Journal says that while a significantly unpublicized data compiled by the national Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta show that more than a third of all AIDS patients in the United States are from racial and ethnic minorities.

Moreover, a doctor's report published in a leading medical journal says that while a significant percentage of black and Hispanic AIDS patients — not counting Haitians — are intravenous drug users, an equally significant percentage of them are upfront gays.

In a telephone interview from Atlanta, Dr. Richard Selik, director of AIDS information at the CDC, reported that as of October 19, out of a total of 2,533 AIDS cases nationwide, only 57.9 percent are white.

New York — On September 27, a black-tie crowd of 1,000 lesbian women and gay men heard Reverend Jesse Jackson, the prime spokesperson of today's Black movement, ask for gay people to join Blacks and other minorities in a political alliance.

The event was the second annual dinner of the Human Rights Campaign Fund at the Grand Ballroom of New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Jackson was fiery and evangelical in his delivery and sounded as if he had done some homework on gay issues but probably not enough.

Although well received, the Presidential candidate was still perceived to be lacking in understanding of gay lifestyles and agenda.

Harvey Fierstein, writer of the hit musical "La Cage aux Folles" and the evening's M.C., politely corrected Jackson on a couple of his comments following his keynote address.

Jackson had said, "Sexuality is a private thing, and was not other people's business."

Drawing a burst of applause, Fierstein later said, "I would like to let you know that my sexuality is NOT a private thing, and I would like to be able to walk down the street and kiss my lover in public as freely as you can with your wife."

In a litany of observations, Jackson had said, "Sex is a thrill, but so is getting the Voting Rights Law passed in the Sixties."

In a litany of observations, Jackson had said, "Sex is a thrill, but so is getting the Voting Rights Law passed in the Sixties."

"Sex is a thrill, but so is passing the ERA," he told the audience.

To illustrate his point of building coalitions, Jackson read off a list of Black leaders supporting gay rights bills in congress.

Prior to his appearance at the HRCF dinner, the N.Y. N.A. V. editorially wondered if he might talk with the two Black city councilmen who have consistently voted against a New York City gay rights ordinance and elicit their future backing. The question of the illusive ordinance was not addressed.

Conspicuously absent from the dinner was N.Y. Mayor Koch who was nowhere to be seen. He did send a telegram, though, which was read aloud and soundly booed by the entire tuxedoed crowd.

Entertainment was provided by "La Cage aux Folles" star George Hearn, who sang "I Am What I Am," and by Patti LaBelle, who performed six numbers which tore the gathering apart.

Berkeley hearings on privileges of "marriage"

The Human Relations and Welfare Committee of the City of Berkeley held a public hearing Oct. 27 on "The use of Marriage ties." Commissioner Supervine Harry Britt, supervisor Matt Coles, and members of the East Bay Lesbian/Gay Democratic Club made presentations at the meeting, which was attended by over 50 people.

Berghman, a political expert on the gay and lesbian community, said a report of discrimination, from health benefits, to visitation rights, to reduced fees for services, with a 22-page document covering the issue at length. Most aspects of the domestic partnership issue were acknowledged by Supervisor Britt, who remarked, "This proposal is coming home to us." He noted several years ago, "We took on to define the issue for us." He noted that benefits and pay are "working for the benefit of everyone who plays by the rules that everyone else is." Brit shared that while domestic partnerships and marriages involve "economic relationships," he used "marriage" in the context of "capital relationships." Britt also observed that the issue of domestic partner benefits was the same as the lesbian community's version of "equal pay for equal work." Third-year law student Thomas Friend and Pamela Liberty of the Lesbian Law Project mentioned that domestic partner health benefits were now available to members of the American Psychological Association and members of the Village Voice.

Attorney Matt Coles, a resident and writer of the city's non-discrimination ordinance, referred to the "right to discriminate" in health benefits for the city. He made a point that it is not a residence in the same city, but a non-discrimination ordinance that is in the city. He noted that the ordinance is not a residence in the same city, but a non-discrimination ordinance that is in the city.

Deborah Brougham, a Berkeley resident, testifies at the hearing. Supervisor Britt, who first brought the issue to public attention several years ago, said, "We went on to define the issue for us." Britt noted that benefits and pay are "working for the benefit of everyone who plays by the rules that everyone else is." Brit also noted that it is not having a national health insurance plan, but a national health insurance plan, that is in the city. He concluded that the issue is not having a national health insurance plan, but a national health insurance plan, that is in the city.

Pop Culture and the Right Gay Stuff

For a long time, I have believed that the expression of views on "public" issues in media like film and music offers a unique opportunity to build support for our cause. If culture can be "political," it is at the primary level.

First, it can bring attention to existing problems in a way that provokes a response. Indeed, the preoccupation with race and gender in mainstream political discourse too often diverts us emotionally in the search for solutions. Second, because of the artist's freedom of expression, he or she is not limited to the political agenda, solutions, or views of our culture. An artist has a greater latitude to define alternate politics, institutions, ideas and moral codes. Also, artists have a language that is freer and more resonant to an audience that is more non-political, and open to new ideas.

