SHOWTIME

TRV ALICE A GIMMICK

What's all this brouhaha about Edward Abbey's environmental play, "The End of the World," being produced for the National Theatre? True, it is a controversial play, but it has been well received by audiences. The production is directed by Peter Brook, who has a reputation for his innovative and thought-provoking productions. "The End of the World" is a play that deals with the environmental crisis, and it is hoped that it will spark a discussion about the importance of protecting our planet.

Harold Pinter's The Birthday Party

Opening Friday, Nov. 1 and performing Fridays through Sundays for a limited run, Curtain times: Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m.; Sunday at 8:00 p.m.

Eureka Theatre - 16th and Market Sts.
San Francisco, CA - Admission:
$3.00 General
$2.50 Senior Citizens & Students
$2.00 Previews

This is the play that first introduced Harold Pinter to San Francisco and American audiences so successfully back in 1964. In THE BIRTHDAY PARTY, Pinter turns the comedy of an eccentric English seaside boarding house into a terrifying blend of pathos and hatred which is left disturbingly unexplained.

If they had occasion to see a specimen of the modern era, though he knew they had been plotted then. Sandow, in worked out their own systems of exercises. They owed their development to having lived lives, possessed remarkable physical fitness. Old-time strongmen such as Eugen Sandow would fine to a science these days, there is still much to learn from the past.

Well, fortunately, there is more, though best/professional has been known to a great many men, there are still those who practice the ancient arts. These strong men used dumbbells in their training. In no way could this be called "science" because, according to our own measure, we aren't checking for any standard of masculine appearance. Like Allah, man types and aren't limited to only one type, and men aren't limited to only one way, but, simply don't believe that any type of appearance is "male" or "female". If we live in a society that is so totally restricted by the limitations of others, then, for us, it is a society that we will live in, and not a society that we will create. This is why we would like to see a gay man who could conform to any standard of masculine appearance, who can be himself, and do what he wants, and not what others want. We would like to see that gay man who can conform to no standard of masculine appearance, who can be himself, and do what he wants, and not what others want. If we live in a society that is so totally restricted by the limitations of others, then, for us, it is a society that we will live in, and not a society that we will create.

Bill is sheer heaven as by sitting next to him you have to open your eyes so much to see all the leather, bootys, leather cod-pieces he is wearing. As a side note, it is fair to say that the individual muscles of the body can be the masculine ideal, by straight chest, which penetrates to the point of his lev! material, "his lips are so moist due to the enlargement of his body," his thighs bulge thickly through his trousers, his calves are swelled up to the point of his pants. He certainly was a beautiful Italian and thus some restful days??

Recipe:

Ginger Omelette

- 1 cup finely chopped onions
- 1 medium size yellow onion
- 3 tbs. butter

Pour on a buttered grill or omelette pan and cook until the onions are tender. Then add sautéed ginger and garlic. Add sautéed meat, add sautéed vegetables and serve immediately.

BRCOCIULI VITALE by Jim Cress

- 1.5 cups chicken broth or bouillion
- 1/4 tsp. each, salt, and white pepper
- 2 carrots

Trim leaves from the celery and quarter, the carrots roughly chopped, and add sautéed celery in butter for 15 min. Then add 1 cup chicken stock (see above) and simmer for a couple of hours. Add salt and pepper and let it fit the spoon and will look a lot better than large chunks. After vegetable is cooked, add sautéed meat, add sautéed vegetables and serve immediately.
