentiments in their district."

The trouble with that evaluation is the cause of concern to the San Francisco-based lobby for Gay rights, the CCER.

The Fresno area has been the center of the so-called "Christian Crazies" and the source for the now defunct Family Lobby and other Christian fundamentalist anti-Gay movements. The Fresno area has been the locale of much of the support for both the initiative against the consensual sex laws and the Referendum to put the sex laws on the ballot. It is that Fresno constituency which elects Maddy, and though he may well be "liberal," he may not be able to withstand the homophobic pressure of his district, according to the CCER.

Knowing the position of the conservative California Peace Officers Ass'n lobbyist Rod Blonien to be anything but in the interest of the Gay community, CCER observers are disturbed when that lobbyist concludes that with the new appointment the committee is "a hell of a lot better than it was." We've got better odds.

The Damage Has Been Done — Again

by Harvey Milk

"Last week they blamed the crime wave in San Francisco on the prostitutes. This week on the adult bookstores. Who's next...?" - Harvey Milk, B.A.R., 1/19/77

"We attract more junkies, misfits, winos and homosexuals here than anywhere else in the world. You have a serious crime problem here." - Ass't D.A. Douglas Munson, 1/20/77

"It is important to state for the public record." - D.A. Joe Freitas, 1/28/77

Before the ink was dry on my last column, Douglas Munson was slamming the Gay community before a conservative audience here in S.F. He later apologized. But the damage was done and cannot be undone easily. Even with Munson's statements challenged, it is already part of the public record! There is nothing in the world to prevent L.A.'s police chief Ed Davis, or his many counterparts throughout America, from quoting the Ass't D.A. from the "Gay Capital of the World." The way people like Dianne Feinstein are already quoting Attorney-General Younger's slams, all too soon we will hear some uptight police chief or elected official in Middle America saying, "Why even in S.F. - the Gay capital of the world - their own Ass't D.A. implies that homosexuals are responsible for our crime wave. And no one challenged him." I would not like to be 15 and coming out in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and read in the local paper a quote similar to that by the Tulsa Chief of Police. Munson's deed and all the rottenness that will live off of it has been done.

his demeaning remarks. While the city goes through a crime wave, we have a public official (we pay for his upkeep) making wild remarks about a minority being a cause of the crime wave. And the D.A. backs him up.

Maybe some Gays don't think the remarks were too bad. Maybe some Gays accept the apology. To these people I suggest trying to understand what it would be like to be 15 and Gay and hearing L.A.'s Chief Davis quoting those lines over and over again. To those in our community who with bowed heads accept the apology, I suggest a re-watching of "ROOTS."

Munson, and any other person, must be challenged whenever they make any public statement maligning the Gay community. There is enough hatred towards us without the Munsons. The Munsons only add fuel to the fire.

If it is wrong to slam other minorities, it must be made clear that it is just as wrong to slam the Gay community. It is a crime to yell "Fire" in a crowded theater. It is a "crime" to use the Gay community as scapegoats. The Munsons must go. That is the only way to offset the damage already done. But our insensitive D.A. obviously does not understand that.

AND HE'S SORRY

He writes a letter of apology. One that never finds its way into the major media. And that is supposed to make everything all right. Just get up at any public meeting, say anything you wish, apologize for it, and go on to the next meeting. Just be a little more careful the next time you slam a minority. Don't get

YELLING "FIRE" IS A CRIME

If Munson had used the word "Blacks," he would have been fired on the spot. Secretary of Commerce Earl Butz was ousted for telling a racist joke. Munson was not

D.A. Freitas shows a complete lack of sensitivity towards the Gay community by allowing Munson to get away with

Behind the Headlines

by George Mendenhall

Those readers who sometimes walk by Flagg Brothers shoe store at Turk and Market must admit that it is a pleasant sight at that intersection. A few attractive young men are at that corner apparently waiting for buses or (it is rumored) a sexual encounter. There is nothing outrageous or offensive going on at Flagg Brothers. It is a serene and subtle scene. However, the owners of the shoe store and other local merchants do not see it that way, and they have continually pressured the police to "crack down" on those who stand and sit in the area.

Lately, that corner has been "cleaned up" according to Police Chief Charles Gain during a recent rap session in his office (reported in the last issue of B.A.R.). This reporter has noticed fewer people on the corner and, when going by the other day, saw a police car pull up to the curb. Two officers jumped out and began to question two men who were seated on a concrete slab provided for that purpose. The young men (one wore a T-shirt that revealed his full chest and slim waist) were body-searched. A police check was done on a walkie-talkie to determine if they had a record. They were then told to "Move on."

I approached the two victims of this police harassment as they walked away. One was most cooperative when I told him I wrote for the Gay press and was concerned that his rights as a citizen may have just been violated. He said this had been the fourth time in one week that he had been questioned by officers and told to "Move on."

The officers had not departed and they approached me. "Are you a friend of mine?" I was asked. I answered that I was reporting for a Gay newspaper and that what they had just done was an evident violation of department policy. The sergeant explained that the men on the bench had been "loitering" as they waited for a bus. We parted.

Shortly after Police Chief Gain took office he was interviewed by me in support of him as he attempts to walk the fine line between preserving civil liberties and cracking down on crime. He then commented on the "loitering" charge made by one of the officers by saying, "There is no 'loitering' law. There is no such thing as 'loitering,' you know. There

Gain listened patiently to the Flagg Brothers incident and my claim that evidently policy at the Hall of Justice is not getting down to the officer on the beat.

"People have a constitutional right to sit on a bench," he was quick to respond. "Citizens should not be questioned unless their conduct is such that it looks like they are committing a crime or it looks like they are going to commit a crime or violate the law. If they don't meet that criteria, they should be left alone." He then took the name and phone number of one of the young men and said he would call him over the weekend to explain this policy to him. He also took the names and addresses of the officers and said, "I will look into this." It is my experience with Gain that he always follows up when he says that he will.

Before he concluded, the Chief praised the Gay reporters who continue to he must be a basis in law to stop citizens. It can't be a matter of a person on a bench in the afternoon sun. Citizens have a right to sit in public. Such a person should be left alone. I can't see any reason why these people should have been questioned. The Chief concluded, "I breakers before they can act." (In a discussion with Lynch, he could not remember if the Chief himself used the word "suspicious" but he said "that is what he was talking about.")

The issue here was not male prostitution or even the Gay community. What is of concern is the enthusiasm of officers to "fight crime" which sometimes results in the harassment of citizens.

There is a frequent comment from the Chief and other city officials that "merchants and hotel owners are complaining." It is "bad for business" to have "undesirables" hanging around. In other words, "property rights come before individual rights." That is a line of thinking that must be watched closely.

We agree with the President of the Police Commission, Richard Siggins, who recently said, "We are completely satisfied with the choice of Chief Gain. I think we made a good choice." Gain is a fine man. He is sincere and honest. We also know that he is under great pressure to "crack down on crime" and that he is dealing with some officers who do not share his zeal for civil liberties.

