CRUCIFIXION WITHOUT NAILS

THE CARRIAGE

The editor visited the Carriage on two different nights. The first was on a Saturday night.

Formerly this place had been a boozing spot for a number of semi-professional and professional people. It has been much improved since it was the site of the infamous ‘disorderly conduct’ case. The editor found it to be a quiet place with only a few regulars.

On several occasions the editor has asked different attorneys what constitutes ‘lewd and dissolute conduct.’ The best answer came from a retired police officer: ‘You’re doing anything that a police officer thinks you should not do.’

THE LAW

Here is the actual law taken from the California Penal Code:

§ 647, Disorderly Conduct—Defined-Misdemeanor—Every person who engages in or who engages in lewd or dissolute conduct in any public place or in any place open to the public view shall be guilty of disorderly conduct, a misdemeanor:

(a) Who solicits anyone to engage in or who engages in lewd or dissolute conduct in any public place or in any place open to the public view.

Thousands of San Franciscans saw the Mayor engage in what has since been considered lewd conduct when he had a visit with Mr. Krahe. Not one hand was raised to arrest or to warn either of them. Mr. Krahe could claim diplomatic immunity. What was Mr. C's excuse? Following the customs of the country? This is, of course, a stupid charge. But not one more stupid than the same charge a decade ago. In the eyes of the law, the Chief has taken the coward way, or may it be the only way that he knows. He sent undercover agents into the place to be accosted by these people. He then described the results of his actions, has tried to make it impossible to fight in court. This is what you call Crucifixion without nails. This is a misdemeanor arrest in Menlo. The San Francisco and San Jose papers carried it verbatim. This makes for reasonable attitude. We must draw the conclusion that it was written as a device of harassment.

California does not need laws such as this. Register your protest with the Puritan. However the good Chief did not design to specify what lewd conduct these people were accused of performing.

This is what you call Crucifixion without nails. It would work the same way if we run the headline:

Police Chief
Accused Of Lewd Act

The San Francisco Chronicle and the San Francisco Examiner on the same day published the following press releases from the Chief of Police of Menlo Park. It must be a press release because both papers carried the same item.

‘Menlo Park police arrested Monday night that they have cleaned up what they described as a...hangout, by making five arrests during the past week in The Carriage, a tavern at 1149 El Camino Real. The Carriage is a bar in Menlo Park. It too, is a very pleasant spot to drop in for a few moments of relaxation in an air of refinement. Or at least it was a place fitting the description. The Chief of Police of Menlo accused the owner of the place of operating a ‘den of iniquity’, a hangout for divvies, and about anything else he could think of.

If the Chief of Police had sent one of his men or gone himself to the owner and made these accusations, it would be different. This is not the case. Mr. C has taken the coward way, or may it be the only way that he knows. He sent undercover agents into the place to be accosted by these people. He then described the results of his actions, has tried to make it impossible to fight in court. This is what you call Crucifixion without nails. This is a misdemeanor arrest in Menlo. The Carriage
Menlo Park, California was until recently an extremely pleasant place to be city of some twenty-seven thousand people. The law violated by the five men in the Carriage Case is so vaguely written that it is almost impossible to fight in court.

This is what you call Crucifixion without nails.

SUTTON PLACE

The San Francisco Hotel has long been the resort for folks who are only willing to stay in the city. The Sutter Street Hotel was one of the most popular places for tourists. The hotel was located on the corner of Sutter and San Francisco streets.

An article from the San Francisco Chronicle written by William A. Thompson in 1865 described the hotel as follows:

"SUTHERN PLACER:"

The Sutter Street Hotel is a well-known establishment in the city of San Francisco. It was built in the year 1853 and has been in continuous operation ever since. The hotel is located at the corner of Sutter and Market Streets.

The hotel consists of four stories and has 100 guest rooms. It is furnished in the finest style and has a large dining room and a library.

The hotel is managed by Mr. John Sutter, who has been in charge of it for many years. He is a man of good character and has the respect of all who know him.

The Sutter Street Hotel is a popular place for tourists and has been visited by many distinguished guests.

The hotel is open to the public and is always ready to accommodate visitors.

The Sutter Street Hotel is a fine example of the kind of hotel that is to be found in San Francisco. It is a place where one can rest and take a little refreshment in comfort and convenience.

HOW TO AVOID CRUCIFIXION

The following are excerpts of two articles that were first printed in the L.A. Times on 27 March 1962. A list of newsmakers has already established themselves with these articles, however for the interest of all they are now reprinted.

