We trust that you will all attend this event if you are in need. The Rev. Williams has opened a preliminary Church Celebration that same night for the education and edification of the poor persuasion.

We make it get better by putting the pressure on every imaginable charge there is, in an effort to make 1982 a better truly fine holiday season, and we'll be right in sending it again, with the National Days of Resistance following the Watergate scandals.

HOBOKEN, NJ — On November 14th, well over 2,500 people rallied to protest the criminal arson that has terrorized the low-income and poor of this eastern city. The arson has taken the lives of 13 Blacks and Latinos, many of them children, back in October of '81. Gathering in front of city hall along with the protesters was a group of residents demanding that his passage of the Vacancy Decontrol Law was directly responsible for these deaths and the loss of homes in dozens of other cases. When a group demanded that "Reagan, Cappiello Stop The War Against The Poor," and "Ana Mercado (a tenant organizer killed in the recent fire) People's Fighter," and "The People United Will Never Be Defeated." Over nine thousand signatures were presented on petitions demanding that the Vacancy Decontrol Ordinance be vacated now. Currently the laws would give a person little more than five to ten years, and make Arson For Profit a felony with a maximum of 20 years in jail, and life imprisonment mandatory if there is a death as a result of arson. Currently the laws would give a person little more than five to ten years.

One group has lobbied that all insurance monies be held in a trust bank account and the banks to be watched by tenants and tenant organizers. The state PUC has been given the responsibility of finding who started the fires and making sure that the insurance company is held responsible. Students have been resisting the right of landlords to charge out of the $57,000 a year jobs, is continuing to try and kill off the Governor Jerry Brown's Public Utilities Commission, which he appointed at the behest of the PUC.

The people have demanded of the PUC and Jerry Brown that they be given a hearing and the State PUC to hold down the state to try and influence the State PUC to hold down the poor, the low-income, and now even the middle-income.

Gays finest hour
1981 Show
at U.S.V.A. Hospital
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Dec. 16 — Last night, in this city, it had to be the "Gay's finest hour," as one staff member, straight, said. He had viewed the 10th Annual Gay USO Variety Show at the Fort Miley Hospital, United States Veterans Administration Medical Center.

The show was held in the Recreation Hall, and was viewed by all the patients in the hospital by the closed circuit television system, and it was also video taped by the V.A.

This year's show "Black & White Christmas" was comprised of the finest female impersonators: the city of San Francisco has ever seen, in addition to a magician. The show was co-ordinated by Tyrone Turner ("Mai Ty") owner of Discount Books, and was produced by the Christ Chapel (Orthodox Episcopal Church of God) and was emceed for the first time ever, by the Rev. Ray Broshars.

Jerry Roy Salter, a magician has been coming out to the annual Christmas show for the entire ten years in one capacity or another as has Rev. Broshars. And his magic acts enthralled the audience. Miss Connie, a candidate for Empress de San Francisco, was one of the many spectacular performers who had the audience applauding along with her as she danced and mimicked to the hit record "What A Fool Believes," and "I Think About You.

Marvin Nolan, better known in entertainment circles as the male version of Dolly Parton, "Mr. Dolli," was a great hit also with his mannerisms, "Apple Jack," "Higher Higher," and "I Really Get The Feelin'."

Roy Salter, who performed there in 1977 in his first San Francisco appearance, waved with them of "It Must Be Magic," "You Set My Love In Motion," and a couple of excellent Christmas numbers at the end. Bobby Bell, making his first appearance ever in such an event, waved to the audience with his self-made costumes, and very chic 40s hairdo mimicking to "The Way of Love," "Take Me Home," "Blue Moon," in which he enthralled the older patients doing this great great Jane Froman number, as well as with "Embracable You." He closed out with a couple of Christmas numbers, "I Won't Decorate Your Christmas Tree," and "Sift of the Blues."

The talent coordinator, Mai Ty, impressed the crowd this time out with his amusing costumes, especially the black feather job, doing, "You and Me," and "We Tears," which was a stopper.

There were several gay patients present and they really let it be known just how much they appreciated the hard work and talent of this great group of performers.

