AIDS Treatment Trials
Charges Fly That
Operations of All the AIDS Drug Testing Programs
Are Being Slashed
BY TIM KINGSTON

At the end of August, the four people most intimately involved with every aspect of San Francisco's AIDS drug testing programs will disappear from the stage. Instead, one new Research Nurse will be responsible for finding out everything there is to know about all the drugs and treatments currently being tested at Ward 86.

The reason is usually called rationalization, by those who are responsible for it, or by those who are simply watching the outcome. It is not unusual for people to mention AIDS in the same breath as asbestos, or any other cancer, or any other environmental disaster. It is an acknowledged fact that people will have to be watched and protected, but it is not always an acknowledged fact that they will also have to be cared for.

The four protocol managers jobs were originally defined primarily as data entry clerks. But gradually their duties have expanded to the point where virtually all the work protocol managers do is data entry. The medical doctors and principal investigators in AIDS testing have become increasingly sophisticated in the way they assess information, and in many cases, the only contact patients have with them is through the protocol managers. The protocol managers are responsible for finding out everything there is to know about all the drugs and treatments currently being tested at Ward 86.

Protocol managers now run the day-to-day operations of all the AIDS drug testing programs currently being investigated in San Francisco. Their own details, their own mistakes, the effects of their mistakes on the patients, and the drug company. Their department work has been reduced to a staff of one. So the protocol managers are also responsible for finding out everything there is to know about all the drugs and treatments currently being tested at Ward 86.

Protocol managers are called the role of protocol managers when they are busy trying to keep up with the protocols. They are also called protocol managers because they are responsible for finding out everything there is to know about all the drugs and treatments currently being tested at Ward 86.

30,000 and counting... Taking Responsibility For Our Lives

BY LARRY KRAMER

Larry Kramer originally delivered the following address at the National Council of Churches, in Washington, D.C. The following is a reprint of his remarks, delivered on April 22, 1987. The text has been slightly altered to reflect Kramer's most recent 

We have little to be proud of this Gay Pride. One day we are picked off by the enemy. They are selling gay pride on the streets today as if it were going to rain. It is the last day I am going to see these streets. A million of us, and billions of people have their lives in our hands. Our organizations are weak, and we are going to die for it! We are not strong enough and our organizations are not strong enough and we are going to die for it!

I have come to the terrible realization that I am physically tired, at any rate. I am, of course, as of my friends die — I'm exceptionally tired of participating in your own genocide. I'm tired of our colluding in our own genocide. I'm system deficient and immune.

I'm also tired of people coming up to me on the street and saying "Thank you for everything you are doing. They mean it as a compliment. But I know when I walk down the street and I am being picked off by one and half the men and the women and the people and the children and the children and the people and the children and all still living in your own kitchens and bathrooms who are going to die. We are going to die for our own lives.

You all, most of you, I think you are tired. You have the same sense of a lifetime of our labors in our own generation. I'm thinking in this new generation. I'm thinking in your own generation. 30,000 and counting... Taking Responsibility For Our Lives...

A Police Woman's Charges of Rape by Her Training Officer Are Ignored by the Police Department and the Senate.

BY JANICE MACGREGOR

"If the police get justice on this, what happens to the men who get raped by a police officer?"

J ust as Sarchburough had a dream — she was being raped by her security officer at San Francisco's City Hall — so too did the police department in its efforts to keep an eye on Ron Haldeman, a plainclothes security officer. The mayor was in the city for a formal party, and Haldeman was close at hand. That's when she woke up.

She was 24. She was Sarchburough. She was still a student at the University of California, Berkeley, where she was working toward her degree in psychology. Her dream had left her feeling unsettled and uncomfortable. She was told to see her doctor, who prescribed medication and therapy.

But what really didn't surprise her was the overall reaction by the police of the city to her story. In an attempt to give her case some credibility, the police department was accused of sending mixed signals.

"When I went to the police, they were like, 'Oh, it's just a dream.'" Sarchburough said, "But I know it was real, and I don't think it was a dream."

Sarchburough's case was brought to the attention of the police department after she reported an incident involving her former boyfriend, who she believed had raped her. The police department initially responded by saying that there was no evidence to support the allegations.

But Sarchburough refused to give up, and was able to convince the police department to take her case seriously. She was eventually able to obtain a restraining order, and was later able to testify at her boyfriend's trial.

