Mel Brooks has some pertinent things to say about comedy, a subject he knows as well as anyone and better than most.

"Comedy is a reality," says Brooks. "The more terrible the reality, the bigger the laugh. In tragedy the writer weeps at the monstrous thing: the bigger the tragedy, the bigger the laugh. In comedy he laughs. He turns around at somebody from behind whose face is bobbing up and down and whose shoulders are shaking. He turns around and he may be either laughing or crying."

By M.T. SCHMITZ

"I saw no sign of the madcap Mel Brooks on the set," says Lee. "I saw professionalism and craftsmanship. The improvised quality that infuses his pictures is carefully achieved. I had thought that all would be panic and chaos, but the set was calm."

"As a humorist," says Brooks, "I invite the audience to look at something from the side instead of straight on. You're on your own and must hope that what strikes you as funny will also strike a lot of others in the same way.'"

Brooks is more than a comic film-maker, he is perhaps the perfect embodiment of the term auteur. With a stellar cast that includes Madeleine Kahn, Cloris Leachman and Harvey Korman, Brooks regards "High Anxiety" as his auteurization of good and bad, of glee, nakedness, pettiness. It's important for me to have a philosophical yard, even though I may disguise it."

"I'd like to say a lot, but I don't want to sacrifice my laugh. I never want to leave the Mel Brooks business, and that business is to make noises that make sense and that make people laugh. Enjoy! Real Lives! Here yourselves one sweetheat of a good time. That's what my films are saying. That's what they're all about."

It is interesting to note again Gene Lee comments about Brooks is the aforementioned article."

"As for Mel Brooks: the actor, Mel Brooks the director treats him as a tool, a puppet. I noticed he's far more concerned with how Harvey Korman is getting onto film than with how Mel Brooks, actor, is making out."

"Fourteen, eager, energetic young people, most of whom have fairly good voices, have attempted to make a "show" out of non-sensical material. Valiantly, they attempt nineteen timeless songs, excelling in ad-libbing, dressing and undressing. All in all, it was supposed to be an effort to show that sex is clean, fun, wholesome, and enjoyable for all of us. Ultimately, it is only boring."

The show is the dirtiest joke of all. It promises to move sex from the gutter to the perambulatrix, and then to move itself to the perambulator. Why not?"

"It is only boring."

"I don't think that a 'show' of the type being attempted would ever be heartily enjoyed. One number, "Dirty Words," compares society's knee jerk reaction to good old Anglo-Saxonism versus the Latinata and accepted canons of "Let My People Come.""

The first mention of cocks in art is Europe from Hispano-America, Italy France art sbtrives, the companion gay brother hood grew along with the years that more than just, males. Cats are a very popular subject and are mentioned in various works of art as well. The first mentions of cocks in art are believed to be in the work of the Roman artist, Titian. His painting "The Birth of Venus" is one of the earliest depictions of a cock in art. The cock is shown in the lower right corner of the painting, symbolizing the power and masculinity of the divine Venus.

The cock is often used as a symbol of masculinity and strength in art. It is also a symbol of fertility and abundance, as the cock is associated with the male reproductive system.

The cock is also a symbol of the sun, as it is believed to be the first animal to see the sun rise each morning. This association with the sun has led to the cock being used as a symbol of daybreak and the beginning of a new day.

The cock is also a symbol of the phoenix, as it is believed to be the only bird that is able to free itself from death and rise again. This association with the phoenix has led to the cock being used as a symbol of renewal and rebirth.

The cock is also a symbol of the morning and the dawn, as it is believed to be the first animal to wake up each morning. This association with the morning has led to the cock being used as a symbol of the beginning of a new day.

LOOKING FOR A LEAF? You can certainly find one at American Nurseries. They are growing hundreds of species of plants from around the world. If you're looking for a particular type of plant, they can probably help you. They have a large selection of local plants as well, so you can be sure to find something you like. Nine o'clock, American Nurseries, 6200 McCully, Alapai, Honolulu. "Hawaiian flowers, strung together..."

