When "our people" put on an exciting extravagana, they are not complacent in just swagging cheesecloth backdrops and throwing on a simple cocktail frock. To the contrary, our community's very talented and creative labor short of killing themselves in constructing illusionary grandeur in staging and needless to say, utter realism in costuming, coiffures and makeup. Such was the case of the production organization for the "GOLDEN AWARDS" at the VILLAGE on April 10th.

Guests began arriving an hour in advance of the 8 pm. curtain rising to be assured of an up-front advantage position table. Reservations were not honored for this glamorous second annual event, but the order to respective seating was timed beautifully and in keeping with the dignity of this lovely evening.

Prior to the introduction, SANDY, of SANDY'S SALOON roamed with microphone through the audience introducing community notables and other guests, delightfully dressed in varying representations of showmanship and regality. Sandy was joined midway through his intimate personal visits by REBA, former Empress of

The straight people of San Francisco are hurriedly looking for a community in which they can live and form some identity. Rumor has it that a straight community is being formed in Alpine County, just three miles east of San Francisco. (As you know, the last quake moved things around a little.)

The President caused an uproar in the nation today by lifting the ban on heterosexuality. His justifications were that while he is a religious person, the Conservation Department has pressured him into legalizing the ban on heterosexual acts between two consenting adults.
Miss Gayzette SPEAKS OUT

This past week has been one to remember; one of the most exciting events of the year for many of our readers! The San Francisco and the surrounding area's gay community gathered in the midst of the Golden Gate Bridge to honor the historic victory in the Village. It was exciting, but there is more to report. Last Saturday night, the Village celebrated with style and panache. After the small talk, you invite him to the nearest alley, but you can forget for a smoke. He doesn't smoke. You invite him to the nearest bar for a drink. He doesn't drink. You smile. You say hello. He says hello. Your heart is racing. You know he knows. He knows your heart is racing. You slow your pace and screech to a halt in front of the Village. It was exciting, but there is more to report.

was somewhat tarnished. Brunches are being served at the City for night hangovers to the City for finding it less and less necessary. It's said the "star's" brilliance is not nearly what it was, although not many noticed it. Besides their own, grooving Easter weekend proved to be a time in between, a birthday party with trimmings at the Bayou Lounge and some pieces (try their Chicken Hawaiian) at the Houndstooth Cabaret, first anniversary party for your fine club. Dear John,

My close friend has become involved in a new sex trip which he is referring to as a love trip and trust each other in this scene, no doubt you are aware.

Of course, it could be dangerous if both parties are not completely. Douching before and after intercourse is an absolute necessity. And it may be quite a beautiful experience if your head is in the right place for it, but it could be a nightmare if either person is not careful and very selective about your partners. It is not something you do with any and everyone. It may not turn out to be a pleasant experience if your head is not in the right place.

Dear Curious,

Patient. You must both be on your guard if both parties are not completely. Douching before and plenty of Crisco are an absolute necessity. And it may be quite a beautiful experience if your head is in the right place for it, but it could be a nightmare if either person is not careful and very selective about your partners. It is not something you do with any and everybody. It may not turn out to be a pleasant experience if your head is not in the right place.

Dee.
GUILDERHOOL!

Old San Diego, you know the game pretty well, and I don't think I'm so far off the beaten path. But don't go by the headline or the first few lines of the story. I'm just giving you a heads up about the second part. Here's a small part of what the story is about:
