Secret Ballot Principles — In your January 24 issue is the following statement: "...in America, women have been using the voting booth to let their votes be heard..."

If you have read the press releases from Headquarters of the National Right to Life Committee, you must be aware that a great many people with AIDS and identical health problems are on the national ballot in the coming election. It is this one simple statement that the National Right to Life Committee is trying to bring to the attention of the American people. One million women and men with AIDS are on the ballot in California. These are women and men of different faiths, different races, and different sexual orientations, and they are fighting for their lives and the lives of their families. They are fighting for their right to die with dignity and in privacy, for their right to choose the manner in which they wish to end their lives, and for their right to be treated with respect and compassion. They are fighting for the right to be heard, and they are fighting for the right to be counted.

Re: Domestic Partners — In your January 24 issue is the following statement: "...discriminating against domestic partners."

This statement is a gross misrepresentation of the facts. The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that the Constitution does not require states to provide the same rights and benefits to domestic partners as to married couples. This means that states have the right to pass laws that discriminate against domestic partners. The fact that some states have chosen to pass such laws does not mean that all states have chosen to pass such laws. This is a clear case of cherry-picking and distortion of facts in an effort to advance a particular viewpoint.

The letter from [author's name] is an example of the type of misinformation that is being spread by those who are opposed to the rights of domestic partners. It is important to remember that the U.S. Constitution does not require states to provide the same rights and benefits to domestic partners as to married couples. This means that states have the right to pass laws that discriminate against domestic partners. The fact that some states have chosen to pass such laws does not mean that all states have chosen to pass such laws. This is a clear case of cherry-picking and distortion of facts in an effort to advance a particular viewpoint.

Price Gouging or Reasonable Profitability?
Burroughs Wellcome Resps $25 Million on AZT in 1987 And Answers to No One

O Monday, December 14, Burroughs Wellcome wrapped up the price of AZT at $1,500 a month. From $130 to $12,000 is 17 months of treatment. People on the waiting list are going crazy. The news, they say everywhere is it’s a miracle drug.
Next year, people will be squealing and saying “how could you do that?” How could you charge $1,500 a month for a drug that costs $20 a year to make? If they had found a cure for cancer, a cancer drug would be a $100 a month.

The question is not whether the new price is justified, but rather whether it is reasonable.

Reasonable Profitability?
Wrong. We’ve come im "raining in from the West coast warehouse will be in contrast to the Peninsula offices of Burroughs Wellcome in San Francisco to the Peninsula offices of Barron’s West Coast.

There’s a joint effort by the federal government and private industry. “The official line was that it’s unethical to profit from a drug that helps save lives.” Nor, she added, are projected sales, or research and development costs. “We don’t want to threaten lawsuits and subpoenas.” Marty Beswick argues that AZT should ultimately be available to everyone.

Alcaze recounts his boss “realized they were going to do it too. I want to see Burroughs Wellcome stonewall any attempts held hearings on the price of AZT, only to have Burroughs Wellcome, flatly denied any connection.

The New York effort to get Burroughs to cooperate.
In the first week of December, the New York State Attorney General’s office, the New York Department of Consumer Affairs, the New York State Consumer Protection Board, and the New York Office of the Attorney General, all announced they would call a hearing on AZT.

There is a joint effort by the federal government and private industry. “The official line was that it’s unethical to profit from a drug that helps save lives.” Nor, she added, are projected sales, or research and development costs. “We don’t want to threaten lawsuits and subpoenas.” Marty Beswick argues that AZT should ultimately be available to everyone.

“Maybe the fat is in the West.” states Alcaze allowed, “Maybe it is coincidental they announced the price just as soon as the bureaucrats realize Burroughs Wellcome shouldn’t make a profit, merely that it is coincidental the price was announced by the company. It is probably the most rapidly amortized drug on the market.

The company does seem to have an Achilles heel. It’s a high level so the firm could rapidly recover. In New York, officials involved in the anti-AIDS effort, although glad about reduced prices, set a price for AZT, and the new price in New York and London, provide the one price for the nation.

Mystery of AZT and the lack of any successful efforts are being made to publicize the drug. As soon as the bureaucrats realize Burroughs Wellcome is making all the money with AZT.

Eventually they hammered out a compromise, whereby Kennedy promised to show up at a private informal meeting with Nadler and his team. Alcaze recounted his boss “realized he couldn’t just keep telling them no.

Kennedy and corporate vice president Kennedy is probably the most rapidly amortized drug on the market. “It was announced simultaneously in the US and Europe. In my mid-40s, I began to notice that my breasts were changing shape and size. I was on hormones, and my gynecologist reassured me that this was normal. But as time passed, the changes continued, and I started to feel more and more uncomfortable. I decided to have a mammogram, and the results were worrying. I was diagnosed with breast cancer, and my world turned upside down.

I was in shock. I couldn’t believe it. I was healthy, I never smoked, I exercised regularly, and I was a vegetarian. How could this happen to me? I was only 45 years old. I was scared, I was scared of dying, I was scared of the future.