So this is a plea to you - the reader - to directly report incidents to the Chief that you believe violate citizens' rights. Get the officers' badge numbers and the names of the parties involved. Write or telephone the Chief about such incidents. It is the only way he can know if his officers are being oppressive.

Supreme Court Backs Fired Civil Service Worker

6-3 Decision Vacates Lower Court Ruling

In its first decision sympathetic to Gay people since last March's sanctioning of state sodomy laws, the U.S. Supreme Court vacated a lower court ruling that upheld the firing of a Gay civil servant. On Jan. 10, the Supreme Court sent the case of Seattle clerk-typist John Singer back to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals for "reconsideration" in the light of the U.S. Government's current position on the subject. That position was set forth by Solicitor General Robert H. Bork in a memorandum to the Court. Bork noted that, subsequent to Singer's dismissal from his job in the Equal Opportunity Commission's Seattle office, the U.S. Civil Service Commission had changed its policies regarding Gays. Discrimination on the basis of sexual preference is now contrary to Civil Service regulations. Although the Court did not overturn the lower court's decision, it did declare errors in the decision and make way for a new decision. The Supreme Court's judgment in the case was made by a 6-3 vote with Justices Rehnquist, Burger and White dissenting.

Bruce Voeller, co-chairperson of the National Gay Task Force, called the decision a "very exciting and important victory." The Court judgment does two important things, according to Voeller. "It proves for one thing that the High Court is not utterly against us no matter what. And it stops a very serious threat of inroads into the Civil Service Commission's supportive position on Gay employment."

The case, "Singer v US Civil Service Commission, No. 75-1459," was appealed by the American Civil Liberties Union. Singer's firing was partially due to his identification in the media as both a Gay rights advocate and a federal employee.

In its investigation that led up to Singer's firing in 1972, the Civil Service Commission charged Singer with flaunting his homosexuality by kissing men in public; stating his name and occupation to a

S.F. newspaper and giving his views on "closet queens"; indicating "by his clothing and manner" that he intended to continue homosexual activity as a way of life; and filing a legal challenge to the refusal of the county to grant him and his lover a marriage license in an incident that was widely reported in the newspaper and on television.

The Civil Service Commission at the same time accused Singer of "immoral and notoriously disgraceful conduct" under Section 731.201 of the Commission's rules and regulations.

However, in July of 1975, the Civil Service Commission issued new criteria which stated that Gayness should not be a disqualifying factor in itself to be fired from Civil Service employment. However, the Civil Service Commission did rule that "criminal, dishonest, infamous, or notoriously disgraceful conduct" was grounds for dismissal.

In rejecting Singer's appeal, the U.S. Court of Appeals accepted the Commission's arguments that "Singer's repeated flaunting and advocacy of a controversial life-style, together with the publicity in which he was identified as an employee of the EEOC, would lead to possible embarrassment to and loss of public confidence in the agency and the CSC."

Singer worked for the EEOC for a period of eight months. The fact that he worked for a period of less than one year when he was investigated is believed to have made him more vulnerable to firing than had he worked at a civil service job for more than one year.

When the Carter administration takes power, it is not expected to change the government's position on the civil service policy. Bork's designated successor as Solicitor General, Wade Hampton McCree, Jr., a black judge who has been a member of the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit, has an unimpeachable record on civil rights. He is "a certified liberal," wrote the NEW YORK TIMES.

Brown, Younger & the Death Penalty

by Wayne Friday

One of the most interesting developments out of Sacramento was Governor Brown's surprise announcement during his "State of the State" address. Brown told the lawmakers that he would follow his "conscience" and veto any bill re-establishing the death penalty. Friends and foes alike, after expressing initial amazement, praised Brown for his political courage in taking a position highly unpopular with voters. Yet even his closest advisors questioned his political wisdom. Largely because California voters approved a death penalty initiative by a lopsided 2-1 margin in 1972 (then known as Prop. 17). The lawmakers are expected to bow again this year (as they did in 1973) and easily pass another measure - this one meeting the latest constitutional requirements. Capital punishment resurfaced as a hot issue when the State Supreme Court tossed out California's ultimate penalty, ruling that the way it was written by the Legislature in 1973 failed to conform to a subsequent U.S. Supreme Court ruling. The Governor, a former Jesuit seminarian, who faces a fight, probably from State Attorney General Evelle Younger, long has been a foe of capital punishment; but until his recent statement, he has remained relatively silent on the issue since rising to prominence. The question many lawmakers had been asking since the court ruling was whether Brown or not, even his opponents will agree that Younger has been an effective and hard-working Attorney General; and he is damned smart enough a politician to ride the death penalty for all of its worth. The most important factor here is that Younger has the sentiment of the voters with him. (Even some of my most "liberal" political friends secretly hope to see the death penalty restored.) The question remains as to why the Governor chose to play his card before it was necessary; perhaps by warning the Legislature he would veto a bill if they passed a new law, he would discourage them from doing so - since it would take a two-thirds vote to override such a veto. All the same, Senator Deukmejian of Long Beach will introduce a new death penalty bill in the Senate (SB155) and Assemblyman McAllister of San Jose will introduce AB240 in the Assembly shortly. Although there is a lot of sentiment in both houses for passage, it will be more difficult to pass these bills. The measures require two-thirds votes in each house rather than a majority. A two-thirds vote will give supporters of the new bills an early indication whether a veto would be successful, since men like Evelle Younger are required to override a veto. However, due to the Governor's pledge to veto, the backers of capital punishment are already planning an initiative campaign if legislation fails.

Attorney General Evelle Younger has Gov. Brown in a corner.

I am not attempting to discuss the pros and cons of the death penalty here. What I am pointing out is that Governor Brown has possibly - yes, probably - put himself into a fatal political corner on this issue. It might have been avoided. There is widespread feeling in both parties that a man as astute as Younger will ram this one hot issue down Brown's throat and make the young Brown the first one-term Governor California has seen in a long while. The electorate in this state are a strange lot. They elect a young, liberal Governor, then two years later reject Tunney in favor of Hayakawa.

Evelle Younger has, for the moment at least, got the jump on any bid San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson might make for the Republican nomination; but more importantly, he has, at this early stage, taken the one issue Jerry Brown cannot survive right to the people. And on this issue, Brown stands alone on one side with Younger and the majority of the voters standing on the other side. It should be a hell of an election; and if it were held this November instead of next, Younger would win.

Louisiana Gays Discriminate Against Gays

Alexandria - This city's only Gay lounge, The Lodge, has undertaken a move to formally close its doors to the city's Black Gays.

Exercising a private club charter, most of the club's members are reportedly backing the move to keep Black Gays and other Blacks out of the downtown club.

The move has angered some of the city's more liberal-minded Gay people. Some feel that discrimination against Blacks, especially Gay Blacks, is hypocritical.

Other Alexandria-Pineville area Gays are boycotting the bar. One pair of lovers said they would "not set foot" in the lounge because of the move to exclude Blacks.

Although the club's charter issued by the state does not allow discrimination based on race, it does allow dues-paying members to reject the application of a prospective member.

