Secretary of State Eu warns petition circulators to halt harassment

Sacramento — Secretary of State March Fong Eu, in response to numerous complaints and incidents involving petition circulators of the AIDS initiative that if they do not stop harassing potential petition signers and misrepresenting the contents of the measure, she will take immediate legal action.

In a telegram to Khushro Ghandli of Los Angeles, one of the two proponents of the AIDS initiative who seeks to declare AIDS an infectious, contagious and communicable disease subject to state Department of Health regulations, Dr. Eu said, "This is to warn you of the numerous complaints I have recently received regarding harassment by circulators of your AIDS initiative petition.

"Members of the public have been subjected to outrageous verbal abuse for mere failure to sign petitions, generating complaints by individuals and public and private property managers.

"To avoid possible litigation or removal of your circulators from public and private property, I urge you take immediate steps to ensure your circulators halt such offensive activities.

"I would also advise you that

Gay man faced with blood test after neighbors criticize his 'morals'

San Francisco, CA — North American Life and Casualty Company has demanded that a gay man undergo blood testing after it hired a private agency to investigate his "morals" and because he lived in a relationship with another man.

Medicaid investigating agency.

The question of Miller's "morals" came up after Hooper-Holmes interviewed his neighbors and because Miller designated an unrelated male as his beneficiary.

Hooper-Holmes also submitted a "residential information" to the State of California.

North American has admitted that they order investigative reports on "any application that includes a beneficiary who is not a relative by blood or marriage."

Furthermore, they have stated to Miller that "being a male and in the 20-50 age range places you in a high risk for blood disorders."

North American also has submitted its blood testing done routinely on persons in this risk group."

Mr. Miller has written to the insurance company three times for more information about what blood tests will be performed and has received no answer.

North American also based its decision to test Mr. Miller's blood on the results of a half-hour phone interview between Hooper-Holmes and Mr. Miller. Their detectives asked several personal questions about Miller's relationship to his beneficiary.

Hooper-Holmes also submitted an investigative report to North American in which they noted that a "residential information" was filed by the applicant. A little too close to his partner."

NGLTF's Jeff Levi Speaks at De Anza College

By Rick Rudy
Board Member, NGLTF

Jeff Levi, newly appointed executive director of the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force (NGLTF), spoke to a crowd of about 50 persons at De Anza College on Thursday evening, May 8, hosted by High Tech Gays and the De Anza College GALA.

Levi was spending a week in the Bay area at the invitation of the gay community of Santa Cruz, and added the speaking engagement in Cupertino at the request of Rick Rudy, member of NGLTF's national board of directors and president of High Tech Gays of San Jose.

Recent reports in the gay press have suggested that NGLTF might be "self-destructing." Levi spoke of the extensive activities of NGLTF — specifically lobbying, media support, and gay rights advocacy — to put such speculation to rest.

Levi has been representing the NGLTF in Washington, D.C., for three years, he said, and has constantly been the spokesperson called upon by Congress, congressional staffers, various governmental agencies and the press for answers to their questions.

With the AIDS crisis looming over the straight and gay communities, Levi's advice has been sought by even our traditional conservative opponents who share concerns about individual freedom. Politics makes strange bedfellows.

Answering a question about women's concerns, Levi announced that a woman of color, Urvashi Vaid, presently an NGLTF board member and staff of ACLU's Prison Project, would join the NGLTF staff as media coordinator, replacing the departing Ron Najman.

Levi stressed that NGLTF is the only gay rights advocacy group working on a national level, and the continuation of its work, with its new Washington offices, should be of paramount concern to the whole gay and lesbian community.

NGLTF is attempting to work off an accumulated debt, and begin to operate strictly in the black, and needs the financial support of everyone.

Contributions, at all levels, from memberships at $30 to major donations and bequests are sorely needed and will be gratuitously accepted.

Larger contributors may wish to channel their gifts through the NGLTF tax-exempt 501(c)(3) Fund for Human Dignity, for the maximum tax benefit.

Toll Rick Rudy at (408) 255-4128 for information.