Hopefully, this sublimation of the realm of the artist allows us to emerge more sensitive to the problem, more open to its discourse, and more likely to participate in its solutions. The arts, in effect, "humanize" the gay struggle, and its expression can be used to promote a political agenda, even as we sit and listen with a new ear. What is "Gay Culture?" The answer seems to elude us all. Whether we are there in a unique Gay sạchtistic, the creation of a truly unique people, or whether it is only the product of a "well-informed" public, remains to be seen.

Vincent Price's powerful version of Oscar Wilde in the recent television production of "The Importance of Being Earnest" was a " case of ignorance about the moral codes of the time..." The sublimation of the gay struggle into a "well-informed" public, as in the Alliance for Gay Artists in the Entertainment industry, which recently presented its third annual awards to open members of the Alliance, as Chairperson Richard Thomas noted, far from it, for I see a new generation of Gays and Lesbians emerging within the dramatic context. Some were extraordinary, some were extraordinary, but all were extraordinary and played it with a great deal of sensitivity, that gave us new insights into the richness and difficulties, that gave us the strength and courage to take part in our own lives.

As did the earliest Oscars and Tonys, these awards serve, for us, as a "remembrance" to all the people who have contributed to our community and our culture. We are asking for your support and for information, membership forms, or contributions to the Alliance for Gay Artists in the Entertainment Industry.

Independent Gay Health Clubs Form Organization

"Well, I found out why we're called independent," said Nguyan "Rex" Trinh, who coordinates the Asian American Wellness Workshops, a gay health and social club organization in the Bay Area. "The idea of forming an association of independent gay health clubs (IGHC) came about in early October at a meeting on the AIDS problem and the discrimination we face as gay people..."

"I began to look for ways to be more effective and I gave the idea of joining together independent health clubs to the AIDS Coalition of Gay Men and the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force..."

"It is far beyond the powers of any organization we can bring forth any effective solutions to the AIDS problem. The only way we can be effective is if we can bring together all of the organizations and make a unified effort..."

"The concept of a national organization of gay health clubs is one that is very real and very possible. It is our hope that perhaps we can be a seed for the development of an AIDS Coalition of Gay Men..."

"The gay rights movement has been a very effective way to bring together all of the organizations and make a unified effort. The AIDS Coalition of Gay Men will be able to do this in an effective way..."

"We are not going to be able to effectively fight AIDS without a national organization. The gay health clubs will be a strong organization that can fight effectively with a large chain through cooperative national and community-based organizations."

The gay rights movement has been a very effective way to bring together all of the organizations and make a unified effort. The AIDS Coalition of Gay Men will be able to do this in an effective way..."

In conclusion, the gay rights movement has been a very effective way to bring together all of the organizations and make a unified effort. The AIDS Coalition of Gay Men will be able to do this in an effective way..."
New San Francisco Savings

The 76-year-old San Francisco Savings & Loan Association announced last week that it would be closing its doors after being in business for over seven decades. The announcement came as a shock to many in the community, given the long history and tradition of the institution.

San Francisco Savings & Loan, founded in 1920, had long been a fixture in the city's financial landscape. Over the years, it had helped generations of families and individuals save for their futures. The closure, announced by President and CEO David Johnson, cited the difficult financial climate and the challenges of modern banking.

The closure will affect approximately 500 employees, who will be offered severance packages and other support services. "We are deeply sorry for the inconvenience this will cause our customers," Johnson said. "We have been a part of San Francisco's community for over 90 years, and we will continue to do our best to support our customers during this transition period."

San Francisco Savings & Loan is one of the oldest and largest savings institutions in the city, with assets of over $2 billion. It was acquired by the new owners in 2010, who were planning to modernize the institution and reduce costs. However, the pandemic and economic downturn have caused financial challenges for the institution.

The institution will be closed by the end of the month, and all accounts will be transferred to a new bank. Customers are encouraged to close their accounts and transfer funds elsewhere.

Hospitals Alters AIDS Policy

Boston Hospital has announced plans to make significant changes to its AIDS program. The hospital, which has been criticized for its history of discrimination against gay patients, is planning to establish a new program that will focus on the needs of gay and lesbian patients.

According to hospital officials, the new program will be led by a new director who will be responsible for implementing the new policies. The hospital also plans to conduct a comprehensive review of its policies and procedures to ensure that they are fair and inclusive for all patients.

The hospital has faced criticism in the past for its handling of AIDS patients, particularly when it was revealed that some patients were denied care or treated differently based on their sexual orientation. The new director will be tasked with addressing these concerns and ensuring that all patients receive equal treatment.

The new program will also include training for all hospital staff, including doctors and nurses, to ensure that they are knowledgeable about the needs of gay and lesbian patients.

Gay group first to be approved for Olympic housing

Lesbian Advocates & Defenders, a local gay rights group, has been approved to provide housing for Lesbian athletes at the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney. The approval came on the heels of a recent controversy over the Olympics' policy on gay athletes.

The approval was met with mixed reactions, with some calling it a step forward in inclusion and others expressing concern that it was not enough.

The group will provide housing for Lesbian athletes, as well as for heterosexual athletes, in order to ensure that all athletes have equal access to housing.

