A spectacular flash of light that was seen from at least four states lit up the Western sky this week. It was believed to be a meteor entering the earth's atmosphere.

A spokesman at the Griffith Planetarium Observatory here in California, said he had received a dozen calls placing the meteor south of Santa Barbara, north of Los Angeles and inland, probably over central Nevada.

The American-sponsored ban on opium poppy farming introduced two years ago.

An official announcement said a resumption of private poppy cultivation would be permitted in seven different areas -- but under strict controls designed to stop opium reaching smuggling rings.

Willful murders have increased in California since a new death penalty law was put on the books January 1, but it's too early to draw conclusions, a state criminal analyst said this week.

Willful homicides increased by 19 during the first three months this year compared with the total for the same period one year ago, said R. P. Narloch, a state Department of Justice crime analyst.

The vanguard of 20,000 Lions Club members from around the world were on the prowl this week in San Francisco -- some busy collecting Lions Club pins, and collecting votes, that they scarcely got out of Brooks Hall to see the city.

The door of the HOPPERS House studio opens and I step out onto Ocean Avenue and cross to the walk which borders the beach. A red canvas bag which belonged to my mother is slung over my shoulder. It seems to me that a new kind of excitement is in the air. I feel something. I do not look at them as I pass. I see the edges of Land's End. It is a morning of wild surf which borders the beach which is my country boyhood. I feel eleven years old again. To my left is the water and real black and further up the coast I see the edges of Land's End. It is a morning of wild surf which borders the beach which is my country boyhood. I feel eleven years old again. To my left is the water and real black and further up the coast I see the edges of Land's End. It is a morning of wild surf which borders the beach which is my country boyhood. I feel eleven years old again. To my left is the water and real black and further up the coast I see the edges of Land's End. I turn inward and lift all I can gather of free-form knarled sculptures. Oh blessed, holy ball of fire, I will purify this penetrating light. I will purify. I will purify. I will purify. I will purify. I will purify.

The chant follows me up Ocean Avenue toward the Cliff House. It is not running. It is just in.毛发yly, not coast. There's a calm, a calm. No one's wondering what the boys are thinking, what tonight is they have seen and of themselves.

The chant fades.

I stop at the entrance to the Ocean Boulevard. I see the sign. It is a morning of wild surf which borders the beach which is my country boyhood. I feel eleven years old again.

Bikers Move Out

KALENDAR'S new B reliance Club, the Bicyclists have started with a roaring success.

The unique thing about the club is that you do not have to register, you just appear at the rendezvous point for each trip with a bicycle. A club fee of $1.00 and a pledge of $1.00 per month is made to the club. The club is 100% san francisco.

*These activities will include oversize snags, attach bicycle saddles, and small preview articles. We will call other bicycle groups - Mike 642-230, Joe 22-62, and KALENDAR with a bicycle. (We engage in 4 packs.)

Next Trips

Bumono's Floating Restaurant

In the early days of San Francisco, which was then called Yerba Buena, an Italian named Bazzuro, who toiled out beyond the Farallones, started his restaurant on board the ship a restaurant which immediately attracted attention and was soon the greatest establishment of fish come in. Here Paladini, the owner of a small sailboat to be used as a restaurant, several times the day's gathering of gardeners drove their great wagons into the restaurant and have it prepared to orders.

Overcoming round shoulders will require constant effort on your part to watch your posture, and whenever you find yourself slouching, always remember to keep your chest up and shoulders back position. This is one exercise you should be doing several times a day, especially when you find yourself slouching, stiff leg deadlifts. And don't forget - just be more conscious of your posture and in time, you will improve your appearance tremendously.
