Making a Deal with the Police

What is a "Progressive" Cop?

Controversy at A Woman's Place

Getting Locked out: Simple, someone changes the locks. The lockout at A Woman's Place was/is collectively operated, and the statement should be taken the same day they released this. The lockout is a result of the I.C.I—A Woman's Place was "held in trust" for the I.C.I. It is not a legal fiction because the laws (C.A. 1970) allow for collective incorporation. It is true that for over a year the collective has been struggling internally over such issues as collective incorporation, internal democracy, and the like. But that is not at issue, except in the sense that the lockout was a manifestation of those problems. The lockout is not a result of any action by the POA. It was the result of an internal struggle within the collective. The lockout is a result of the POA's leadership coming to the community because they recognized the power of the police department and the importance of the lockout. Gay Olympics Games Wrap-Up

by Linda Mendes and John Gladstone

The first Gay Olympic Games were about connecting, Sex, races, ages, countries, and people were all mixed together, each flavor adding to the mix. They were a great opportunity to make new acquaintances for others to experience and to see what it's like to be gay in the world today. We came from all parts of the world, and we had a wonderful time.

The Games began inauspiciously. It was a hot day, and the weather forecast predicted windy, and cold. As opening day ceremonies were about to begin, it seemed as though the heavens were lowering. The rain poured down, and the spectators were drenched. The divas and gay male cheerleaders were also drenched but remained on the field, and they kept singing. The weather was especially cloudy when the sun broke through. It was a spectacle to see the divas and gay male cheerleaders on the field. It was a sight to see.

An archer kicked off with music as the divas entered, and then the gay male cheerleaders joined in, singing "The Star-Spangled Banner." Spectators grumbled about religion, and the divas were about to begin at Kezar Stadium, rain or shine. The rain poured down, and the spectators were drenched. The divas and gay male cheerleaders were also drenched but remained on the field, and they kept singing. The weather was especially cloudy when the sun broke through. It was a sight to see.

Coming Up!: So what about events for disabled athletes? That's a good point. I think that the energy has to go in a positive direction. That's the key here. What we're trying to do is show that we're like straight people. We don't have to be disabled to be part of the Games. We can be solution-oriented. That's the key here. What we're trying to do is show that we're like straight people. We don't have to be disabled to be part of the Games. We can be solution-oriented. That's the key here.

The Congressional Races

Some political observers persisted that Milton Marks would get substantial support from gay community however, except for some Concerned Republicans there hasn't been much of a cross-over. Marks, in the past a "liberal" Republican, has received howls from his conservative constituents. He has been outspoken in his desire to support the policies of the Reagan administration. While Marks has been of the party, he has also shown some independence in his voting. He has voted against some of the administration's policies. In this campaign, he has turned his back to the right for the support of the gay community.

Philip Burton has come under criticism for not being active in the fight for gay-lesbian rights during his years in office, but he is one of the top ranking liberal members of Congress. He has announced the endorsement of all major environmental groups, labor unions and seniors organizations, as well as the three San Francisco gay Democratic clubs.

The Senate Race

Governor Jerry Brown, the public official who has been the foremost proponent of gay rights, is closing the gap in his Senatorial campaign against Republican Pete Wilson. The Wilson campaign recently produced a hit piece about Brown, calling him the candidate of the homophobes. The results of this mayoral campaign will determine the political climate that the Senatorial campaign is set in. The battle may be for Brown's appointment to the California Supreme Court seat that has been vacated by the resignation of Chief Justice Rose Bird.

Brady, a moderate, has not generated much enthusiasm among progressive voters. If he wins the race he would be one of two gay women out of the state's 45 congress members.

The Gubernatorial Race

Governor Tom Bradley is viewed as a more progressive alternative to the conservative George Deukmejian. Deukmejian, toady's most likely opponent, has made a point of defending his liberal reputation. He has announced the endorsement of all major environmental groups, labor unions and seniors organizations, as well as the three San Francisco gay Democratic clubs.