The charter was obtained over two years ago in an effort then to exclude Blacks. Regulars at the club urged the club's owner, Johnny Davis, to make it private

BUNS

ENDS THAT "FLAT LOOK."™

EXCLUSIVE FROM
IM

BUNS are a completely new concept in briefs. Invented in Denmark they quickly became the sensation of Europe. And for good reason. They have a unique patented feature no other brief ever had: The CONTOUR STITCH. Basically what it does is to form the brief naturally to your body. They surround, hug and gently lift for a totally new kind of comfortable "second skin" fit. Ends that "flat look." There's no "ride up" and BUNS look like any other masculine brief. Ends show-thru seams too. You'll find them to be airy-light in soft, stretchy nylon, spandex and—another great feature—INTERKNITTED COTTON. They are available now—direct to you—exclusively from International Male. Once you try them we think you'll know why... EVERYBODY LOVES BUNS! Available in white, blue, black, & nude tan. One size fits all. Just 3/$11

THE "CONTOUR STITCH" HOW IT WORKS

When you wear a regular brief you'll notice it tends to pull across the seat. But BUNS have an interknitted stretchy vertical back stitch that allows the brief to follow the natural CONTOUR cleavage of your anatomy. Gives a youthfully lean, bare look. So simple, so comfortable and yet so ingenious. It's the ideal brief under fitted pants.

Falcon Releases

by George Robert

This company, based here in S.F., has been putting out consistently fine films since they started. These films are from their last brochure of 1976 and are really spectacular. We particularly look forward to their new releases each time they put out a new brochure. If you are not yet on their mailing list, do yourself a favor. Send them $2.00, your name and address and state that you are over 18 years of age. Send all information to Falcon, P.O. Box 750, San Francisco, Ca. 94101.

BEHIND THE BARN DOOR #602-300', Reg. 8, Color

The film opens with David standing outside at a window in an old barn with Peter inside working on his vintage car. Seems that David has really got the hots for Peter and vice versa. Peter walks over to the window and tells David to come in. David can hardly wait to get his mouth down on Peter (can't say that I blame him). Peter slams an oversized peter into David's mouth and then pulls out and turns around. The rimming action that ensues is really incredible. David's tongue is soon replaced with his pile-driving cock and the action really begins. If you want to see two super-hung dudes getting it all on in a cum studded frenzy, then this film is a must for you. There is so much action packed in this one film that we had to stop it twice before we could finish reviewing it.

TRY TO TAKE IT #604-200', Reg. 8, Color

Take a nice day in the woods, add two hunky young dudes, a little friendly persuasion, what happens after that, and you have one helluva good movie.

Kip Knoll is a newcomer to films. He admits to having strong anal desires, so they pair him up with Frank, whose whole bag is breaking in virgin ass. Kip reaches over and takes Frank's cock out of his pants. He literally gasps in stunned amazement (so did we!) - talk about donkey dicks! Wow! Well, to make a long story short, the film is packed with good oral sex, lots of rimming with two young studs going at it hot and heavy. And, no, Frank can't get his tool into that young virgin backside. (Maybe he should join the F.F.A. He certainly would be a hit in that crowd.) The film, color and camerawork are all excellent.

Sam Levene as Oscar, the agent, and Carole Shelley as Julie Cavendish, a member of "The Royal Family."

tense. They are the dedicated people, living up to everyone's image of what real hams actors are. Ellis Rabb has directed a dazzling revival, full of spark and bravura energy. He favors the "hard to hit a moving target" theory of blocking, demanding that everyone constantly shift, pace and sweep across the stage; in the case of a play that could easily become unbearably talky, it's a wise decision and great fun to watch. He keeps the focus sharp and theatrical fireworks seen in many a year. It is a magnificent performance that wrings every potential laugh from the script and yet never oversteps into caricature. Her Julie is a woman of enormous humor and compassion, an actress of glamour and stature and still vulnerable. Miss Shelley knows the value of a darting glance, a gesture frozen and a sudden complete lack of affectation in a role brimming with affectation. While Miss Le Gallienne provides the rock basis of the play, Miss Shelley generates a good portion of the excitement of the evening.

Sam Levene plays (what else?) the family's agent. It is a skilled performance that makes little demand of him but he makes the most of every opportunity. Leonard Frey gets the juicy role of Tony, with his outrageous bad manners, dashing disregard for mortal conventions and the ability to never enter or exit a room without causing complete havoc. It is a tour de force role, and Frey brings it almost off. But not quite. It lacks the commitment of total suspension of belief, which would allow him to become the larger-than-life screen lover who lives his role 24 hours a day. Frey avoids the pitfall of caricature barely, but he comments upon Tony as an actor by forcing the ham instead of sweeping all before him with conviction. It is a self-conscious performance; not to imply that he is not good indeed and often very funny, but Frey's Tony never takes stage center.

In the supporting roles, Richard Woods and Laura Stuart are first-rate as the strident, untalented relatives who live off the Cavendish name. Woods especially scores with one brief scene with Shelley when his facade momentarily crumbles. Fran Salisbury is excellent as the maid Della and Ellen Fiske is vocally shrill and weak as the daughter Gwen. Oliver Smith's set is handsome, Ann Roth's costumes are stunning, and the lighting by John Gleason underscores the entire production beautifully.

"The Royal Family" is not a masterpiece of playwriting, nor was it ever intended as much more than a rather sentimental comedy well-crafted, but the production at the Curran offers theatergoers an opportunity to see what skilled actors and direction can do to give a creaky 1927 play new life and enormous vitality. Unlike its recent predecessor, "A Matter of Gravity," this play gives as good as it gets.

Club:
Julie Wilson & Shelley Pryor

For one too-short week, the Mocambo (Polk at Sutter) hosted the strangest double bill I've ever seen. Headlining was the incomparable Julie Wilson, whose praises I will never tire of lauding. In this outing, she brought along pianist William Roy, and their combined expertise provided the most satisfying hour of entertainment clubgoers could demand. Be it a tribute to Billie Holiday, a brilliant medley from Sondheim's "Follies," shady ladies parodied with affection or just a good old-fashioned torch song like "But Not For Me," Julie Wilson proved once again she is an original and a master showwoman. Miss Wilson plans to retire from show business this coming September; The Mocambo has booked her farewell appearance for two weeks in August, so lucky San Franciscans may be the last ones to see her perform. Opening the bill was Shelley Pryor. Ms. Pryor is the former wife of Richard Pryor; I would not make much of this except that she does. She is a potentially talented actress/poetess who devotes her act to blank verse renderings about the black/white pressures of inter-racial marriage (with a photo of her Black, 7 year old daughter on the piano), the mental castration of men, a Chicano servant in Pacific Heights, ad infinitum, all told in the crudest terms possible (any act that closes with her waving the American flag and sweetly saying "mother fucker" I have to acknowledge sheer guts to). It would seem more appropriate that Ms. Pryor pay $40.00 an hour to a good psychiatrist and rid herself of her anxieties, rather than expect a nightclub audience pay money to watch her dreary catharsis. It is a downer, but worse, it's no way, shape or form entertainment. Pryor's social consciousness stopped with Jack Kerouac and coffee houses. The lady herself has charm and warmth on-stage; now she needs an act!