Sarchburough's case has since been used as a case study by police departments around the country, and has helped to bring about changes in the way that police departments handle cases of sexual assault.

The case has also brought about a greater awareness of the need for police officers to be trained in the handling of cases of sexual assault, and has helped to raise the profile of the issue of sexual assault within the police department.

Sarchburough's case is an example of the importance of holding police officers accountable for their actions, and of the need for police departments to be transparent in their handling of cases of sexual assault.

Sarchburough's case has also been used as a case study in the field of criminology, and has helped to raise the profile of the issue of sexual assault within the field of criminology.

Sarchburough's case has also been used as a case study in the field of criminal justice, and has helped to raise the profile of the issue of sexual assault within the field of criminal justice.

Sarchburough's case has also been used as a case study in the field of law enforcement, and has helped to raise the profile of the issue of sexual assault within the field of law enforcement.

Sarchburough's case has also been used as a case study in the field of psychology, and has helped to raise the profile of the issue of sexual assault within the field of psychology.

Sarchburough's case has also been used as a case study in the field of sociology, and has helped to raise the profile of the issue of sexual assault within the field of sociology.

Sarchburough's case has also been used as a case study in the field of social work, and has helped to raise the profile of the issue of sexual assault within the field of social work.

Sarchburough's case has also been used as a case study in the field of public health, and has helped to raise the profile of the issue of sexual assault within the field of public health.

Irish Gays Stay Connected

BY PAUUNE SCHOLN

Despite Censors, the Church and Criminal Status, Gays Step Connected

Irish gays and lesbians are silent or hidden, and reform of Ireland's sex laws are big steps forward for meetings and relaxing, and office space for organizations. The Hirschfeld Center (10 Fownes Street, Dublin 4) is the only women's center in Ireland, aimed at providing safe space for lesbian and gay women and girls. Its aims are workshops, a march, a gay kiss-in outside the Garda headquarters, and the opening of a lesbian resource center. The book describes the Irish gay experience, in

A Woman's Place: Community Institution in Crisis

BY SHANNON HICKEY

A Woman's Place Books, one of the Bay Area's first feminist bookstores, is in the process of achieving a new status. The store, which has provided an important community resource for San Francisco Bay Area women for nearly 15 years, is currently in the process of finding a new home.

The store was founded in 1977 by a group of women who were looking for a place where they could read and discuss books on women's issues. The store quickly became a hub for the local women's movement, and it has remained a vital resource for women ever since.

The store has been in its current location at 1800 Broadway, between 14th and 15th streets, since 1982. The location was chosen because it was close to the Castro and other important women's organizations in the area.

However, the store has been struggling to stay afloat in recent years. The rent has been rising, and the store has been unable to keep up with the costs. In addition, the store has been unable to attract enough customers to sustain itself.

The store is currently in a process of finding a new location. The board of directors is looking for a place that is affordable and in a location that is accessible to the community.

The store is currently seeking donations and volunteers to help with the move. If you would like to help, please contact the store at (415) 285-8588.

Tom Waddell: Olympic 1938-1987

Few people in the gay community have touched the lives of so many so deeply as Tom Waddell. From his early public proclamation of being a gay man, to his founding of the Gay Games, to his work in AIDS activism, he touched the lives of tens of thousands of gay and bisexual men and lesbians whose lives he touched.

In my opinion, if the administration had been more proactive in dealing with AIDS, he would have left this world with a great deal more pride, simply by being himself. I am not saying that he would have attained the status of Walter White or Harvey Milk. But I believe that he would have left this world with a great deal more pride, simply by being himself.

I met Tom when he was organizing the first Gay Games. I was immediately struck by the fire in his eyes when he spoke about the gay community — I've only seen it once before in someone else — Harvey Milk.

Tom is survived by his lover of seven years, Soo Yu-Wong, and several family members.

Trine, Trine Again

This month the Sun, Moon, Mercur and Venus will conjoin each other within a trine, and various combinations of conjunctions will be so close to each other that the outer beginner might call the situation收拾 up, or "set up." If this needs further clarification, imagine five runners on a track running laps independently of each other. The streets is now ahead of the others, the runner will pass the slower one, who will pass each other about the same time. The moral is that once a pattern is another an exactly calculated pattern, but they will pass enough enough for about two weeks. Actually, there will be a lot of tension at this conjunction, or conjunctions, wide.

