An Interview with Steve

There must be a story behind a body like that, one thinks. Steve says his current interest in a "healthy" body results from an attack of sugar diabetes two years ago. He was traveling in Central America and didn't realize what the problem was until he was nearly a corpse.

Since then Steve has taken a special interest in maintaining a healthy body. This includes daily workouts at Apollo's Temple of Body Building. One day he works on the upper muscles—arms, chest, etc.—and on alternate days he works on the lower muscles.

But there is more story. Steve has shaped his body into a state of harmonious idealism. He believes this includes a harmonious relation between the mind and the body with the higher self or spirit. He believes man can either work together in harmony or cause problems in discord... In creating a harmonious relation between these different aspects of one being, Steve believes he is participating in evolution.

GAY POWER? It was the best anyway. I do hope it will be City. It covered every phase in rebroadcast throughout the gay bars last week—this time even Land's End was in there. Channel 5 Friday night called the CABARET. Nothing very all went well over the holiday. Did you see that special on KALENDAR's COVER BOY. With Pearl. This past Friday I stopped into KALENDAR'S COVER BOY. It was the best. Everything was just right. The people were pleasant and the atmosphere was good. I think this is beginning to live up to its name. There was another fire in our home (delivery). It's about time because there's a line of people who have been waiting for weeks. There are plenty of room and lots of good vibes and a great sound. It's easy to start something, but not to keep it going. I wish you would come and see, hear or have done in your life. It's fun. I'm sure they would love you. The good part is that if you're lucky you'll have a chance to see it. The gay movement is the only one that is really taking off. We need to know that there's a lot of support for the gay movement.

The supporting roles were ideally cast. Judith Rags in Adele proved herself again to have a lovely voice. She was a voluptuous figure and fine skater as so accent. As the aging Russian traitor Pagano Lifting constantly drew sighs to be buried with his facial expressions. He was a splendid role of Prince Orlofki came off more like a gaunt skater.

Conductor Richard Bonynge, ever the perfect accompanist, allowed every opportunity for the opera to express the social delights of Strauss's music. The familiar overture and lengthy ballet sequence further revealed Mr. Bonynge's talents as a capable impresario. It is a pity that Mr. Bonynge is not more frequently associated with opera. His contribution to the production was invaluable.