Film: Madame Kitty

Based upon fact, "Madame Kitty" now playing at the Royal Theater tells the story of Berlin's most popular brothel in the late 30's. The Nazi's mentality is reflected in S.S. officer Wallenberg's desire to rise to become a member of Hitler's inner cabinet by setting up Madame Kitty in a new bugged brothel outside Berlin, where twenty trained Gestapo girls are recruited as whores to spy upon Nazi officers and report back to Wallenberg.

It's a potentially dynamite theme that gets dissipated by the diffused direction of Tinto Brass. Borrowing heavily from Visconti, Bergman and even Fellini, Brass offers a hodgepodge of techniques cinematically, none of which do more than make it look like hack work by a director of no imagination. The cast notably suffers of course, particularly Teresa Ann Savoy as the spy/whore who becomes Wallenberg's mistress and eventual destroyer.

Stars Ingrid Thulin as Kitty and Helmut Berger as Wallenberg coast through with aplomb, and Tina Aumont is impressive as Berger's Lesbian wife, but the acting is as varied as the direction and meandering script (though the photography is quite good overall). However, it is not the acting that will attract audiences for "Madame Kitty."

"Kitty" is a must for its X-rating. Thulin first appears in half-man, half-woman drag with her chorus of homosexual waiters, similar to Berger's turn in "The Damned." The film is a veritable barrage of tits and cocks, guaranteed to appeal to anyone's prurient interest. After years of teasing the camera, Berger finally reveals it all in the final moments of the film (and well worth looking at). Bekim Fehmu sheds his clothes for a scene, there is a sterile orgy when 20 officers enter naked in various stages of arousal to deflower the 20 Gestapo girls, and both Savoy and Aumont wander around totally nude for much of the footage. The film varies between the erotic sexual acts and the viciousness of the Nazi mentality. Homosexual or heterosexual, there's something in "Madame Kitty" to appeal to everyone... as long as they think with their groin.

"Madame Kitty" is not a particularly good film, though it might have been under different direction, but it is bizarre, grotesque and sexually perverse enough to guarantee a good, smutty evening of peekaboo voyeurism.

Donald McLean

Ingrid Thulin as Madame Kitty with her chorus line of homosexuals.

Helmut Berger bares all for "Madame Kitty" at the Royal.

Castro Organ Recital

Hector Olivera, the classically-trained, internationally renowned theatre organ virtuoso, will perform a full evening concert of classical and popular music Tuesday evening, Feb. 15, at the Castro Theatre, Castro & Market Sts. At a mere 30... Mr. Olivera is considered by many to be one of the greatest organists the world has yet produced.

Carnegie Hall that attracted by far the largest audience ever to attend an organ concert and ended with a two-minute standing ovation. At a recent performance, Dr. William Barnes, world authority on the organ, said that Hector was one of the greatest he had ever heard.

Olivera is part of a continuing series of theatre organ concerts by the nation's leading virtuosi, performing on the Castro's giant electronic console.

The Men in My Life

A Winter Silhouette

by Paul-Francis Hartmann

Southern California has been described: not as a place but as a state of mind. Not so San Francisco, which is both a state of mind and a place - one of the world's favorite Camelots. Mention anywhere in the world, "I'm from San Francisco," and one is granted favored-nation status (similar to the reception a Canadian extracts by hoisting his maple leaf). Immediate envy sets in, except from the talented, ambitious, or accomplished. They know better.

Bay Area residents like to appear cool and mellow. They neither spew Texan hot air nor sport an abrasive Jersey City dialect. They are studiously casual, undemanding and saturated in dated culture (sometimes referred to as a European tradition). A baby carriage is a rare city sight; no one pays much attention to the Archbishop, and the Mormon Church has figured it best to temple itself in Oakland. The local press is ever in search of colorful characters, an iridescence hard to spot in a city of dressed-down inmates.

Two hallmarks of the San Francisco male mannikin: he is attractive and begayed. Even the local female has been begayed; soon she learns that it's a tough town to get laid in and harder yet to land a husband. Even an "accidental" pregnancy fails to turn the trick. Every other handsome good catch is homosexual, and it's almost axiomatic that the very boy worth bringing home to Mother would probably prefer to sleep with Brother.

Within the larger cityscape and the composite behavior pattern, alien groups can be subtracted and studied: the Blacks, the Latinos, the Orientals, the Filipinos. The City's predominant minority are the Gays, yet they are politically the least powerful. The Gay subculture shares characteristics with other OUT groups (impotence and exploitation) all the while pathfinding for the IN crowd. This hybrid pilgrim is not always photogenic. Dorian Gray lives on...

The Pilgrim's Profile

The Gay male (18 to 45) will more often than not be half-dressed in faded, torn Levis. He likes flannel shirts, sweat shirts, and patches. He wears much silver and likes leather (brown or black). The High boots, rugged for some outdoor trade, labor his walk. A worker's look is cultivated: rope, canvas, chains, studs, and rivets. More than likely he owns neither suit nor tie and certainly not an overcoat. He doesn't wear underwear of any kind and has had VD at least a half dozen times.

The hair, whatever the style, is usually flattering, probably soft, and possibly curly. Long stringy hair is out, piercing one ear is in, and tattoos are spreading. The pilgrim's face, with either mustache or beard or both, has a fetching natural look, hewn out-of-doors in forest or desert. This mountaineer avoids office pallor and paunch, and the burnt-to-a-crispness of his beachier brothers. He's clean, but not compulsively hygienic as ten years ago (after all, he's learned to eat in health food huts). Haircuts are put off, and several days might pass without shaving. Starching and pressing went the way of shined shoes. He smiles easily but not with Southern flash. His skin is clearer than his eyes: his trim body is ever available... but not too readily. Trusting, he's hard not to love at first sight.

If he drives a car, it's more than likely a small one, probably imported and battered around. Seldom has he too much money as there aren't too many ways to make it in San Francisco. His possessions are few, and he feels little compunction at lifting those of his friends. He moves often... from furnished room to studio; he's been robbed more than once (his wallet, his clothes, his stereo, his color TV, his faith). And although he has dabbled in all the drugs, it wouldn't be fair to label him lethargic - perhaps gentle to a fault. It's not his nature to be conniving, or deep.

He's unemployed more often than employed, and doubtless has a few years of college under his leather cap. For a time he will probably be a busboy, a waiter, a bartender. A clerk in a small shop or an orderly in a hospital. To teach school someday might be one foggy ambition (the hand-capped?) or to own his own shop. In a large company he tends to be passive and undemanding; his goals seldom go beyond being switchboard operator or male secretary.

