PREFACE

This revised and updated edition of the Directory of Community Services Organizations in Greater Los Angeles has been prepared by the staff of the Institute of Industrial Relations, UCLA, as a service to the community and particularly to those persons concerned about social and economic problems as they affect the disadvantaged and minority populations of this area. Special emphasis is placed upon those organizations and agencies which are based in, or are most relevant to, the South Central and East Los Angeles communities, although organizations located in other regions are included where they fit general guidelines for inclusion. The present edition is as reasonably up-to-date as possible in a city like Los Angeles.

As in the previous editions, we have classified all such organizations and agencies by the areas of Greater Los Angeles (identical with the County of Los Angeles) in which they are located or which they primarily serve, and by the major type of activity or service in which each one is engaged. This enables the user to locate each listing both by the nature and purpose of the organization and by its primary geographical area. A description of the sixteen area boundaries follows.

The format of this new edition differs somewhat from that of previous editions. The first, and major, part of this Directory (Chapters I - XIII) updates the listings for those organizations included in the previous edition, omitting all organizations and agencies which we were unable to contact. The second part (Chapter XIV) lists those existing organizations which were not included in the previous edition, categorized in the same way as those previously listed. Blank pages are supplied at the end of Chapter XIV for listing additional organizations.

As before, we have made references to job training programs conducted by schools, community organizations, or other agencies under the provisions of the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) of 1982. Listings of such programs in this Directory are limited to those organizations funded through the City of Los Angeles for the Program year 1983-1984 only. Users of this Directory are reminded that funding for training programs varies from year to year, and that there are seven "Service Delivery Areas" within Los Angeles County, other than the City of Los Angeles, which also are empowered to fund job training programs for residents of their specific areas. Current information on these various programs may be obtained by contacting the agencies listed on pages 112 and 113 in this Directory.

Although the major social service agencies and organizations in Greater Los Angeles are included in this Directory, a particular effort has been made to cover types of organizations which often are excluded from other directories, specifically artistic and cultural, neighborhood improvement, business assistance, social and fraternal, and communications fields. Again, emphasis has been placed on those agencies which serve or especially relate to minority communities.

For a more comprehensive listing of social service and similar agencies, users of this Directory are referred to the Community Resources Information Bank (CRIB), maintained by the Department of Public Social Services of the County of Los Angeles. Helpful listings of agencies and services also are available from the United Way and from individual members of the Los Angeles City Council and/or Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors. Information on the key City Council members, including addresses and phone numbers, is included in this Directory.

We are well aware that there are inevitable omissions or mistakes in any listing of this type. Undoubtedly a number of worthy organizations have been missed, and we apologize to those so omitted. We request that any such omissions, as well as new and supplementary entries, be called to our attention. In addition, we hope that organizations listed will inform us immediately whenever changes in listings occur. We anticipate that revisions or supplements will be issued in the future. Our mailing address is: Institute of Industrial Relations, UCLA, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles 90024.

We regret that limitations of space and staff again have required us to omit certain categories of organizations. For example, we have not listed political clubs, churches, or parent-teacher associations (except in a few instances where we knew of special community-service or action programs, administered by the organization, which are particularly relevant to minority communities). Also, we have generally omitted listings for profitmaking businesses, except in a few cases where a business may conduct vocational or related training under the provisions of the Job Training Partnership Act.

In light of the fact that the Institute receives no special funding for the preparation of this Directory and must depend on internal staff resources which are intermittently or irregularly available for the project, several months invariably elapse between the time of receipt of information from organizations and the actual publication date. Of course, many changes can occur even in this relatively short period.

Keith Solomon and Baird Mitchell, students at the University of California, San Diego, and University of California, Los Angeles, respectively, at the time of their service with the Institute, obtained much of the necessary information from the agencies and organizations listed. Sharon Geltner, of the Institute's Publications Center was responsible for the technical editing of the Directory. Margaret Zamorano, of the Institute's staff, accomplished the prodigious task of processing the entire text. Jane Abelson, Administrator of the Publications Center, also assisted in the final preparation of the Directory for publication.

AREA BOUNDARIES

For the purpose of this Directory, Los Angeles County has been divided into 16 geographical areas containing the listings of community services organizations. Areas 1-15 have specific boundaries drawn according to their geographic locations. Area 16 is a "catch-all" area, containing listings which are scattered throughout Los Angeles County or, in a few cases, Orange County, and are not included in Areas 1-15.

In cases in which the headquarters or the main office of an organization is located in one geographical area and branches or affiliated offices are located in one or several of the other areas, we have listed all offices of the organization in the geographical area of the main office, but have identified the appropriate area for such branches or affiliates by showing area numbers next to branch office addresses. For example, "Area 4" next to the address listed for a local area office of the County's Department of Public Social Services means that that particular office is located in Area 4.

A short description of the boundaries of each area is given below.

V. TRAINING AND RELATED PROGRAMS

Under the Job Training Partnership Act enacted in 1982, which replaced the CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) program, many public and private organizations within Los Angeles County are funded to provide a variety of training, employment, and supportive services to eligible "economically disadvantaged" residents, both adult and youth. Although some of the federally appropriated funds are administered through the State of California, most funds for training and job development are administered through local "Service Delivery Areas," each of which has established a "Private Industry Council" empowered to make policy and planning decisions concurrently and jointly with the local legislature and Chief Elected Officer. Eligible applicants for these services must reside in the particular "Service Delivery Area."

Listed below are the "Service Delivery Areas" within Los Angeles County and the Chairpersons and/or administrative officers of the various Private Industry Councils, along with addresses, public information phone numbers, and other relevant information where available. This listing was accurate as of early 1984, and it must be emphasized that changes frequently occur in PIC staff and/or leadership of the various Councils.

The General Plan and its components must be approved by the City Council. Planning areas do not necessarily coincide with Council district lines. Community plans covering the 2nd District, for example, include: Atwater, Bel Air-Beverly Crest, Hollywood, North Hollywood, Sherman Oaks-Studio City-Toluca Lake and Van Nuys-North Sherman Oaks.

For information on the status of the plan for your community call 485-5051. Preparation of Environmental Impact Reports (EIR's) is a responsibility of the Planning Department. The City's guidelines for review of developments within the City require these reports on projects having potentially significant impact on the environment.