The group's approval comes after months of lobbying and activism by Lesbian athletes and allies.

San Francisco Opera's production of Beethoven's Ninth

San Francisco Opera will be presenting a new production of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony on Saturday, October 2. The production will feature a cast of world-renowned artists, including soprano Renee Fleming and tenor Piotr Becznik. The production will be directed by Michael Mayer and conducted by Michael Tilson Thomas.

The Ninth Symphony is one of Beethoven's most famous works and has been a staple of the operatic repertoire for decades. San Francisco Opera is known for its high-quality productions and has become a leading Opera company in the United States.

The production will be held at the War Memorial Opera House in San Francisco and will be broadcast live to cinemas around the world through the company's Live in HD series.

The Savoy

The Savoy, located at 305 Market Street, offers a cozy and intimate atmosphere, perfect for a romantic dinner or a quiet business lunch. The menu features classic American dishes with a modern twist, and the service is attentive and friendly.

One of the highlights of the menu is the surf and turf special, which includes a 12-ounce bone-in ribeye and a 6-ounce NY strip, served with a variety of sides.

The Savoy also offers a variety of wine and beer options to complement the meal. The staff is knowledgeable and can help you choose the right pairing.

The Savoy has been a San Francisco staple for years, and it continues to be a favorite among locals and visitors alike. It's a great choice for a special occasion or a casual meal.

Halloween has come and gone. The costumes can be put away, at least for now. It's another year that you have to come up with a more creative idea for your costume this fall. Each bar has its own individual parties and events to sponsor, such as the "Spooky Strip" party at the Magic Theatre.

When this article comes to press, this will be next news. The cardholders for Stockton Strip Mayor will have had their first council meeting since the election.

Notes for Coping

By Michelle Holquist

Some people diagnosed with AIDS develop more harmful medical consequences than others. For example, a person in the hospital may have many daily routines that seem to work best for the hospital. Sometimes the routines may not be the best for the patient. For example, a patient's room may not have windows, and the staff may not be in the patient's room. Sometimes the patient can also ask for maximum privacy.

Getting Out Information

It may be helpful to have one or two individuals close to the person with AIDS serve as a contact for the larger group of friends and acquaintances who are concerned about medical developments. These contacts may want to prepare forms appropriate for contributions. The Savoy offers food, fun, good music and friends.

from $3.47 to $5.23.

Most entrees were priced below $5.40, considering the branch comes with rice, brown rice, steamed vegetables, or egg noodles with a bowl of grass. Remember, it's a pretty good bargain these days.

Adding to the atmosphere of The Savoy was the waitress named Natalie. She was high-energy, jocular, friendly, and fun. She joked with the customers. She was a beautiful woman.

There are other things to consider, but for now, let's consider:

Pick your cocktail — Bloody Mary, Scotch-on-the-rocks, or have a glass of champagne (Chateau St. George).

The Bloody Mary, by the way, was made from scratch, but was better than what your master's hair is. I do not think it's worth the trip to The Savoy. The managers, staff and customers were all friendly, and the food was delicious.

The only fault that I could find was that they're dieting. But, overall, it's a great place setting has the face of a beautiful woman. Pictures of leaden ladies adorn the walls.

Our service was delightful — soft music and friendly. The staff was friendly, but not too friendly.

Some people diagnosed with AIDS develop more serious hospitalizations become frequent, and the lives of loved ones lose their normal daily patterns and can become very difficult. The following are some ideas that may be helpful to the AIDS person and those in the immediate circle of family and friends.

Patient Advocacy

The establishment can be overwhelming for those who know about AIDS often mean one or two other persons close to the patient to listen to the doctor's report, ask questions and take notes about the treatment. The medical staff is usually jocular, friendly, and fun. However, the patient can also ask for maximum care. Quiet backtime is just what they need, perhaps a light massage, or just quiet time holding hands.

Getting Out Information

It may be helpful for one or two individuals close to the patient with AIDS to serve as a contact for the group of friends and acquaintances who are concerned about medical developments. These contacts may want to be available for those who call them. There is a delicate balance here between getting overwhelmed and deficiencies. Perhaps other people could reflect on the situation and share important things that need to be called for. Some people might also keep a track of the medications, which are not to be taken when. Questions may arise as the right to take another pain killer. The primary support individuates should also be in the letter writing — who to call in time of emergency — family, doctors, friends. Some arrangements depend, of course, on the health and desires of the AIDS person. Phone Machine

A phone answering machine can be very helpful. Sometimes the AIDS person is simply not able to answer the phone each time it rings. Sometimes a voice from the doctor may be pending. It would be better to monitor such calls. Make sure the answering machine works between 8 and Monday. Sometimes loving ones may take advantage of the answering machine.

So, branch out, if you want to have another definite meal or a fun, both visiting the Savoy. Take calls that are not cards are accepted. Reservations, while not required, may be necessary at times. Getting a Five in Being

What do you want to consider is the world and you know that Turkey will probably be at the $6.95 price, and the price per pound of a whole bird will be an average 12 to 14 pounds.
