PARADE ROUTE

(SEE PAGE 8)
From north and south and east and west there is expected to be a large influx of people from the homophile community who will converge on Miami, Florida July 10 for the opening of the Democratic National Convention.

Security will be exceptionally tight and room accommodations in Miami are at this point almost impossible to obtain.

There appears to be no specific plans for what gays will do once in Miami, but hopefully their presence may indicate to the delegates and those in attendance that the time is long past when the gay population of this country can be ignored and discriminated against in almost every area of life.

The eyes of the nation and indeed the world will be on Miami during the convention period with news coverage in every media. Let each of us who are in Miami resolve to obey the law and keep individual conduct above reproach. Each of you are a reflection of and on the gay community -- make the reflections worthy of our humanity and our cause.

Tradition calls for a red wine with a steak if that is what you want. And, if you like your wine warmer, such as when drinking soups, chill it. I would suggest, though, that if you are holding a dinner party that you serve the wine with a chill and serve a red with fish and poultry, or check with your guests ahead of time to make sure they like the red wine with chicken as is served with them. If you are going to a restaurant, and will be served by the bolder taste of m eats arid.

COLLECTIBLES

By G.T.

The range of "collectibles" is usually limited and the full-time collector is usually guided by interests outside his or her immediate environment. Some people collect as a hobby, while others collect as a business. All are of course aimed at making a profit, and many of them are mathematical, statistical, and scientific in nature.

A practical approach to buying antique amories while living in a studio would be about as practical as having another gun while living in the same house. However, as there are plenty of collectibles in vary­ing degrees of prices that take very little space.

Some other collectibles not requiring much space that can be put to good use as a hobby include stamps, coins, dried flowers, and dried fruits. A few other collectibles that require little space can be put to good use as a hobby include stamps, coins, dried flowers, and dried fruits.

Each district American sash and mural heads might be considered and carefully collected to some extent. A good way to start is by asking friends or family members if they know of any collectibles in your area.

As you put into collecting any of the items described above, be aware that your collection may be worth more than you ever imagined.