He talks largely about sex, for sex takes up most of his time. The haunts, the hunt, the conquests, the paraphernalia. The rejections, the broken hearts, the unfaithful lover, and all the "hot" numbers he hasn't had yet. His tricks, your tricks, my tricks. He is often lonely, usually adrift, and faces the world with a kind of emotional lobotomy. Before he leaves to get home to the "friend" or strikes out in the early-morning fog, he'll take your phone number, but never call. Merely part of the ritual. The next time you meet, there'll be a nod, a knowing half-smile (meaning he has forgotten your name) and that passing signal that tonight he's out for bigger game. So stand clear. In the bars he seldom makes a move before 1:30am - up to then it's lining up numbers, occasionally shooting them a lateral glance to see whether he still holds their interest. When a hoped-for trick exits the bar, his heart sinks.

The lights go up, but there are still the baths, the donut shops, the after-hours black back rooms, the streets. Standing outside the bar after closing, he makes himself available one last time. But more unreachable than ever. For no one wants to be rejected, publicly, in those last desperate minutes.

Days the pilgrim does the parks, the beaches, the porno bookstores, those certain movie-houses. Stabbings and beatings are occupational hazards, to be accepted with grim fatality. Yet increasingly, when attacked, a new breed has taken to calling the police and bringing charges. The soiled San Franciscan Galahad thinks predominantly through his genitals. Hence, cruising takes up most of his spare time and spare change. If not all. From itch to erection to orgasm to shrinkage... time out... until the itch begins again. A paper cartoon in a fairied city.

BAGL Sets Goals for Third Year

Bay Area Gay Liberation (BAGL) celebrates its second birthday on Jan. 29 and set out its program for its third year of operation:

- (1) Develop a clearer focus for Gay organizing that can reach and affect the conditions of our lives - in the neighborhoods where we live, and where we work, as well as where we play.

(2) Help each member to develop the skills and understanding needed to implement the new Principles of Unity - through study and activities.

(3) Develop stronger ties with cultural, educational and media groups and collectives as part of the process of community building - not as an "alternative" but as an antidote.

(4) Continue the solidarity work and strengthen the alliances with all other progressive groups - Gay, Women's, Black, Latino, Asian, American Indian and others.

(5) Move on to those levels of Gay liberation activity that cannot be achieved by business

"Michelle - My Friends & Me" - a special performance on Sunday, Feb. 6, at 4PM at Sutter's Mill. Doors open at 2PM. Tickets available ONLY at the Kokpit; the seating is limited. If you haven't seen this spectacular show, join the fun. This promises to be a fabulous day, or as Michelle would say, "Gorgeous as in Orchid."

Have you been to the Cafe Biarritz on Broadway for Sunday champagne brunch... tasty and reasonable; besides, you can find "Fern" behind the bar - working for a change... understand you had a pleasant and enjoyable day at the Wild Goose the other afternoon, Fern?? How many did I hear forced you to do what??

Don't forget to vote for HERMAN FOR EMPRESS XII on Feb. 5 at 1550 California. After you vote, stop upstairs at the Andromeda for their buffet, etc. See this nice new club (if you haven't already) and say "Hi" to Stark.

Do you know whom the novel "The Maltese

Don't forget the Seventh Hanging of Sweet Lips from April 4 thru 6. Mame, Darcelle and Rock of Portland - and, of course, our own Jimmy Quinn - are the official hostesses - again... so look for a wild, wild week.

How did you like "Cleopatra" at the Strand Theater the other day, Bella? Tacky Hacky told us all - in vivid, living color.

Sorry, Willis, about not leaving you a 'tip' for the fabulous omelet the other day; but Lillian and Daddy Joe said you should never tip the CHEF... But I did love the food and your company.

Keith Mac, when are you going to write to Hanspeter in Cologne, Germany? He is patiently waiting for a letter or a visit from us for a holiday. Wouldn't that be fun... hi, Dennis.

Seems as if I am going to have a new neighbor underneath me at home - Warren of the Q.T. Hope you don't play your stereo too loudly, Marvin.

When in L.A. stop into the Rusty Nail and say hello to Dwight - a hunky guy that was just here for a visit. He works days and will clue you in on what is happening and where to go in L.A. Besides, the Rusty Nail is a hot, hot bar... Remember, Polk St. Sally can be seen at the *P.S. from Wednesday thru Saturday. Luncheon is served at the bar - and all the gossip not fit to print tooo.

Welcome home Tommy EMPRESS XII is a step in the right direction. Did you enjoy Atlanta and Denver - especially the two hunks of Sweet Lips I asked you to look up in Denver? ... Have you been to the Outer Limits on Valencia lately? Great sounds and lots of fun, fun people; right, Florida? How come you didn't buy that painting the other evening when you were out with Howard? ... Welcome home Spanish Rose. Sorry that you are moving out of the neighborhood, but we'll see you daily... Thank you Dolly Dale and Bob Golovich for the use of the P.A. system for the T.G. meeting.

Don't forget the Coronation and voting this Saturday - Remember, a vote for HERMAN FOR

"Only a hallucinatory imagination, capable of dreaming up mysterious forces or secret societies, can evoke the sinister capacity of contemporary life, the terrible news left out by the text books, the powers covertly in control."

Interview with Lance Loud

by H. Klein

You'll probably remember Lance Loud as the growing and although it is wayward son of the television series, "An American Family," which someone who was trying brought cameras into the Loud home, exposing more than anyone could have found a way to fit in to the possibly wanted to know world. Lance boiled down, after the achieved a measure of show was over, that what notoriety because he really wanted to do was "came out" in the course to have a band. I always an overnight celebrity, California. I just am not and a darling of New interested in doing any- York's media-crazed, thing, unfortunately, pseudo-chic Gay scene, except for my band.

And now, two years after B.A.R.: Has the fact that the initial publicity explo- you came out on TV, in sion has settled, Lance is front of millions of viewers, given you diffi- culties? I'm sure it will. B.A.R.: It hasn't yet? LOUD: No. Because a) I never came out. I never said I was Gay. I wore blue lipstick so it musta seemed pretty obvious. But I never talked about homosexuality. The producer needed to have publicity for the show so he decided to push that. And people went crazy over that. I never said I was Gay. I never did anything - except I did wear lipstick. I actually thought I was being incredibly original. And I didn't see it as feminine and I didn't see myself as feminine. This was pre-Bowie and pre-Alice Cooper. For me in Santa Barbara - I really thought I was just SO original. Silly; but it was cute. I like that kind of blind faith in your creative resources, especially when you're young and dumb. So the producer put all this stuff out saying that I was Gay and suddenly, like, I HAD to say SOMETHING. I thought, 'Well, I can't say no, cause I do have sex with boys and I never want to pretend I'm something that I'm not.' It was pretty terrible. I keep thinking that it is going to be really awful in the future. I didn't put any big stake thinking it was so bad or so good to go to bed with boys. It didn't seem to be the most important thing on the menu each day. There are other things you have to achieve.

