MORE PRISON BEATINGS

By Gary Collins

For the first time ever at a national conference, the gay press had a major voice - a part of the press.

Gay America's Press Foundation (GAPF) held its national conference in San Francisco this year. GAPF, the leader in gay journalism, was founded by Former U.S. Rep. Barney Frank of Massachusetts.

The conference, which is held annually, is a gathering of journalists and activists from all over the United States who come together to discuss issues affecting the gay and lesbian community.

At this year's conference, GAPF announced a new program: the GAPF Fund for Investigative Reporting. The fund will be used to support investigative reporting on issues affecting the gay and lesbian community.

GAY CREAMS BISHOP IN ST. PAUL

By Gary Collins

The press is reeling from the latest scandal to rock the Catholic Church. Bishop Francis J. Doyne, who had been suspected of financial irregularities, has been removed from his position as bishop of the St. Paul-Captainville diocese.

Doyne had been accused of embezzling funds from the diocese, and the Vatican has ordered him to return to Rome for a hearing.

Doyne's removal is the latest in a series of scandals that have rocked the Catholic Church in recent years. In 2010, Pope Benedict XVI was forced to resign after being accused of covering up sexual abuse by priests.

But Doyne's case is particularly disturbing because it involves a high-ranking official who had been trusted by the Vatican.

In addition to Doyne, the Vatican has also been forced to address accusations of financial irregularities and corruption. In 2017, the Vatican was forced to return $700 million in missing funds to the U.S. government.

Doyne's removal is a reminder that the Catholic Church has a long way to go in addressing sexual abuse and financial irregularities within its ranks.

GAY CHALLENGES IN HONOLULU

By Gary Collins

The Hawaii legislature has approved a bill that would allow same-sex couples to marry in the state.

The bill, which was introduced by State Sen. Lyle Ruderman, was approved by the legislature with a vote of 24-17. It now moves to the governor's desk for his signature.

The legislation is the result of a years-long fight by advocates of marriage equality in Hawaii.

In 2014, the Hawaii Supreme Court ruled that the state's ban on same-sex marriage violated the state constitution.

The Hawaii legislature has repeatedly tried to overturn the court's decision, but it has been unsuccessful.

With the approval of the marriage equality bill, Hawaii becomes the 33rd state in the U.S. to allow same-sex couples to marry.

STEPPING OUT WITH WALRY SHERWOOD AND VICKI WARD

In case you're wondering whose reputation must have cleared up the couple of TILTS last night, your scribe is in bed as an extended trip thru Europe. He's presumed to be present for today's announcement of the opening of an American in Paris and other points on the continent. In answer to the question, "Why are they"--(not sure of suffix)" -- let me mention that the capacity is very, very small, and the audience is quite large. With this particular, as usual, Tuesday night, the Kranes--the depression of the area is very, very slow. The opening of the American in Paris and other points in Europe is expected to be a real highlight of TILTS's season. The set for The Fantastics is one of the most impressive of the season, and the Fantastics' attention to detail makes it even more so. The characters are well-dressed, the scenery is beautiful, and the lighting is perfect. The ensemble cast is talented and they all work well together. The author's premise is rather simple: to understand a man who is gay, you must learn to see the world through his eyes. Each of us, with our own experiences, has a different perspective on things. Roger's problem is that he is not gay, but he has some responsibility for coming out of the closet. He must put up with the disdain and rejection that go with being gay. This is a chapter in the story of one man who is trying to find his place in the world.

The author's conclusion is that gay men have a right to love and to be loved. They have a right to be themselves, to be free, and to be happy. The book is a powerful statement about the importance of individuality and self-expression. It is a book that will change the way you think about gay men and about being a man.

The author's insight is that being gay is not a choice. It is a part of who you are. It is a part of your identity. It is a part of your being. You cannot change your sexuality. You cannot change who you are. You cannot change your identity. You cannot change your being. You can only accept who you are and be true to yourself. This is the message of the book. It is a message that will change the way you think about gay men and about being a man.

The author's dedication is to all those who have come out of the closet and to all those who are still in the closet. It is a dedication to all those who are fighting for their rights and for their freedom. It is a dedication to all those who are fighting for their lives. It is a dedication to all those who are fighting for their identity. It is a dedication to all those who are fighting for their being. It is a dedication to all those who are fighting for their love.

The author's hope is that the book will change the way you think about gay men and about being a man. It is a hope that the book will change the way you think about yourself and about who you are. It is a hope that the book will change the way you think about being a man. It is a hope that the book will change the way you think about the world.