Atkinson is a friendly neighborhood bar. The Tomato, at 240 McCully and Ala Moana, is more of a hangout for locals than tourists. The Blowhole at 124 Kapahulu, just off the main drag, Kalakana, is more of a party place with a disco dance floor, and lei-stand.

Downtown Honolulu has several good bars, frequented by the armed services personnel, but not by tourists. They often have live music, karaoke, and other entertainment. The ship's bar, on the other hand, is not a bad place to spend an evening. It's usually crowded, but the atmosphere is friendly. If you're looking for a more upscale bar, try the N Mine, at 175 W Ala Moana. It has a disco dance floor, and lei-stand.

The Blowhole decides to stop their cabaret show in two months. The Tomato is a good place to go to meet people and have a good time. It's cheap, and there's usually a crowd. The Blowhole is newer, but looking up. Try it on a Saturday night for a good time.

Beneath blue Hawaiian skies (subject to frequent tropical downpours are swimming, surfing, sailing, canoeing and looking! Along the beaches you are most of the restaurants, bars, shops, beaches, hotels and discos, shops, beaches, hotels and discos.
If you own a gay-operated business:

1. Increase sales for gay-operated businesses.
2. Introduce the amazing variety of gay-operated businesses in the Bay Area gay community and out-of-town visitors.
3. Guide new customers to gay-operated businesses where they will be welcomed and respected as gay women and men.
4. Acknowledge the loyalty of current gay customers.

The Mints annual "Great TriCycle Race" went to the community softball league. The Silver Sage, South of Market, was a huge success.

The first annual Gay Softball world championship in San Francisco won by the Community Softball League. The Community Softball League's fourth annual Northern Station Police Benefit Bowling Tournament was held at Sutter's Mill.

New bowling leagues opened. Two new bowling leagues were formed, The Ambush, Castro Street Comets and the Bench-Castro Station, Freebirds, over the New York City Ramrods.

New bars opened in the area. FULL MOON has a marvelous sound system, a beautiful dance floor, has been opened up to let the sun shine (and fairies) in off the streets. Large windows at the front, murals on the wall, with, of all things, GIRAFFES prominently displayed. What had been, for years and years, a corner store, is going to become a bar, and one plus cleverly arranged seating, places to sit and pursue dreams. In the offing, South of Market, Muni's MAJESTY.

GIRAFFE is handsomely decorated. The other new bar in the Polk area, in the Polk area, Bob Sondner, Larry and Carl are two of the nicest people I've met in a long time. Now isn't the wonderful editor of this rag just marvelously putting "you" to good use? "You're including your picture? All you have to do is paste it on the back of your refrigerator and you've got it knocked."

After a festive holiday season, got a marvelous recipe in the mail. Now isn't the wonderful editor of this rag just marvelously putting “you” to good use? "You're including your picture? All you have to do is paste it on the back of your refrigerator and you've got it knocked."

You'll need:
- Loose weight, he's including my picture.
- Pinch of salt
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/4 lb soft butter
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon Irish whiskey.

After a festive holiday season, got a marvelous recipe in the mail. Now isn't the wonderful editor of this rag just marvelously putting “you” to good use? "You're including your picture? All you have to do is paste it on the back of your refrigerator and you've got it knocked."

I wish that Aunt Harriet gets a stewardess out of it. So to make up for that, I have the Special shares the recipie for his smile.

The Little Tramp is dead. Chaplin, the legendary actor and filmmaker whose character "the Little Tramp" has charmed audiences the world over, died at 88 on December 27, 1977. Born in London in 1889, Charles Chaplin began his career as a child actor before transitioning to silent films, where he rose to prominence with his slapstick comedy films. Chaplin's most famous roles include Charlie Bucket, the film character, and The Tramp, a流浪者 who brought laughter and tears to the world. Chaplin's contributions to the film industry were recognized with several Academy Awards, including an honorary Oscar in 1972. He was a legendary figure, known for his talent and dedication to his craft. As a result, his death was met with widespread sadness and tributes from around the world. In the years following his death, Chaplin's legacy continued to grow, with his films and influence inspiring generations of filmmakers. The Little Tramp, now forever gone, will always be "The Little Tramp"!