I was basically out for thrills. I didn't care where or who. I mean, I was lower than low; I'd do anything. I was a real swinger. Then I tried to become a hippie, but I couldn't stand it because all they ate was rice and soy sauce. Then the series came out and I realized that people were going to start pinning me as a "gay spirit" and that really made me upset. Why should it be so important? Why should sexuality be one of the main interests in people? I think that I'm probably much better at talking than I am at having sex. I think the main interest is to leave a good impression. That's the only thing I can imagine people are on this earth for - to impress other people. Give something that people can react off of; give a few ideas; give a few new angles on life, styles and looks. Just aspire to something other than the norm.

And, b) I don't have any sort of Gay life anymore. I don't have a straight life. All I do is go to the "Y" and swim. I go home, make dinner and then go to rehearsal. That's ALL I do.

B.A.R.: Hmm... the "Y" is a pretty Gay place, isn't it? LOUD: (Giggles) Not the one I go to. I have a friend, a close friend, who is my roommate - just friends; separate bedrooms - and I find that that is such a satisfying relationship. We just talk. He's straight.

B.A.R.: Are you saying that you're non-sexual now? LOUD: Well, yeah. Not forced though, but not by choice. Sooner or later, like, there has to be something else that you're going to do besides decide what you wanna have sex with. People were always asking me about homosexuality and I said, "I can't stand liberation. I hate it that people become liberated because then they become uninteresting and then they start thinking that sex is the most important thing. I think everybody should go back in the closet. I think private lives and secrets are best."

B.A.R.: And now you're back in the public eye again, with the Mumps. Are all the Mumps from Santa Barbara like you and Kristian? LOUD: No, but no one is from N.Y. We have a boy, Kevin Kiley, who's on bass and he's 18 and from Boston. And we have Toby Dupree, who's 23, from Washington, D.C. We're all from broken homes. I've been trying to find some underlying aspect of the band that makes us all alike and it really is like we're lost little sheep. We are little sheep who have lost their wav, all from broken homes; all kids who were smart. We have a new song about that, too, called "I Like 'To Be Clean." Anyway, we just finished recording two songs for a compilation LP. It might be released on Warner Brothers. We did songs called "You Gotta Be Stupid If You Wanna Love Me" and a song called "Dutchboy."

I've gotten so single-minded in my purpose. Dedication is such a fatal thing. You can't give up. It kills me. I wish I was as vague and as semi-freewheeling and free-spirited as I was a long time ago, during the series. I hate growing to started getting good. I love something so much started taking singing lessons. I sing and write, but I don't play any instruments. I make up songs and then sing 'em to Kristian and he works them out on piano.

B.A.R.: Like Elton and Bernie. Are you and Kristian lovers? LOUD: Oh, no, no. We've always been 'best friends.' There's a whole new sexuality emerging; just because it's safer. If you have any sexuality moving between any people it makes for fights and uggghhh... unless you're really dumb. Then you can get along with anyone. That's what I wish I was. I mean, I'm not too

Meanwhile, the Mumps are getting a lot of media attention, mainly because of Lance's reputation and name-recognition with the mass media. They hope to have commercial pop hits; they have no interest in staying underground. Rumors have it, in fact, that Jack Ford, another media creation, may be joining the Mumps for their first album.

Welcome to Empress Coronation Week '77! A flurry of activities has been in progress for the past few days, and there is much more before the Coronation ceremonies on Saturday, Feb. 3 (tonight) the Gamecock Court will host a tribute (roasting) of Empress Flame at the Tattoo Lagoon from 9:00pm through midnight. We look for an enormous crowd, and if you've always had something you wanted to say to Flame but didn't dare... tonight's the night! A $2.00 donation will benefit the Gay Center, and the Tattoo Lagoon is also making a nice donation. Following all the activities of Coronation Day and the Ball at the XII. The three candidates Galleria on Saturday night will be a Gamecock Court-hosted open brunch at the *P.S. Restaurant on Sunday from 10:00 until 3:00. We look forward to seeing many of you there. From Noon to 6:00 on Sunday, Feb. 6, is the S.I.R. Winter Fair at the Gay Center, followed by the Cable Car Awards. Doors open at 6:30 and the awards show will begin at 7:30. Voting for Cable Car Awards will be cut off promptly at 7:30. Emperor III Bob Cramer looks forward to another great Cable Car Award success!

The Gamecock Court still has available raffle tickets for a free trip to the Seattle Coronation Ball. A $1.00 donation buys an opportunity for a round-trip air-fare ticket to Seattle plus private hotel accommodations and a free ticket to the Ball. You'll be seeing lots of tickets around this weekend and the Gamecock Court appreciates your support.

Congratulations to the new members of the Council of Emperors, Wally Rutherford and Mike Gernal. We look forward to several years of excitement and cooperation with both of you. I would like to express my sincere good wishes and ever-lasting love to our Empress XI de San Francisco, Flame. Flame has had an exciting year and, needless to say, one of the most successful reigns an Empress could possibly wish for. She is a brilliant personality, a colorful individual and continually surrounded by well-wishers, close personal friends and enthusiastic supporters. Rarely does one say "no" to Empress Flame. Not because they fear her, but because they love her, and no human being alive could want for more. Empress Flame is stepping down, but she is my first wife and she shall never have a divorce. Her stepping down does not mean she will no longer be around... and she will be the first one to agree. Flame, we need you, we love you, and we will never let you go!

The Gamecock Court is looking forward to a close working relationship with the new Empress... whomever she may be! Our hand is extended to you, and I know we will work in harmony throughout my reign.

Finally, I can't over-emphasize the importance of each vote for Empress election! The three candidates planned for the very near future, and we intend to count on you... the projects which we hope will include the new Gay public of San Francisco. They need you! Voting will be from 11:00am until 7:00pm on Saturday at the Nob Hill Mall, 1550 California.

Coronation 1977

As your Empress it seems appropriate to outline for your information what I feel to be basic and minimum requirements for an Empress de San Francisco. I have been asked to release this statement to clarify in your minds what the office entails. It is done in general terms with complete impartiality towards the candidates now aspiring to this office.

I expect, first of all, credibility - credibility to self and to the community. The dictionary meaning of the word "credible" is: worthy of belief, believable.

Next I expect complete community involvement in our many projects which are worthwhile - contributing of self to promote, interest and help by actions, word or deed in those things which will benefit us all.

Unless an Empress has the trust and respect of the people, she can be an ineffectual leader. I, therefore, expect trust. Loyalty to the City and County of San Francisco, and to the ideals and aims of the constitution of the office, and loyalty to the Tavern Guild which she serves as hostess are most important. Working together, great things can be accomplished. Today's Empress must have financial responsibility. There must be no instance where a blemish on the character of our

Points South, East & North

by Gene Earl

Hello, hello, hello! Well, it's good to be back in the swing. Three weeks of skiing in New Mexico (and all the bars 'tween here 'n' there) left me relaxed and happy. But now I am back in my usual rotten mood.

