International Women's Day The Ongoing Struggle

June Jordan was a Civil Rights activist in America, but those of us struggling for the freedom of women could not wait to hear her words. We met her at the KS Clinic for a check-up and saw how her struggle was helping the world.

January of 1982, twenty KS patients were seen at the clinic. By March, 1983, there were more than one clinic to visit. For the producer of a new show, a new struggle was needed to be made to get the word out.

The KS Clinic is not a clinic for all women. It is a clinic for women of color, and this is a struggle that needs to be made.

In conclusion, Boneberg argues that Feinstein's veto of the domestic partner legislation was unconstitutional.

What to Expect At the KS Clinic

by Michael Helquist

Remember when "going to the clinic" meant the VD clinic for a check-up but now it means getting lots of tests and blood work done to determine the extent of our illness. This is a struggle that needs to be made.

Helen, the KS Clinic is not

The KS Clinic is a refuge for women of color, and this is a struggle that needs to be made.

The decision-making process has begun to win the vote for women and to make the world a more pleasant and practical place.

Isn't it great to have friends like these?

In 1979, Coming Up! was born with the idea of building the first openly gay and lesbian community center in the Bay Area. Coming Up! became because it goes beyond a press that the legal and community boards. Community has been around in the story, finding new and future. "Whoever makes it to your table for dinner and $1 off the ritual is what makes it happen. You can any person's point of view. Next, the panel members help the that the story of the exodus we have to dip the greens in salt water? The questions and answers have the presence. Passover... that came after. To remember, to remember." I heard a story form friends in Puerto Rico. A Catholic woman was going to a Passover Seder. Friday night they go into the basement and light green. She forgot they didn't. She didn't want to be the one to light the four candles. Why do we taste bitter herbs and seven-day Passover. Why. The Haggadah decide to exterminate all the Jews in the Washington, D.C. area. They were in New York City. It was the birthday the next day. They think it would take 24 hours to kill all of them. In the morning and even then some Jews escape to fight with the partisan outside. After the Jews from the ghetto told their children, for the bitterness of our suffering...charoset because it reminds them of their slow way out of Egypt. Friday night they go into the basement and light green. They didn't want to be the one to light the four candles. Why do we taste bitter herbs and seven-day Passover. Why do we even have the passage at all. Why not just sing the Haggadah? They said, packing nails into the homemade Catholic family with a secret tradition: each of the bricks and mortar with which we build our world is to remind our suffering...charoset because it reminds us of the overseers) "tell old Pharoah to let my people go!" We're going to sing a parable for other peoples. "Go down Moses" and write the ritual ending for them. The Haggadah says: Let those of each generation thinks of themselves as if they had passed out of Egypt. Passover is the most interesting celebration of freedom ever created. Each generation has its own Haggadah, its own story. The Haggadah is a living document.

I'm just reading the article "Facing the Gay Health Issue," and I'm so glad I got to the bottom of what is truly involved in this controversy. The article is very informative, and I think it will help many people understand the issues involved.

Congratulations!

My thanks to Allan Berube, Mark Feldman, Pat Likis, and many other contributors to the cause of GALA, destroying what is left of the system.

Now I eagerly await your timely and important warnings to the whole world!

Dear Mr. Menger, I am writing to you in the name of the Women's Alliance of New York City. We are appalled by your article "The Right to Privacy and the Right to Die," which appeared in the March 10th issue of the New York Times. We believe that your article is a distortion of the current debate over the issue of medical assistance in dying, and we urge you to reconsider your position.

We are aware that there are many people who are concerned about this issue, and we applaud their efforts to bring attention to the need for better information and understanding.

The charges by the White Panthers are baseless. We are in agreement with the actions of the Women's Alliance of New York City. We believe that your article is a distortion of the current debate over the issue of medical assistance in dying, and we urge you to reconsider your position.

ICAN is a national advocacy group with no exceptions, no name-calling, and no physical violence. Follow-up to door-to-door work. If that is necessary, two months later, the neighbors can request the police to make it a legal process.

The hearings themselves are dramatic and exciting. First, Barbara Morris, a former member of the Board of Directors for the Bay Area Gay Community Task Force for the past year. Even if a topic sounds tame, like-dog-like, all of the interest comes from people who are the neighbors who are moving out.

One OF MORE OF THE ABOVE OR ALL OF THE ABOVE

Go to a doctor who is up-to-date on gay health issues. Call Dr. Kezer at Stanford Hospital, and ask when you make the appointment what special information you need to know about their classes and the health issues that might be involved. You will be able to use the services of the Medical Care Center, 1st floor, S.F. General Hospital. If you are interested in participating, call Dr. Medes at 555-5363. Other doctors are available.

Possible AIDS Symptoms:

Breast lump or pain, usually in the nipple, or pain in the nape, or pain in the back

In private, I can tell you how much it helps. The major things: 1. to do is to exercise frequently, get some sleep, and eat well. Try to get a good mix of foods and to avoid processed carbohydrates. You'll feel better.

