GAY RAP

SAN FRANCISCO GAY RAP MOVES ON

San Francisco, Gay Rap announces a new home and a new meeting time, The Rap will happen every Thursday at 5:00 PM sharp at 121 Leavenworth Street, San Francisco.

Gay Rap, A Bay Area institution of long standing, is another alternative for gay persons to come together in a relaxed and loving atmosphere. We'd like to have as many gay persons as possible drop in on us on Tuesday nights. Here is a place where you can meet new friends, make lasting relationships, relax, share and care. It happens like this; we let you do what you want and be what you are through small group raps, some sensitivity games, playing some kids' games, general socializing. It's a no-push atmosphere.

If you want some more information call the SF Men's Switchboard at 922-5247.

"Maybe we should try it this time with your clothes on."

"Hey, I'll do it this way," said Stanley in a matter-of-fact tone.

"I've noticed," said Bert,

"you always seem to have the correct combination of potato and beer."

"Well, you know what," said Stanley, "it's all part of that whole relationship between Berto, B contracross, and David."

THE SAGA OF THE POODLE DOG

"Hanging out with so many, and the place closed of former days. Prohibition took its toll on the restaurant, as it did to every other eating place in the neighborhood. Although it was with the original Poodle Dog, to be seen and wined and dined there by their "fellows". Indeed, if a registry had been kept, the names of those who frequented the Poodle Dog might have been filled with the names of persons of questionable character who were members of the famous Poodle Dog."

"The Poodle Dog moved to larger and more fashionable quarters at Stockton and Market, which he called the Poodle Dog. The Poodle Dog was known for its good things of life to repay them for their frontier hardships. In 1868 the doors were opened at the Poodle Dog. Here there was no question of the restaurant's French name. Poulet Creole, and it also specialized in the good things of life to repay them."
