Gays in Nicaragua
An interview with Roberto Gurdian

by Aurora Levine Morales

Nicaraguan activist Roberto Gurdian was one of the organizers of the Continental Gay Rights Day Rally, held in 1983. The event was a response to the homophobia and discrimination faced by LGBTQ+ communities in Nicaragua. Gurdian shared insights on the experiences of LGBTQ+ individuals in Nicaragua, the challenges they faced, and the importance of solidarity. The interview provides a window into the experiences of gay men and women in a country undergoing significant political and social changes.

public sympathy than gay men. Haitians, and IV drug users—whether they are perceived to be, they see virtually the same manifestations of hostility, including being fired, verbally abused, touched at all of a sudden, for being different too. We need more people to come out, and there are still some gay men need to work as catalysts for solving the problems of our community. "We are particularly the cause of the AIDS epidemic."

The National Federation of AIDS Organizations, the National Gay Health Education Foundation, the National AIDS Federation, and the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force, are working to meet some of these needs.

Women’s AIDS Network Forms

The National AIDS Federation was established in February 1986, and represents a more effective and more visible group of people affected by AIDS, and its development of a National Resource and Information Center is under way. Executive Director of the National Gay Health Education Foundation, has been selected as director of the Resource and Information Center Project to be housed in his office. The National AIDS Federation can be evaluated. It will be critical to follow up on the development of the project. But whatever problems may emerge, it is at least a concrete effort to respond more effectively to the AIDS crisis on a national level.

Women’s AIDS Network was formed by the AIDS epidemic, it became increasingly clear, according to the AIDS virus is just as likely to infect women as men.

Women’s AIDS Network is a group of women with AIDS who are working together to form a support network. The network is currently under development, and is being organized by a group of women with AIDS who are working together to form a support network.

GAY MONGER

by Gary Monger

Phil Hans and Manny Scanlon quietly invited regular customers and frequent Fanny’s patrons to their last bear, a closing party prior to the weekend. The last gasp for the popular cabaret was on a Wednesday night and proved to be an awe-inspiring event that left them all wanting more. The place was packed from floor to ceiling, and the atmosphere was electric.

The new owners, Manny and Jerry, are planning to continue the tradition of featuring up-and-coming performers and regular customers. Among the rising stars were Aldo Bell, John Lusk, Stephen Sloane, and Don Johnson.

The most famous, or those Fanny’s might conceive to be the most famous, were incredibly high-energy performances from David Reighn and Sharon McNight, who performed at the end of the evening. Their set included four very fine performances; the first half, with its repetitious and derivative numbers, was received with quite a bit of embarrassment for the so-called “entertainment”.

The last part of the evening, that many had been waiting for, was the impressive party performance. The music was an unannounced cabaret by hostess Claire Wirta and Sharon McNight, with live piano playing at the piano.

The party atmosphere was complemented by delicious hot hors d’oeuvres—beef, ham, cheese, and ham. The pastries—wrapped sausages—were generously served throughout the evening, and complemented the well known and the new, representative of what the best cabaret show I’ve seen this year.

The Directory, by the way, is complimentary to all of those who have ever considered themselves gay male culture in particular and to men in general. From Violent Men to The Lord of the Rings, it can be picked up at the Women’s Building, the Roxy Roadhouse or the gift shop at the Ashland soon, for the very first time. From all of the local entertainment-oriented publications, this is the most civilized of men. He is what is best about the community and the industry.

In order to meet deadlines, I’d like to mention a few people who came up with some very clever ideas that I never heard of. On the other hand, those who are already familiar with my work might want to know about a few more.
