INTERVIEW WITH MARK CALHOUN

by Davidlee Rinker

"Jesus, what a rhythm. My life in the past four months has accelerated to the speed of three times the normal day."

"I'm a big tidal wave all the time. I don't stop."

"For the first time in my life I realize the need for a house boy—someone to help me clean this house and keep my fantasy reality, of dreams."

"It's a challenge, that's for sure."

"My life is a private party to finance the remodeling of the waterfront facility by January 12, when its option-to-buy runs out, the "Embarcadero Bay Club" will become a reality, catering to straights and "discreet" gays. Whether the club will become a reality or not is in doubt, but there are investors who are immediately interested."

The New School of Social Research in New York is offering a non-credit course in pornography. The six week course will include the world's first erotic puppet show, screenings of segments of famous porno movies, a lecture of video-free pornography, a topless calliope performance, and a special evening of rock music with a group called "The Harlots of 42nd Street."

The Embarcadero Y, M.C.A. may one day be in operation as an elaborate health and residence club. If interested officers can convince another institution or private party to finance the remodeling of the waterfront facility by January 12, when its option-to-buy runs out, the "Embarcadero Bay Club" will become a reality, catering to straights and "discreet" gays. Whether the club will become a reality or not is in doubt, but there are investors who are immediately interested.

Pacific Crows Corporation, one of the nation's largest distributors of wine and liquor, based in San Francisco, hired Perry George as a salesman because he is homosexual!

Brian Wilson, George's supervisor, explains that the firm was not doing well with its gay accounts and they thought an openly gay person would help. Is the firm pleased with George's performance? "Yes," says Wilson. "He does a fantastic job, and we are pleased with him."

Join Hands, a trans-bay gay men's prison support group, needs gay men who would like to write to a gay brother in prison. Our work here is mainly composed of setting up correspondence between gay men inside of prisons and those of us "outside."

Right now, the number of prison letters we have, far outnumbers the number of names we receive from people who want to write gay prisoners. Gay Prisoners desperately need our support. Although all prisoners suffer many inequities, gay prisoners in particular are doubly oppressed because of their sexuality.

Please write us for a prisoner's name.

Our address is: Join Hands, P. O. Box 42242, S. F. Ca, 94142.

While Mark is telling me this story in answer to my question about his being aggressive he also tells me something unrelated to his "getting ahead in the world."

"I'd get in that brand new van going to the flower business without anything about it. I had to learn fast," he says.

Within a year he was an excellent florist with a thriving business.

Dr. Harvey White, a leading British surgeon, has advised couples to remove false teeth before making love, stating that violent exercise can cause people to swallow them. They then become impacted in the larynx. To be removed requires a delicate surgical operation.

The place: Golden Gate Gay Liberation House. The time: 11 a.m. on the first Sunday of the month. The event: The monthly open house for the Liberation House. Alan is a former Liberation House resident, and he is concerned about what is happening at the House. Alan is not a member of the Gay Liberation Movement, but he feels that the House should be open to everyone, including non-members.

The open house takes place in the main room of the House. There are about 50 people in attendance, including several members of the Gay Liberation Movement. Alan is not a member of the Movement, but he feels that the House should be open to everyone, including non-members.

The Gay Liberation Movement is a radical political group that was formed in the United States in the late 1960s. The Movement was involved in the struggle for gay rights and other social justice issues. The Movement was also involved in the anti-Vietnam War movement.

The Gay Liberation Movement was often associated with radical protests, including the Stonewall Riot in New York City in 1969. The Movement was also associated with the development of the Gay Liberation Front, which was a more radical group that was formed in the late 1960s.

The Gay Liberation Movement was also involved in the development of the Gay Liberation Front, which was a more radical group that was formed in the late 1960s. The Gay Liberation Front was known for its radical tactics, including the use of violent protests and illegal actions.

PETER GRIMES

San Francisco Opera's new production of Benjamin Britten's PETER GRIMES has taken place in a lovely setting and the cast is uniformly excellent. The result is an enjoyable production that is well worth seeing. The setting is reminiscent of a foggy day in the seaport town of Grimsby. The costumes are typical of the period and the voices of the performers are all excellent. The singing is particularly impressive, with Ms. Schwarzkopf's portrayal of the Marschallin being especially notable. The rest of the cast is uniformly excellent and the opera was well-paced. Overall, this is a fine production of a classic opera that should not be missed.
He laughs and reaches for a cigarette.

As he takes the first hit of it, a little voice in his head says, "Don't do that. He'll like to be successful in his business, of course, and one day he'd like to build his own house in the woods somewhere. One day, maybe.

"It's not that he doesn't care, but he doesn't know whether to start. His mom is big enough, isn't she?"

Mark wipes his face and repeats, "Yeah, I know."

"I need to get a job, you know, to do something constructive, and get off on it. Make it fun!" he says.

He picks up the newspaper and puts it aside.