The Rev. Ray Broshars said that "This was the finest group that I have ever worked with. They were right on with the acts, they were all warm and knew what Christmas was all about, and really gave their finest performance ever. Out bliss each and everyone of them real good, but they are we what we should be all about all of the time. Caring and kind humanbeings."

The hospital Director, Dr. Foye, invited the troupe to return again next year, and commended them for the ten years of service to the hospitalized veterans.

Recreation Therapist, Ms. Leslie Becksman and Volunteer director, Ms. Peggy Lucas, both agreed with Dr. Foye and said they look forward to another ten years of the Gay USO variety shows. And, the Reverend Roy said that the troupe would be back next year, and in spite of some difficulties in getting the show going on time this year, that he would indeed be back next year and hoped that Mai Ty and the others would return with him.

At the same time, the Reverend announced that the Gay USO troupe would be back for next year, and that he would indeed be back next year and hoped that Mai Ty and the others would return with him.

The show was held in the Recreation Hall, and was viewed by all the patients in the hospital by the closed circuit television system, and it was also video taped by the V.A.

At the same time, the Reverend announced that the Gay USO troupe would be back for the next year, and that he would indeed be back next year and hoped that Mai Ty and the others would return with him.

A special thank you to Tom Jennel, Mark and Paul of Trondson Sound and to Trondson Sound, for the excellent sound and the lighting as well. It all made for the very finest Gay USO show ever presented at the Hospital.

Candy cames were handed out to all the patients by the performers after the show. There was a fundraiser to buy gifts for the show, but the bar having this event, allowed their bartender to give the funds to something else. We applaud to those who worked on this event and to the people who bought the cames.

There will be more on this later on in the next issue of this paper.

The San Francisco Ballet's annual classic, The Nutcracker (call 421-3838 for info) has all the charm, pizazz, and beauty of a Dickensian Christmas plus the magic of a child's dream come true. The dancing is superb and the sets awe-inspiring, especially the Christmas tree that grows and grows on stage, the costumes, sumptuous and memorable plus Tchaikovsky's great music. All add up to an evening of pure enchantment. Goose, who suddenly produces eight little red-devils from under her skirt, and Andre Reyes thunderingly acrobatic as Chinese Tea. And then there is young Patrick Murphy, personifying "Dad's bad boy" the mischievous two-year-old who steals the first act with his overwhealing high spirits in the party scene. Sometimes the greatest sounding idea fails to achieve its promise and such is the case with: "Nineteen," a former Off Broadway at the Warfield. The idea of setting a ballet of Tchaikovsky's on ice in a theatre sounds great, but in actually even a large theatre stage is inhibitingly small for the skaters to use large scale. Poor Dorothy Bannell, a former Olympic Gold Medal winner and star of the Ice Capades, exudes grace and charm in the skating department but is soporifically dull as Clara, a role she has been playing patiently on stage, looking comically ill at ease, as do most of the other skaters. Excepting the magic of Raymond Pickens' brilliant solo and the inherent reproach "Beauty and the Beast" when brothers and sisters each sing a verse of a poignant memory of growing up, the dancing lively, especially Raymond Pickens' Isabella and the inherent reproach. Of special note is Michael Warner's wonderful five room set that makes exceptional the idea and material are four star, but, director F. Allen Sawyer has paced the show too frenetically; the kernel of a blockbuster is there but this a true hit are present. The idea and material are four star, but, director F. "HEINS" Spectacular! After those two words what can you say other than, this three and one-half hour motion picture is one of the finest to be turned out in the U.S. in many many years.

The film seems to be more than one, of the most dramatic periods in history since the industrial revolution and the birth of Christ Jesus.

Dianne Keaton is an actress actress. She is magnificent, stiff, flawed so utterly real. And this role portraying one of the more controversial people of her era, is flawless as well, capturing Louise Bryant totally.

New York Men...it has several things going for it. One of them is an attractive cast headed up by Scorpio (of the huge meat), Lee Marlin, J.D.
Slater, and the dynamic Eric Ryan. Another thing, is that the film is a total turn-on because of the amount of action, action and more action poured into this erotic fuck-film. The

The color, I have to come back to the color. It is simply fine, and the cine­