The Right has also targeted Brown and will spend about $1 million to promote Pete Wilson, who has spoken about Brown, calling him the candidate of the Homophobia. The results of this mayoral campaign will determine the political climate that the Senatorial campaign is set in. The battle may be for Brown's appointment to the California Supreme Court seat that has been vacated by the resignation of Chief Justice Rose Bird.

Help the Band!

As a Band friend to the Community,
I must take this opportunity to bring to your attention a problem that has been troubling me for quite some time. The San Francisco Band and its related groups is wonderful, but we are in need of financial support. Our current membership is at an all-time low, and we are facing the possibility of dissolution. The Band and its related groups is the only organization of its kind in the San Francisco area, and it has been providing quality entertainment for over 25 years. We have a long history of providing performances that are accessible to all, with a special emphasis on the safety and health of all.

I am writing to urge you to consider supporting the Band and its related groups. We are facing a significant financial crisis and need your help to ensure our survival. Our current membership is at an all-time low, and we are facing the possibility of dissolution. Cabaret checkerboard

by Gary Menger

Not only has he a young, attractive, designer-producer, and general all-around gizmos, but also a cabaret show called Cowl in a Cardboard Cup. The show was conceived by Don Giron and presented by John DeRese.

In recent years, the cabaret has become a venue for many San Francisco performers. The show features a variety of acts, including dancing, singing, and comedy.

The show’s success has also helped to raise awareness of the issue of police brutality in the city. In 1976, public employees went on strike in San Francisco in response to the mistreatment of workers. The strike was successful in bringing about changes in the police department, including the hiring of officers who were more responsive to the community.

Lena Horne: The Lady and Her Music

by M.J. Latif

Lena Horne: The Lady and Her Music surpasses anything I’ve seen in Lena Horne’s 70-year career. It captures the style and passion of the music and dance of this remarkable African American woman. She brought a remarkable combination of style, grace, and class to her music and dance performances. Lena Horne was one of the most important and influential women in the music industry. She was a trailblazer in the world of entertainment, breaking down barriers and paving the way for future generations.

Lena Horne was incredibly talented and had a unique way of connecting with audiences. She had a way of making everyone feel special and welcome. Her music and dance performances were a feast for the eyes and ears. Lena Horne was a true artist and her legacy will live on for generations to come.

Not A Love Story

Not A Love Story is a motion picture about an inner-city, inner-city, inner-city woman, the people, the images, the issues. They’re all here. It’s an incredible story of one Canadian Doctor Bonnie Stein Klein manages the delicate art of photography to toward the film in the press and the pos- sible negative reaction of a fav- orite—the real-life character speaks for themselves. After seeing the film and interviewing the issues.

Lena Horne has racked up an impressive list of sites and events over the years. She has performed in more than 60 countries and has received numerous awards and accolades. Lena Horne has long been an advocate for women’s rights and has been a vocal supporter of feminist causes. She has been a strong leader in the struggle for women’s equality and has used her platform to speak out against gender discrimination and sexual harassment.

The film’s message is delivered subtly, almost to the point where you might miss it at first. Perhaps Kate Millet was right when she said, "Not A Love Story" is not love story. It is a story of love and loss. It is a story of hope and despair. It is a story of the human condition. The film is a powerful and moving testament to the struggles and triumphs of women in our society.

The Lady and Her Music runs through November 11.

Torn Tulle: Theatre Rhinoceros

by M.J. Latif

Torn Tulle: Theatre Rhinoceros’ current offering, by Charles Henrix, combines good plot, excellent production, and excellent direction by Chuck Solomon. This play is about four drag queen witches who are oppressed by their landlord/club owner, and decide to create their own community of witchcraft and Witchcraft. They plan to create a new world, one that is free from oppression and that celebrates women, who are considered to be "curse" in "vanilla" female society. The drag queens run a gym just for women, and the gym is successful.

One thing is clear about this musical, and Lena Horne does it all, she leads the band, she does a wonderful job.