"I don't like to get strung out on all that negative bullshit, but I feel like I'm running things like WATERGATE."

Shaking himself back and forth, he says, "I've made an issue with myself to get home at least once a day and have coffee his room mate Jim offers."

"I've made an issue with myself to see Jim because I need the communication to keep the house in order, and Jim stays to talk awhile and I think about him."

"I've made an issue with myself to learn that he is about to hang the reproduction of an owl for me."

"I've made an issue with myself to meditate or try to as much as I can... Sometimes I just let things happen."

"I've made an issue with myself to quietness in which I ask for the things around me. What he says goes on. "You need to have your declaration of hunger. We finish eating."

"I've made an issue with myself to say something, but I stop in the middle."

"I'm constantly learning..." he says.

In an unexpected turn, Diane Feinstein was a clear winner in the closely contested race for Gay endorsements. With 118,000 votes, she received the second most powerful political post in the City, the presidency of the Board of Supervisors, which is the second most powerful political post in the City.

Feinstein's victory is significant for several reasons. First, it demonstrates erosion of the power of the antigay community in our city. This year, our community raised more money for her campaign than we can come up with both. Two things win campaigns; votes and money; we now have proved this.

What a time. It was my first one, but I'll tell you it won't be my last one. Now I really know what to expect as just wait and watch me next year.

Thank you, Dixon, for all the work you did the ball on. That was a great job, no doubt about it.

Remember the consumption of the Empire Building's walls and ceilings is no longer expected.

Enjoy the Rainbow Ball. You really did it well. It was a lot of fun, I would like to give you a big hand. The Empire Building was transformed into a grand ballroom.

Well, this winter we're really going to have something to look forward to. A football team, that's right. A football game between the University of California and the University of Southern California.

The Headliners band really did a good job on the night of the ball. The headliners and all. Can you just picture it? Now I am sure. Also, with the football band after the game, Montclair Heights. What details in my, and coarse.

Remember the C. M. C. Carnival is going to have something to look forward to. A football team. That's right, a football game between our любиме и the University of Southern California.

The Empire Building was transformed into a grand ballroom. Many people prefer to do the exercise with the palms facing up as the bicep, and lateral muscles of the body are working. One of the exercises, of course, is that the entire body weight is received maximum benefit of the advantage for the best position in moving andy and the body.

Grampa had made that much of a connection to Grandma's suddenly. He didn't have to sit over a plate of freshly fried chicken or all those other delicious dishes to get his spirits up. He didn't even have to get out of bed to get his spirits up.

"I'm just glad I'm home," he said. "Home is where the heart is." And so he was.

Chapter 6

Peter Hawks, a sophisticated San Franciscan, has returned to the Castro area, but he's not the same person he used to be. Since his life in the city, however, and his exposure to the baths and other nude beaches along the coast, Peter no longer felt awkward and embarrassed around nude people. Even his dad, Judd. Reticence about nudity in the open kept Peter away from the Castro area, but it seems there was nothing to be afraid of.

On a warm spring night, Peter Hawks was walking down Castro Street when he saw a figure coming out of the Funny Hill. It was Robbi Moses of the Funny Hill. I know that's what they call him. Robbi Moses. He's heaven to know and heaven to have Robbi Moses.

Peter Hawks, a person who had been a stranger to the Castro area, now knew Robbi Moses. And he knew he was going to have Robbi Moses.

"Hey," Peter said. "What's all this joy and energy so early in the morning?"

"It just felt good," she said, "like praising God for bringing you back to us."

"Yes," Peter said, releasing Adam's hand and leaning to retrieve his towel. "Like praising God for bringing you back to us."

"I know. Mrs. Hawks talks about you all the time. Mr. Hawks, too. She said, putting a frail hand on his shoulder, "but I've been hoping this would happen."

"Oh, I just sing because I want to," she said. "Because it feels good."

"Yes," Grandma added. "We never dreamed we would be able to get people of our own faith. They're a real inspiration at the church, you know."

"The church?" Peter asked, fumbling with his fists in the bucket. "We heard them, too," Gramps said. "Most nights in the garden."

"Yes," Grandma said. "We never dreamed we would be able to get people of our own faith. They're a real inspiration at the church, you know."

"Guess who was seen working behind the bar stools and getting their beauties washed? Peter asked, fumbling with his fists in the bucket. "I see why it be. Lots of chilled water, plain cokes, no sugar or whatever you nippers have and It was a very beautiful night settle."

"Yes," Peter said, sitting down at the bar and ordering a drink. "Thank god, I don't drink . . . ."

"By dam'k," Peter said. "We have a new position?"

"Sally of the Toad Hall. Is she looking for a new position?"

"Sally," Peter said, sipping on his beer as he watched the boys' egos bounce and thrust moving toward the pumps. "Cookley Peter put the towel over his mountain and headed for the church. This was going to be different from his other times, by far. It was going to be rare.