I am disturbed that my brothers and sisters, specifically those in the E.A.S.T.B.A.Y. Ass'n, used the recent Muscular Dystrophy Auction to stir up unwarranted crap. Let's get down to a few facts. Fact #1. It took a long time to get a financial report because some of us who purchased items at the auction wrote bad checks. These checks had to be redeposited, sometimes twice, before they were honored. Fact #2. ANY person who wished to get a receipt for his purchase needed merely to ask Jack, or any person at the Turf Club, and he would have been provided one. Those who know Jack know that he took elaborate steps to ensure everything was on the up and up. For example, NONE of his employees or himself handled the money at the auction. Lou Greene handled it and kept an accurate record; the monies were then deposited in a special account set up for the Muscular Dystrophy Auction. Finally, Anyone who wanted to check out the long, involved process of getting a financial report and the turning over of the $2,020.75 collected, need only to have called the Chairman of the Muscular Dystrophy Ass'n in Hayward, whose name is in bold print in the Hayward Phone Directory. It is sad that slurs were made against Jack, Eddie Paulson, or employees of the Turf Club. It bothers me that some have nothing better to do than create shit without checking their facts; but then I guess that's part of life - Gay or straight. If you want to make a name for yourself and exercise your own jealous nature, all you do is accuse others, creating a fire where there is none. Nuff said?

If you want to dance in Hayward, the place to go is the Chandelier - a large crowd, good music, and as long as you are not over 6'5" tall you won't bump your head on the chandelier.

Hans' in Oakland celebrates his fifth anniversary on Feb. 13 with ANY DRINK in the house for 50 cents at special times during the day. If you have not had dinner or deposited in a special account set up for the Muscular Dystrophy Auction. Finally, Anyone don't think you will find better anywhere in the East Bay. On Feb. 13, The Answer in Redwood City will host another action-filled Jockey Shorts Contest. This place gets some of the nicest bods around. On Feb. 19 the Whiskey Gulch Saloon gets into the Mardi Gras spirit with a bang-up affair and on the 27th The Savoy in Cupertino will also have a Mardi Gras. Check for details.

The 1st Anniversary Party at the Desperados was a smashing success. Two stands were built for the go-go dancers, one of whom was a particular knockout; and the place was packed all evening. John the cordial, hot dog owner knows how to do things up right. To culminate the festivities, the crowd tore down the stands, probably to get at the dancers. All had a fantastic time.

The Grand Opening Reception at the Watergarden, San Jose's only bath house and private membership club, was a smash. The official Grand Opening is slated for Feb. 4 at midnight, the witching hour. The Watergarden is located at 1010 The Alameda, close to The Manhole and 641 Club as well as Park Street Station and The Sundown and across the street from the Oak Room, which serves diners and lunches and has a cordial mixed crowd. Lenny at the Crystal has a beautiful afghan bound to give away to a good home - a fantastic information. My apologies to the Brave Bull in Modesto. The man that makes my stands, probably to get at the jockey shorts contest

Or, Try a Smile & Say Hello

The London Gay scene leaves much to be desired and before you land at Heathrow Airport, forget that you are from San Francisco and try to relax. The bars in London close at 11pm but allow you ten minutes "drinking up time." In the West End the best pub is still the SALISBURY in St. Martin's Lane, which is a semi-theatrical hangout and good for pre-theatre drinks or after nine in the evening when there's always an interesting crowd. The cold buffet is good and the Scotch beef well prepared. A few streets away in Maiden Lane, the BEDFORD HEAD is the meeting place (on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays) for the London M.S.C. You have to be a member, but if you arrive with all the gear and you're a new face, chances are you'll be allowed downstairs. It's a friendly bar, and an American accent will soon be whisked away into the night. This is London's answer to the BOLT, RAMROD, etc. On occasions the M.S.C. have smashing get-togethers with the German and Dutch Clubs. A drinking extension may apply, depending on the local council.

A few tube stations away at Earls Court, you'll find the BOLTONS and the COLEHERNE. The BOLTONS does swing on the weekends, but weekdays you'll find a few "living wrinkles" about. Across the road, the COLEHERNE will greet you at both entrances, one all leathery and one standard. Not a too friendly crowd there, but again, an American accent and a smile may prove useful, and there are a few groovy numbers about - all available. After eleven in the evening the sidewalk outside becomes a last minute "make your mind up" time, but be warned, the police are always around to move you all on your way. (Local residents have complained and several hassles with the law have occurred these last few months, with some prosecutions.) However, if you fancy a coffee, round the corner there's the CATA-COOMBS which stays open until 3am. You can have coke as well, but no liquor and it'll cost you a fifty cents to enter. You can dance the night away and find something to keep you warm, if you're in the mood.

In Notting Hill you can visit the CHAMPIONS which is a rather pleasant pub; but again, not too friendly. Further down the road at Marble Arch, you must see London's wrinkle room, where the average age is about seventy-five. The CITY OF QUEBEC does get interesting visitors, though, who often seem to have lost their way. The club scene has improved over the last few years, and the No. 1 "in" place is certainly NAPOLEONS which you'll find off New Bond Street. Temporary membership is available at about $5.00 and drinks are about $1.50. (All liquor is measured, and shots are extra, being bought separately in a small bottle.) It's an elegant club and terribly dressy, although the occasional beauty does appear. Open until 3am, it has good music but a small dance floor. On Mondays only, BANGS disco swings and is the nearest place to L.A.'s STUDIO ONE. Wear all you want here, as the guys are groovy and very together. A good night out and entrance is about two dollars. The A AND B club in Soho is also popular, and with your broad American accent, you'll probably walk in without a hustle. Here, it's pub hours so arrive before 10:15. In Covent Garden you'll find MANDYS which is almost identical to NAPOLEONS and again, very dressy. Saturday on the King's Road is a must, and only on this day is the MARKHAM ARMS taken over by the Gay set. It's a bit like Polk Street really, but well worth a "troll." You'll find all types at the MARKHAM but watch the time, as at three in the afternoon the bars close. You have been warned! Down the road look for the GIGOLO coffee bar, but only after 11pm. The inside will seem familiar, especially at the back where it actually half happens. Sunday lunch is also quite special, and two Belgravia pubs go Gay at lunchtime only; these are the PIG AND WHISTLE and, across the street, the HORSE AND GROOM. Here you'll find some beauties and very fashion-minded people who arrive in Rolls Royces or even on bikes. On Sundays the pubs close at two in the afternoon. Across town, the BLACK CAP plays host to a crowded bar, and Marc Fleming, the resident evil drag queen, will send you up harshly. This is well worth the effort, but arrive before one or you'll just about be out on the sidewalk. Although off the beaten track, Hampstead is worth a visit. The WILLIAM is the only Gay pub. In summer, the garden is open and the scenery is most attractive. A ten minute walk up to the HEATH will bring you into fantasyland as here it really does all happen - weather, of course, permitting. Behind the pub, JACK STRAW'S CASTLE, follow the stream of people and you won't go wrong. In the bushes and beneath the trees you can do your own thing and it's almost safe, apart from an occasional visit from the police, who can only touch the outside areas due to the size of the actual heath. Nighttime is best after ten and on Sunday afternoon, if the sun decides to come out. There are NO Gay tubs in London; and although a few are popular, you'll be asked to leave if caught touching something you shouldn't be. (The STRAND sauna and the ST. MARTIN'S LANE are two which come to mind.) In all, London doesn't really swing and the British are not as open or as friendly as the West Coast Americans. The police control the scene and tea houses are out of bounds and frequently raided. If you want a decent list of pubs outside of the West End, the London Gay News has all of them listed and a switchboard will be able to put you right, if need be. Who knows, the extreme change from San Francisco will meet with your approval and you'll maybe fall in love with a lovely Englishman . . . they do exist.