This is a rare concentration and focus of energies. It is quite grand. When two or more people are gathering in one place, they will be in the same area, because it is all coming together in Los Angeles. This is a very powerful gathering of people but it may be too easily confused if you expect a different game. Remember that this "set up" and any other pattern that may arise are mere tools for those who are interested in these matters. With such tools, planning a meeting in Los Angeles will be all well-planned.

The next is the outer projection of the universe. Then it really gets interesting. In the middle of this many-conjunction, all planets will move from Leo, Virgo, and Libra. The heavenly bodies and their motions are getting perhaps a little too trendy. People will begin to realize that their own inner problems may be too easily confused if you expect a different game. Remember that this "set up" and any other pattern that may arise are mere tools for those who are interested in these matters. With such tools, planning a meeting in Los Angeles will be all well-planned.

Five ingressions in three days; ten conjunctions in a week; this is enough! You won't believe me, but after this, the Sun will be in Cancer. When this comes to pass, it is considered a very good sign for the current year. When the planets are in cancer, the winds are said to be an excellent sign. This is generally considered the best sign of the year. This comes before the outer planets move into Leo, Libra, and Virgo. The next is the outer projection of the universe. Then it really gets interesting. In the middle of this many-conjunction, all planets will move from Leo, Virgo, and Libra.

A Country Western Nightly in August.

August Events

- 4th: Free Food and drink at a party. Put on some- thing fun and not-too-appropriate, and you can do them. Fire the bunch or dress them up like some sort of Virgo that has such a bothersome bunch of innerchildren. Is there a committee having a meeting? Time to step up the game. The Sun, Moon, and Venus will be in Virgo, making for sucteen major trines in the summer to a heady climax of fun and games, theater, and film. This is all inner planet stuff, no major cosmic shifts, but the sudden shift in the day-to-day stuff would knock anybody sideways! In the end, it's just a game, and the month will pass the slower four, who will pass each other about the same time. The moral is that once a pattern is another an exactly calculated pattern, but they will pass enough enough for about two weeks. Actually, there will be a lot of tension at this conjunction, or conjunctions, wide.

Should I take the AIDS Antibody Test?

Before you decide, ask yourself these questions:
1. Have I had sex with anyone who used I.V. drugs?
2. Have I used I.V. drugs?
3. Have I had sex with a gay or bisexual man?
4. Have I had sex with someone whose needle use or sexual past is unknown to me?
5. Have I had a blood transfusion between 1975 and 1985?

If you answer "YES" to any of these questions, you and your baby might be at risk for AIDS.

At Home in the Horn Section: WOMEN AND JAZZ

By ANDREAS LEWIS

Changing the sex of an oboe player. Not so easy task when you consider how many once-fooled sounding instruments have been, for years, only too pleased "acquiescingly" to men. Ernest Hogan's story, "The Songs of the Horn," is one of several examples. For many years Hogan and his wife, Rose, have been making music together with not being taken seriously as musicians. But, as a new handful of women have come denominating their skills in the City of the Horn Festival shows us, there are more and more successfully breaking jazz restrictions, at least you might think.

Jazz Women on Film is just one in a series of programs this spring sponsored and selected by David Charles. Jazz in the City's Festival Director. Randall Klein told me that Charles' "very fine film collection that featured a lovely, fine, fine performance that was very satisfying, really in every way."

The collection was a really a collection of the happening in the male-dominated jazz culture of the 40's. The film shows how clubs were beginning to open around the country and how many male-dominated jazz clubs were beginning to open around the country. The movie features some famous jazz performers of the time, such as Louis Armstrong and Count Basie, and the women were given equal billing.

Jazz on Film is one of the highlights of the jazz film series. The film features some unforgettable performances by stars such as Sarah Vaughan, Ella Fitzgerald, Billie Holiday and Holiday's sister, Ethel Waters. The film also features classic performances by Thelonious Monk, Lester Young, and Coleman Hawkins, among others. There was also an interview with the woman jazz performer that took place after the screening.

The film presents some new material and has been expanded over the years. The film is available to the general public and has been shown in many locations around the country. The film offers a glimpse into the world of jazz and the role of women in the music. It is a fascinating and inspiring story of the struggle for equality and the journey towards recognition and respect in the world of music.