TELL THOM BURTON

The following is a very short but interesting interview with Mr. Burton, publisher and editor of the Beverly Hills Business Journal. Mr. Burton has been a question of some importance in the State. The purpose of this interview is to bring to the attention of the public the issues that are at stake in this election.

Q. Mr. Burton, if a person is stopped on the street what should he tell the arresting officer?

A. First of all, that is not always the case but sometimes it is. The officer may ask you for your name and address but there is no law that says you have to give him your right name. If you do not, he should be asked to give the reason why. The officer may also ask you for your profession or employment but again, there is no law that requires you to do this. If you do not, he should be asked to give the reason for asking. If you do not, he should be asked to give the reason why. If you do not, he should be asked to give the reason why. If you do not, he should be asked to give the reason why.

Q. And what should a person do if he is stopped on the street what do you advise a citizen to do?

A. We will be happy to answer all questions in person or by phone.

ROVING REPORT

This coming weekend is going to be one long party for the Aggie fans and the fans of the Hollywood Bowl. The game is going to be a classic between the two teams, and the Aggies will be hoping to get revenge for last year's defeat.

Q. But Mr. Davis, citizens are not always under the same conditions as the police, is it not true?

A. Yes, it is true. The police are not always under the same conditions as the citizens. However, the police have the advantage of being able to arrest people.

Q. What should a person do if he is stopped on the street what do you advise a citizen to do?

A. If you are being stopped, you should not give them any identifying information. Personen being stopped should not give them any identifying information.

Had an invitation to a buffet at Manny's for the cast of a show here in town, but was too busy to make it. Hear that the food was in the excellent tradition of the place: Fine.

"Norman from the Hula House has been spending so much time in Las Vegas that he is about to buy a commuter ticket. His plans for a party every Friday night are going to keep him in town however. Speaking of control, did you know that of the big uncountable crimes that have been committed here recently were fingered by an undercover agent who takes weeks to know the bartenders and then after so long a time finally plays the pinball machine - wins and in a hurry asks for a pay off. He gets it and in a week or two comes in with the bug bad vice and pulls that evil thing out of the place. For true he can wait for months and then come in and say that this is the "big time organized gambler" that paid me 20% on that machine and we want it removed. If we get much purer in San Francisco we will have to convert the Fountain in Civic Center Plaza to a baptismal.

We have already apologized to the Su-Q for leaving them out of the list of places that are distributing the tickets to the Picnic. It is a common known fact that the Senator can never remember a name, but the way he floors Phil by calling him Frank and vice versa is going too far.

Well, like we said this is going to be a big weekend. See you at the picnic.

One of the first questions that the Founders of the League for Civil Education had to ask themselves was: who would be the main beneficiary of their organization? A Community of Interests? To this question, the League gave a negative answer. After a series of meetings, a meeting was called of the various persons who had responded to the proposed organization.

It was found that practically no organization existed to answer the many questions concerning legal and social problems. It was found that an organization existed to form a protective and social responsibility. It was found that the legal protection of the rights and liberties of those who are in the community. Attorneys were elected, large amounts of research were made into the needs and the best way to approach the problem. The League has made great strides in the development of programs to make people of their rights and furnish funds and information to use in need.

The purpose of the organization is to center around the need for the available information as to the activities of the District Attorney and the rights and liberties of those who are in need. To achieve this, the LCC News was founded and has been published monthly since its inception to aid in becoming more and more familiar with the day to day life of those in need of a little assistance for their lives. Many of these organizations have been established in the public area of the City.

In becoming more and more familiar with the day to day life of those in need of a little assistance for their lives. Many of these organizations have been established in the public area of the City.

1. No legal aid organization is remotely interested in any having to do with the Community
2. No other source of day to day information is available. The Daily is as, to say the very least, uninformative. Therefore, the growing need for the expansion of the D.E.C.

3. That the radio programs produce by the LCC to carry the word and need for local and judicial assistance may be a success. This must be a long range program and takes no part in the entire world has such a success.

4. That no agency of the government is interested in any having to do with the Community

5. That the radio programs produce by the LCC to carry the word and need for local and judicial assistance may be a success. This must be a long range program and takes no part in the entire world has such a success.

THE COMMUNITY

Therefore the question arises: If we can develop a cohesive spirit in the Community to develop a complete community of interests? Is this the Editors opinion that, together with the tremendous strides that have been taken in the legal aid, job placement, interests in social affairs, you will have made the growing awareness of political morality that a very definite field of community interest do exist.

If we are to embark on a greater program of mutual assistance then there are several things that we must consider:

That one circumstance where we would be worse off than before is:
That we would be in far better position to look for people who are in need of assistance than we were last year in San Francisco.