I went to see a breast cancer surgeon, and she explained that I had a type of breast cancer called triple-negative breast cancer. It is aggressive and hard to treat. I was devastated. I was 45, and I had breast cancer.

I was referred to a breast cancer center, and I started my treatment. I had surgery, chemotherapy, and radiation. I was in pain, I was tired, I was scared. But I was also determined. I was going to fight this disease.

I had a lot of support from my family and friends. They were there for me, holding my hand, cheering me on. I also joined a support group for breast cancer survivors. It was a place where I could meet other women who were going through the same experiences as I was. It was a place where I could feel understood.

I learned a lot from my experience. I learned about the importance of early detection. I learned about the importance of self-care. I learned about the importance of resilience.

I am now 55 years old, and I am cancer-free. I am grateful for my life. I am grateful for my family and friends. I am grateful for the support I received.

I want to share my story because I believe it can help others. I believe that early detection is key. I believe that support is important. I believe that resilience is crucial.

I want to encourage others to get screened, to get support, to fight for their health. I believe that we can beat this disease. I believe that we can live full and healthy lives.

I am a survivor, and I am proud. I am grateful. I am alive.
My liver is functioning normally again because I just lost four pounds. For my illness, pound-age means bad liver. And so does water retention. I'll never be skinny and Glimmer-like, even though I have to try to get the kind of treatment that keeps you svelte till the day you die.

Dear Friends.

June 8, 1987

Late last December, I was told my cancer had spread to my lungs. Despite my illness and the additional treatment for it, I have lived for 3 months and I have lived well. I married in New York and have just moved to San Francisco. It is important for me to have a healing circle of friends here. I am interested in going on a personal retreat, a week-end. For a small group of friends, for 16 people. I am interested in working on the arts, making wonderful healing art. We would like to make sculptures, and to work on making art for others. I am interested in working on literature, poetry, music, writing stories. At the end of January 29th. The next Emotional Support Group will meet here in order to talk about this relationship, to work on these issues.

I am also aware of coming into a new openness, a new vulnerability, a new willingness to accept new boundaries and boundaries that give the necessary division of terror from us, so that a person can take one step at a time. And then declare, outline the various, the larger, the greater and more precise symptoms of the disease, and feel more comfortable in my own skin. I am more comfortable being myself and feeling that I am allowed to be myself. And the sharing of each other’s pain and joy has made it possible for us to feel that we are more comfortable and less alone.

In May, I was told my cancer had spread to my lungs and I was told I had only 3 months to live. And then I was told that the cancer was gone and that the cancer was not there anymore.

Homecoming for the Quilt

A week before Christmas, the National Gay Quilt Fund held the world's first quilt show in Washington, sponsored and backed by the State Supreme Court. The court reviewed and argued on the constitutionality and applicability of the federal laws governing the sale of commemorative quilts, bringing to a head a long-warmed foreign to that normally serene environment.

On the morning of December 17, volunteers received the Quilt's 2,500 bolts of fabric from the sewing March of Washington. Number 1, 2, 3, 4,... for a total of 2,500 bolts. The Quilt's fabric doubled in the air as the volunteers began to push it through the machine. The Quilt's fabric doubled in the air as the volunteers began to push it through the machine. Week 1: What is Compulsion
Week 2: Is Compulsion Useful?
Week 3: How do you know when you have Compulsion?
Week 4: What are the warning signs of Compulsion?
Week 5: How does Compulsion affect us
Week 6: How does Compulsion affect other people?
Week 7: How can we handle Compulsion?
Week 8: How can we stop Compulsion?
Week 9: How can Compulsion be used for good?
Week 10: Review andWrapping up

The Search for Signs of Intelligent Life in the Universe

REVIEWED BY GENE PRICE

This is the final book in the first of my three part series on the subject of extraterrestrial life, and it will be followed by two more books on the subject. It has been held over at the Curran Theatre through March 31, 1988, and will be reviewed by Gene Price later this year.

In this final book, I explore the possibility that intelligent life exists in the universe. I will be using a variety of approaches to examine this question, including biology, physics, and chemistry. I will also be looking at the evidence for the existence of other intelligent species, and I will be discussing the implications of this evidence for our understanding of the universe.

The book will be released in three parts, with the first part focusing on the biological evidence for the existence of other intelligent species. The second part will focus on the physical evidence for other intelligent species, and the third part will focus on the chemical evidence for the existence of other intelligent species.

I hope that you will enjoy reading this book, and that it will provide you with a better understanding of the possibility that intelligent life exists in the universe. I look forward to hearing your thoughts on the book, and I hope that you will tell your friends about it.

Drama Desk and New York Drama Critics’ Circle Awards for the play, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle Award. An expanded, revised version has been held over at the Curran Theatre through Tuesday, May 2.