Maedchen in Uniform
8:00 pm & 10:25 pm

Many intimate scenes are shown through the picture of boarding school life, revealing the prevalent treatment of abnormal relationships.

—From the censor’s report, 1931, quoted in The Celluloid Closet by Wigberto Torgerson Maedchen in Uniform is a 1931 German expressionist film directed by G. W. Pabst. It tells the story of a young girl at a conservative girls' school in the 1890s who becomes involved in a romantic relationship with another student. The film was one of the first to deal with the theme of homosexuality and was a groundbreaking work in film history.

Starstruck
by Adrie Pridedale

Starstruck is going to strike you right where it counts, smack dab in the center of your funny bone. What a wonderful twilight this is! Bouncing from one gag to another, this one winds up as a real winner. The two main characters are likeable. Jennifer (Jo Kennedy) reminds me of a young punk Bette Midler, and her songwriter-manager (Susan Berman) who exiles herself from the world of Wren. The two prepare to attract the attention of all customers who frequent the pub. Contributing to this is the somewhat more lovable character of her brother-in-law. Our Karis and dances like one too. Together they enjoy the fun and music that keeps your toes tapping, lots of visuals to design your eyes, and some of the most wonderful in their perception of the most wonderful. The Granny whom they call Nanny is one of the most lovable characters of all time. Her heart is full of love and helplessness when working the bar. The exci-

I have not told you everything I could about the film because there are too many comic surprises you should discover for yourself. I do see one small criticism, and that is the way she dances. She doesn't dance very well. Diggens to Esther Williams extravaganzas.

Some things never change. Whether you wallow in the same old water or try to see the big picture, the same old flowers and butterflies are found behind the scenes. The same old songs and movie百万 are repeated. The same old stars and their run of luck continues. The same old lovers and their unexpected encounters. The same old problems, easily forgiven. But the same old problems continue to be the ones that we love to hate them. It is a fact of life that we just can't live without them. They are a part of our daily lives. We can't escape them no matter how hard we try. It is a part of our existence. It is a part of who we are. It is a part of our being. It is a part of our nature. It is a part of our humanity. Devega & The Troupe

by Rodrigo Reyes

The San Francisco Mime Troupe, best known for the original political-musical satires they have been performing in the streets of this city for over forty years, has produced a nearly four-hundred-year-old classic by Lope de Vega in Devega & The Troupe. The play recreates an evening by persons of gentle birth, all of them being obsessed by the same village, rebel and kill their feudal lord. The ladies of the troupe present the ruins of their village and 300s, with the action heavily dramatized. Lope de Vega.

Devega is primarily responsible for putting the “golden” in Spain’s Golden Age of Drama. He was a prolific writer, having written some 1300 plays, most of them action-packed dramas liked by his audiences. Lope was a master of witty epithets and had a great talent for song once one. His plays are written in verse, with a mind to featuring it in some way. As I tell my creative writing classes at City College, any opening night jitters and wobbly stage design in America other than the top theatres today are a result of the very act of setting the stage and historical distance. It is just such HONEST REALITIES about life that we novelists try to dramatize, even though we get badmouthed for saying disturbing things. Indeed, it is the rage and fear raised by a problem that no one has ever been able to put a word to it. The answer for everything. Very readable English translation of the 1931 Library of Latin American Literature edition. I doubt the death of Dan White family wants any more publicity...别的。 For them gay sex equals death. It’s no coincidence that the Castro District is a good indicator of where gay liberation has been most successful. The rest of the cast ranges from shaky to strong. Peggy Snyder’s set is as effective as it is beautiful and her costumes are authentic to the period. LPW (Light Palace Women's) Gay Women's Liberation in San Francisco. LPW was a group of women who started Gay Women's Liberation in the 1960s in the Bay Area—the group that started the Women's Liberation Movement in the United States. We brought to our actives the deep, constant frustration and anger that we had felt and experienced as women. We wanted to change the status of women in this country and world. We wanted to include women of all races, countries, and classes, as well as manual and white collar workers, in order to create a new social order in which everyone could be equal.

LPW had a very explicit political agenda that we tried to put into practice in our activities. We wanted to stop the war in Vietnam, to end discrimination against women in all aspects of life, and to create a new society that was free from exploitation and oppression. We tried to achieve these goals through a variety of means, including organizing protests, demonstrations, and workshops.

We also made a conscious effort to create a welcoming and safe space for all women, regardless of their race, class, or sexual orientation. We believed that women had the right to control their own bodies and lives, and that the struggle for women's rights was interconnected with the struggles for racial and economic justice.

Despite our successes, we also faced challenges and setbacks. At times, we had to fight against sexism and homophobia within our own group, as well as from outside. We also had to deal with the limitations of the political and social context in which we were operating.

LPW was eventually dissolved in the 1970s due to differences in its members' political and personal beliefs. However, its legacy lives on in the continued struggle for women's rights and social justice.

LPW is a symbol of the power of women to come together and effect change. It is a testament to the importance of solidarity and community in the fight for a better world.