That the League would seek to make a contribution to the United Fund and to the American Red Cross and the myriad of other social service agencies.

The Community is available to the needs of a group of persons having a community interest. There are many areas of mutual assistance which might well occur to our readers.

The prime question is: Shall we, a group of persons having a community of interests look after and see that we would not be worse off than before.

That we would be in far better position to help these people than we were last year in San Francisco.

The prime question is: Shall we, a group of persons having a community of interests look after and see that we would not be worse off than before.

NOW IS THE TIME

There are certain things in life that must be done with regularity. The incidence of that regularity should depend to a large degree on the amount of time of us.

For instance: A car that is driven 2000 miles is should be changed of oil; it is needed weekly. If you need to see your dentist twice a year; and eat three meals a day.

If you drive over dirty roads, if you are unable to brush after every meal, it might be necessary to correct this earlier. For those who are more than twice a year.

And some had to mark on the roadway.

So it is with you. Now is the time for those who followed our advice in July to make a checkup. For those who have been driving their cars for a long period of time, return to a life on the shady side of the law.

It is in this field that we can function with the greatest return.

We can clothes these men with the other things we have in two ways:
(a) By having a central place for the collection of clean usable clothing and, as the background of political morality that a very definite field of community interest do exist.
(b) We can establish a fund expressly for this. Those who fit the needs outlined, we have talked to one clothing store that is more than twice a year.

We are in need of such things as a blood bank for members of the Community to draw against.

There are many areas of mutual assistance that might well occur to our readers.
The NY scene apparently has grown over big especially with the younger set. The nightlife is in the upswing because everyone knows that fall is right around a corner - forget the heat more and more brightly colored sweaters and others are already popping up everywhere. What kept in the forefront programs dealing with the social variant and, on the evening of September 16th, had four programs totaling 9 hours on deviant behavior. Included was a rebroadcast of Live and Let Live, two programs produced in San Francisco in 1958 and a general discussion by a group of sociologists.

The New York Cup no doubt dreams: 'I went to work in my Maidens Fold Era.' This is especially likely if he is a shapely member of the NY Brain Squad, reviewing such press attention. It all began in a mid-western city where the Chief of Police started sending out the city's best dressed in lady-like finery and him staggering along dark streets where there had been repeated muggings etc. Time Magazine ran an article on the success of this project and as a result, the local Police took immediately to the idea. Almost too rapidly.

What the NIRD may or may not know is that as they all like drunken girls and stagger down those dark dangerous streets of San Francisco, is that they might be attracting what we call the "nuggets" for money but the vicious members of the population who violently react to a not-too-legiti mate looking girl. At night the police are delighted to up the sweat and proceed to protect the public. And no doubt San Francisco this year will discard the outdated "I am a boy" tag and will use the "I am a boy" button. A gala event at Cherry Cove on Fire Island around the 15th with entertainment and the show to end all shows will pull down the curtain on the fast and easy life of the summer. We will tell you all about it next issue.

The New York Dollar Beer might be an "All Drinks before Midnight" spot. The Cherry Lane was in a bad way and type II-III for all. From The Editor

We know, that it takes all kinds: we know that the would would be a far better off without some of them. But in our drive to register people to vote we know that kind of the types we run into:

1. Type I-The Defeated-This one is sure that it will do no good to register. No one is running that is worth while. And after all, what would it do? Answer: If it will do no good then this country is in a bad state. And if the right to vote is of so little value that it is not worth taking a few minutes to fill out a form then this one deserves exactly what he gets.

2. Type II-He asks "What is Guy Strait doing?" This one is sure that the person registering has some ulterior motive and just wants to get his name out and address for purposes other than registration. Answer: If someone wants his name and address for anything other than registration he would break his neck giving it to us.

3. Type III-The Smart Politician. This one wants to discuss political issues with the Deputy Registrar. The Deputy must be non-partisan. It is the duty of the Registrar to register people to vote regardless of their party affiliations.

Type IV-He asks "What is Guy Strait running for?" This one is sure that the only reason that anyone would want to be registered is that there something in it for someone!

Answer: I have made perfectly clear that I am not a candidate for office and that I will not spend his house of his time without pay in the attempt to get people to register.

Type V-The Real Fun Boy: This one lets the Registrar look the entire form and when it comes to the question "What type work do you do?" and "What is your party affiliation?" both legitimate questions, insists the Registrar is getting too money and voids the entire form. And That is what we said. It is not a girl, but this is one kind that we can do without.

The appeal was by the petitioners and it was made to the Superior Court in San Francisco, to command the revocation of the permits of the petitioners.
