Ever the janitors the day after could verify that Sunday night's Coronation Ball for Grande Czarina Gabriel II of the Peninsula was an elegant affair.

But much else could be assumed when the garbage consists of butts and pieces of feather boa, rhinestones and broken champagne glasses.

But the garbage couldn't possibly match the splendor of the evening itself. Nor could the janitors testify to its tremendous success or the audience of nearly 500.

In Cabaret in Redwood City was transformed into the Czarina's Royal Palace for the evening, with satin banners in both hers and the Imperial Court's colors encircling the ceiling. Two antique Norman thrones were brought in and set up, each on a separate dais. One was for Empress Crystal and the other for the Czarina, their separate courts flanking them. Dominating the wall opposite the Czarina's throne was her personal banner and crest.

After the Empress and her court were seated, some of the most impressive and well-organized pageantry in recent bay area history began.

Crowds from Oakland and San Jose presented themselves before Duchess Craig and Countess Little of the new Czarina's court made their entrances.

Drum major heralded the arrival of Grande Czarina Sally and her court presented themselves to Empress Crystal and took their places on the Czarina's dais. Beneath music, Grande Czarina Gabriel was officially given the title of Empress Crystal by Empress Crystal. Grande Czarina Gabriel stepped down from the throne to make way for Grande Gabriel, who then received and crowned Princess Royal Stormy and Grand Duchess Ca-co de Straights (a REAL girl, who is straight). After the coronation of Duchess Craig and Countess Little, sea-shell trumpeters and rhythmic tapping on a large gourd announced the arrival of the Chief and Chieftess of the Society Islands (Sandwich Isles). In a ceremony steeped heavily in native tradition, the Chieftess removed her crown and white satin mantle to greet the new Czarina with a hula dance and on her drums played by members of their entourage.

New bars, new faces, new names this girl is as unreviled in confession over the many Grand and Bed-mat Openings. Tipsy will...let me see...the BOOST-OF on Polson Street has swept out all the debris from its recent rubber leather do. And those delightful boys are Fibber McGee and Molly Malone through to scratch the bottle of chintzing champagne and take a shot from it. Honest we have signed on this heavenly cheesecake ship.

New lift. The aggregate designation on Folk Street, "PBLE CHASE SALON", at Post St. will be in 606 to check for polished spittoons and a congratulatory cocktail (you observe a knee in long-stemmed Baccarat, I trusts)

Dear John:

Dear John,

DEAR JOHN, "...How big a deal is drag in this city? I don't go anywhere that I don't see them. It is a behavior pattern in the City, but as long as the participants are not flaunting it or disturbing the public, I don't think they are jeopardizing our community. JOHN"

DEAR OBSOLETE, "...I, personally, would like to see more social activities organized for the average Gay Guy who harbors no particular fetish, but simply likes to be with other males to pursue his personal taste. JOHN"

DEAR_cookies, "...Also, the "big box" is often deceiving and ridiculous attitude after that time, prepare for a blowup. Would you advise my getting up out of bed and going to work at a ‰‘women's' ‰‘home' or a ‰‘men's' ‰‘home?" "Inhibited"

DEAR_JOHN, "...I guess guys that have got to show everything they've got in their pants. A lot of tric..."

DEAR_Inhibited, "...Although I cannot speak for the majority, I would think that if all one is looking for in who a guy "has in his pants," then the obvious answer would be a "horny guy." Personality is just as important as physical. Also, the "big box" is often deceiving and ridiculous."

DEAR_PUBLISHER, "...I, personally, would like to see more social activities organized for the average Gay Guy who harbors no particular fetish, but simply likes to be with other males to pursue his personal taste. I would suggest a complete re-evaluation of our community. JOHN"

DEAR_ELIZABETH, "...Also, the "big box" is often deceiving and ridiculous. Actually, he is trying to tell you in this strange way that he apparently hasn't got the guts to be forthcoming."