"My first advice (on how NOT to grow old) would be to choose your ancestors carefully." Bertrand Russell

Nine-tenths of the appeal of pornography is due to the indecent feelings concerning sex which moralists inculcate in the young; the other tenth is physiological, and will occur in one way or another whatever the state of the law may be." Bertrand Russell

Gay American History:

LESBIANS AND GAY MEN IN THE U.S.A. Edited by Jonathan Katz. Thomas Y. Cromwell Co., 1976; Hardbound Edition - $20.00; Paperback Edition - $10.00, 690 pages.

Alex Haley's "Roots" continues to sweep the country as we wonder whether a lavender colored "Roots" will ever appear. A promising start looms in the form of "A Gay American History." After digging in archives and research libraries, Jonathan Katz proves such a chronicle can dazzle the imagination. We Gays also possess a root canal of narrative drama, both sad and beautiful.

A Gay diary of ourselves will tend toward such vitality and discord that a standard history book account acts as a straightjacket. Katz has wisely divided his effort into broad thematic sections: Trouble, 1566-1966; Treatment, 1884-1974; Passing Women, 1782-1920; Native Americans/Gay Americans, 1528-1976; Resistance, 1859-1972; Love, 1779-1932. Startling but little-known chunks of fact fly at us throughout this massive collection where the reader can leisurely dip at random. We can only sample a few gems here: 1776 - Thomas Jefferson proposed that "Sodomy shall be punished by castration."

1894 - Stephen Crane plans to write a novel about male prostitution called "Flowers of Asphalt." Unfortunately, such a literary event never came to pass. We are treated to eyewitness accounts of male to male dancing on the frontier (pictures are also included).

We learn the details of Bessie Smith, renowned jazz singer, and her bisexual love life. Other notables abound in this underground biography of America caught in the act - Emma Goldman, Ralph Waldo Emerson, (speculation here) Henry David Thoreau and Dorothy Thompson. The devoted Gay historian will find delight in reading an account of how the very first Gay organization, The Society for Human Rights, was given birth in Chicago (1924) by Henry Gerber. Katz has managed to locate Henry Hay, a founder of the Mattachine Society (Los Angeles, 1950) for an interview.

Many nostalgia buffs will be glued to the page by an intimate account of the infamous "Boys of Boise" episode. This is probably one of the most intriguing sections of the book.

No account of the Joe McCarthy witch hunt era can be complete without a bizarre selection from "Washington Confidential" by Jack Lait and Lee Mortimer (1951). They quote Congressman A. L. Miller of Nebraska: "The homosexual is often a man of considerable intellect and ability. It is found that the cycle of these individuals' homosexual desires follows the cycle closely patterned to the menstrual period of women. There may be three or four days in each month that the homosexual's instincts break down and drive the individual into abnormal fields of sexual practice. Under large doses of sedatives during this sensitive cycle, he may escape such acts."

All this marvelous exploiting could continue on and on, but the reader must sample for his or her own pleasures. It is well to close this discussion with a quote which Jonathan Katz offers from Walt Whitman in "Democratic Vistas" (1871). According to Katz, "Whitman optimistically suggests that even before the bicentennial arrives in 1976, much that is now undreamed of

we might then see established."

Gay Center News

The Gay Center at 330 Grove is open daily from 10 AM to 6 PM. Everyone is welcome at the Center.

We've begun the outreach process to our community. If your group hasn't yet been contacted, please let us know right away by calling Hank Wilson at 863-9000. Because of widespread community support the Center has changed quite a bit since the Christmas Day dinner. We continue to need volunteer help and donations. Work parties are planned for Saturdays and Sundays. Volunteers are needed during the week also. See you at 330 Grove.

Our library needs all kinds of books and periodicals. Subscriptions and

Letters to Our Staff

Dear Sir:

Aries ascendant.

I was receiving the B.A.R. for about a year and all of a sudden it stopped coming, and I would like to know if I could at least get it until April of 1977. You see, I am epileptic and I can't work so I don't have the funds to spend for any kind of thing, plus I am a Gay prisoner. I don't have anyone out here in California and my family won't send me anything either.

Very truly yours,

David T. Smith, B64671

Editor:

I fully support your recent editorial in support of giving Proposition T a chance. The measure was passed by the voters and should be given the chance to be judged on its merits rather than repealed before it can even be tried. It is disgraceful that Mr. Dauer and the Chamber are involved in this effort to continue control over the board, and I have so stated to him and the Chamber. From the 500 or so voters (broad-spectrum) that I have talked with from District 5, I'd guess that their attempt to overturn "T" will backfire on them, but I would imagine that the Sunset and Richmond Districts will be hit with a continuous barrage of anti-"T" scare literature in order to get block votes to repeal it. Keep up the good work.

Editor:

I would like for you to print my ad in your paper. I thank you in advance for your service.

Jesuits Bar Ordination of Gay

The Jesuit Province of New York has barred the ordination of a candidate for the priesthood because he is a homosexual, the NEW YORK TIMES reported last Sunday. Over a 13-year period the candidate for the priesthood, Thomas Sweetin, has otherwise completed all the necessary requirements to be ordained. Sweetin told the TIMES that he was Gay but stated that he had never been sexually active. He also charged that the order had been guilty of "pure harassment" because he was never told why he could not be ordained during a period extending over the past few years. Sweetin said that his difficulties began three years ago when his superior was informed that Sweetin occasionally visited Gay bars. After being grilled by the superior, Sweetin says that he was ordered to see a psychiatrist who found that "the whole Gay thing shouldn't be a reason for withholding ordination." Sweetin was then sent on a month-long retreat where his spiritual director kept hammering away at the whole Gay question. Sweetin asserts that he visited bars "to meet other Gays, especially Jesuits." While his ordination was held up, he later spent six months at a clinical pastoral education program in Lowell, Mass., and parish work at Xavier Church in Manhattan.

Rev. Albert Bartlett, vice principal for priestly preparation for the New York Jesuit Province, told the TIMES that it was unusual to refuse to grant ordination in the final stages except for "reasons of health" which include "stability of both mind and body." "Homosexuality," says Rev. Bartlett, involves complex issues for the Church and he emphasized that, "There is no consensus in the Church about the direction we should take."

Fr. Bartlett noted that Gay people are "difficult to exclude once they are full-fledged members of the order."

According to candidate Sweetin, the issue in his case is not sexual activity itself. "The issue is that I'm Gay and I feel very good about it - if you say that, it nullifies anything else good about your character so far as the Church is concerned."