There is no new show that is most interesting, most revealing, most moving, most moving. The American woman in the better part of the 20th Century is the most self-appointed, self-conscious, self-control, self-realizing, self-conscious, self-realizing. What further irony that we are the women who have the most choice, the most freedom, the most opportunity. The women who have the most choice, the most freedom, the most opportunity. What further irony that we are the women who have the most choice, the most freedom, the most opportunity. What further irony that we are the women who have the most choice, the most freedom, the most opportunity. The Addams Family

REVIEWED BY GENE PRICE

Mr. and Mrs. Addams have a perfect marriage. They are happy and contented. They never argue or fight. They never even say anything to each other. They just sit there and listen to each other. It's all very romantic and wonderful.

But then, one day, Mr. Addams says to Mrs. Addams, "I think we should have a baby." Mrs. Addams says, "Yes, let's have a baby." So they go out and get a baby. It's a baby boy.

Mr. Addams says to Mrs. Addams, "Let's name him Wednesday." Mrs. Addams says, "Yes, let's name him Wednesday." So they name him Wednesday.

But then, one day, Mr. Addams says to Mrs. Addams, "I think we should have another baby." Mrs. Addams says, "Yes, let's have another baby." So they go out and get another baby. It's a baby girl.

Mr. Addams says to Mrs. Addams, "Let's name her Thursday." Mrs. Addams says, "Yes, let's name her Thursday." So they name her Thursday.

But then, one day, Mr. Addams says to Mrs. Addams, "I think we should have another baby." Mrs. Addams says, "Yes, let's have another baby." So they go out and get another baby. It's a baby boy.

Mr. Addams says to Mrs. Addams, "Let's name him Friday." Mrs. Addams says, "Yes, let's name him Friday." So they name him Friday.

But then, one day, Mr. Addams says to Mrs. Addams, "I think we should have another baby." Mrs. Addams says, "Yes, let's have another baby." So they go out and get another baby. It's a baby girl.

Mr. Addams says to Mrs. Addams, "Let's name her Saturday." Mrs. Addams says, "Yes, let's name her Saturday." So they name her Saturday.

But then, one day, Mr. Addams says to Mrs. Addams, "I think we should have another baby." Mrs. Addams says, "Yes, let's have another baby." So they go out and get another baby. It's a baby boy.

Mr. Addams says to Mrs. Addams, "Let's name him Sunday." Mrs. Addams says, "Yes, let's name him Sunday." So they name him Sunday.

But then, one day, Mr. Addams says to Mrs. Addams, "I think we should have another baby." Mrs. Addams says, "Yes, let's have another baby." So they go out and get another baby. It's a baby girl.

Mr. Addams says to Mrs. Addams, "Let's name her Monday." Mrs. Addams says, "Yes, let's name her Monday." So they name her Monday.

And so it goes. The Addams Family will have a total of 12 children. It's a lot of work, but they enjoy it. They love having all these little Addamses around.

And that, dear reader, is the story of the Addams Family. As you can see, it's a story filled with love, laughter, and lots of babies. It's a story that will warm your heart and make you smile. So sit back, relax, and enjoy the tale of the Addams Family.

The Music Hall on Lake Street is once again under new management. On December 15, the WRCR-FM concert series was opened, with pianist and composer Edward T. Jones, being the first of a series of concerts to be held on the stage. The program featured the premier of a new work by Jones, which was well received by the audience.

The opening night was a great success, and the audience was enthusiastic about the new direction of the series. The concert was well-staged, with the musicians performing with great skill and precision. The audience was captivated by the music, and the energy in the room was electric.

The concert series is a great opportunity for local musicians to showcase their talents and for the community to enjoy quality music performances. The WRCR-FM is to be commended for their efforts in bringing this series to the public. We look forward to future concerts in the series and encourage all to attend and support this great cultural event.

□ Blank Box $12.50
□ Blank Box $12.50 plus names and physical shape, moderately hairy to hairy, bitchy good knapsack. Massage, lowing, sale sex. I'm looking to make some money this weekend. I'm in my 20s, HIV negative, more to top.

In social settings, I'm really a sensitive, considerate, and appreciative who needs a lot of attention. I've been with married men in the past, and never had a relationship before. I'm interested in meeting someone new. I'm looking for someone who is open, honest, and genuine. I'm very active and athletic, and enjoy being in the outdoors. I'm looking for someone who is also active and enjoys the outdoors. I'm available most days and evenings.

Social Groups: Gay Interest. Trans. Also interested in meeting someone who is HIV negative, more to top.

"No matter who you are, you are someone for whom you are the perfect match."

What is ComQuest? ComQuest offers a different, inviting way for gay men to meet compatible friends. Instead of meeting face to face after finding a phone number from a classified ad or a blind date, you can call or write to someone you are interested in meeting by phone or mail and already match many of your preferences, including age, race, personal, lifestyle, physical attributes, interests, safe sex, and local residence. You will have a chance of talking to someone you may share a good deal about each other before committing to a meeting face to face. You can even exchange photos. We're not selective, so that you can find your best match among the thousands of gay men nationwide. We are found in over 1000 satisfied San Francisco Area Members!
