GAY FREEDOM DAY PARADE '73

A meeting to discuss the routes and plans for the Gay Freedom Day Parade '73 will be held on Monday afternoon, Feb 26th at 3 PM, at the HELPING HANDS COMMUNITY CENTER, 225 Turk St, in the heart of the Tenderloin.

GAY FREEDOM DAY PARADE committee coordinator, Rev. One being the same as last year, which were awarded by a prestigious group of judges headed by lovely Empress Maxine VIII, swinging to the music of the oaks.

The SIR Center's Valentine Special with police officials and other city agencies necessary to bringing off the parade, has related the two routes open to the committee. One being the same as last year, which were awarded by a prestigious group of judges headed by lovely Empress Maxine VIII, swinging to the music of the oaks.

After a press conference, refreshments were served to the many visitors. Attending the opening was the Pennsylvania's Bank, Kimo. One elderly lady asked if Perry, wearing a brown jump-suit, was a policeman. She said she felt like those worn by deputy sheriffs in her home county. Perry a cop? Really! That would be too far out.

Also present was Eddie Van, Don Colling, Gerald Hansen, Advocate reporter who covers Gay Alliance activities. Dick Jay, Kalendar editor and surplus of all surprises, former Advocate owner, Steve Ginsberg. The Center is open daily from 3 PM till 11 PM. Phone numbers are 771-3366 and 474-9959.

This can be very helpful in getting the Brown-Benton Constitutional Sex Bill passed, in that he will have considerably more political clout due to the position. At the same convention during which John Burton was elected, the various Democratic contenders for the Governor's job were on hand, including San Francisco State Senator George Moscone, another friend.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE?

Those who attend SIR's 1st Annual presentation banquet may receive an extremely significant first glimpse of the Gay Freedom Day parade, which John Burton was elected, the various Democratic contenders for the Governor's job were on hand, including San Francisco State Senator George Moscone, another friend.

The alterations are about done for the 1st color picture for a day. If you haven't got it, run, don't walk, to the Green's, or better yet, to the country's newest star, about which you'll be in for a treat.

Feb. 7th, at COTTON STREET, a party was given in honor of Mr. Lou Goffman for his many years of service to the city. This fun place was presided over by Mayor Bill Plath, who presented Mr. Goffman, a member of the San Francisco Ballet, a plaque in recognition of his service to the city. The party was attended by many of the city's most prominent personalities, and the atmosphere was festive and lively.

One of the best things to happen recently, Dr. That's on the other side of the Rainbow, suddenly appeared to them (and the Rainbow) as well. And it's wonderful to see him, because he's so... well, colorful.

Excited addition here: Bethel MIssionary Church in ROLLING DOWNS. Bethel Mission- ary's beautiful location is to be found all over the rainbow too, KOLY is a KOLY's favorite, you'll see Wally's front door.

Good luck to everyone here on the Rainbow, Janis, honey, heavy lacies and a decided dedication of creepy crawlers. I'll be seeing you all very soon.

Well, Tina, are things back to normal? We cam up with the names of all the people that were at the party at La Playa. Bill Billings, was in LA this week, and is back in town now. Bill is the TALYMAN, which is simply a good name for a good man. We ca know where he's at.

Facial hair only is making a deep comeback and is exciting, but it's b campuses, why not a Churchill?... or a sheep's head, or a jayhawk's head, or a butcher's head, or a gopher's head... we could have a whole new look for the film, these you're seen it!

There is the good-looking guy you'll probably encounter tomorrow on the LEVEL STREET. His name is Brad, and he's... good, good hair, and a handsome man. People... what more can we say? He's a very good-looking guy, and he's very interesting. We ca know where he's at.

We ca know where he's at.

Good night to everyone involved.

Several precautions can be followed to prevent damage to indoor plants. The first is to cut off any wilted and dead leaves. Use a sharp knife to cut as close to the base as possible to prevent disease from spreading. Never allow water to puddle at the base of the plant, as this can cause root rot. Keep the soil moist, but not soggy. A second precaution is to avoid placing new plants near older ones that are already infested with pests. Zone plants frequently and remove any dead leaves. Avoid placing new plants next to these older ones; this may help prevent the transfer of pests or diseases.

Indoor plants can also be affected by certain conditions (warmth, moisture) they require. To prevent damage, ensure that the growing conditions are not too harsh for the plant. For example, never place a plant in direct sunlight if it requires shade. Also, ensure that the soil is well-draining and that the plant has adequate ventilation.

Although indoor plants are less likely to be damaged by pests and diseases than outdoor plants, there are some pests that can thrive indoors. Plants can attract aphids, mites, and thrips, which can thrive in warm, moist conditions. To prevent damage, use clean pots and sterilized soil when planting new plants. If you notice any signs of pest or disease damage, such as discoloration or unusual growth patterns, take action immediately to correct the problem. The problem should disappear if corrected.

Sometimes intense sun creates spots on leaves, and leaves may be a sign of underwatering. These are signs that may indicate problems with your plant, and you should take appropriate action to correct them. In my next column, I will discuss how to correct these issues and improve the health of your indoor plants.