Levi promised that members would begin again receiving regular informational newsletters from the Task Force, to bring them into the center of NGLTF's activities. Peter Fowler, NGLTF Board Co-Chair, also attended the meeting and spoke individually to interested members of the audience after Levi's talk was concluded.

Stanford benefit raises $30,000
University community turns out to support AIDS education, charities

genevieve kolosovitch

Organizers of Stanford Cares, one of the AIDS education and support programs at Stanford, are justifiably pleased. "An unqualified success," said Michael Smith, a student at the Stanford Graduate School of Business and chair of the Events Organizing Committee.

"Student participation was much higher than expected. It was just wonderful to see such a warm response and such unqualified success," said President Donald Kennedy, adding it is a reflection of the university's commitment to support the Bay Area AIDS charities.

The committee of hosts ranged from well-known names such as Rubenstein, Norman, and Kennedy to occasional others like the Indian Free Clinic.

"Unfinished Business: The New AIDS in all its complexity and with all the intellect we need," he said. "As a society, we should own AIDS as an academic institution, we should grapple with the problem.

"AIDS is not a gay disease," the Stanford president, Kennedy told the crowd of 500 at the Stanford Memorial Auditorium for the Peninsula premiere of "Unfinished Business." The new film, a broad and committed response to AIDS, was made for the Stanford AIDS Education Project.

Kennedy reminded the Stanford audience "to stay alert. And if you stay alert, you can play a very important role in helping to stop the disease." He added, "The only way to stop the positive response from the gay and lesbian community is by walking precincts. Anyone thinking about how to get the endorsement rates up, consider the AIDS issue."

Andrew Falwell at Pells

You need to get the chance of this line that we can speak on the line to be funny. We want you, but we don't want to be far away. Perhaps Falwell really wants to be in a different line, because he is the old Pells Church in Los Angeles.

We choose points, that particular line, that's the start of Los Angeles, and the whole Los Angeles Church. We think that's the beginning of Los Angeles, and that's where we are. Falwell really wants to be there, because he is the old Pells Church in Los Angeles.

Los Gatos Christian Church

On Wednesday, May 29, 1985, Los Gatos Christian Church held its annual meeting and announced to the community that Rev. Jerry Falwell (Falwell), who had been a member of the Los Gatos Christian Church, has been selected as its new pastor. Falwell, who had served as pastor of the church for more than 20 years, is known for his strong dedication to the Christian faith and his efforts to promote religion in public life.

The meeting was held in the main sanctuary of the church, where a new stage was being installed. The stage was dedicated to the memory of the late Rev. John J. O'Reilly, who had served as pastor of the church from 1959 until his death in 1980.

Since fresh fish is in good supply right now, we thought we would try something a little different. We all know how picky the "white fish" is, and that they have a reputation for being bland. But we were determined to try something new.

Here’s a challenge for all of you who are into seafood: try preparing a meal of fresh fish. It doesn’t have to be fancy, just something that you can enjoy without too much effort.

We chose a recipe for Baked Fish with a Herbed Butter Sauce. The sauce is made with fresh herbs, lemon juice, and white wine. It’s delicious and easy to prepare.

For this recipe, we used a fillet of cod, which is a good choice because it’s mild and flaky. We also served it with some steamed vegetables and a simple salad.

So, if you’re looking for a new way to prepare fish, give this recipe a try. You might be surprised by how much you enjoy it.

Richard: When and where is the celebration being held this year?

Karen: Tell me about the cost of this year's rally.

Wayne Herriford has informed me the Community Center has been approved as the host of the rally. The rally will cost about fifteen thousand dollars to produce this year. Fundraisers have not done well so far this year for the Gay and Lesbian Community Center. We have the Against All Odds band, comedians Danny Williams and Laurie Anderson, "Bridges" the musical, and a 3-month period.

According to the city, no one will be allowed to have public gatherings of over five people, so we expect the festivities to be on a small scale. While we hope for a larger turnout, we must prepare for the worst-case scenario.

The tremendous increases in costs caused us to have some very tough decisions. We have decided to have a gate fee of $10 for adults and $5 for students. We also plan to have a 3 p.m. matinee. The first of two headliners has just been OK'd to perform.

In our column this issue is devoted to bringing you the latest news on the Gay and Lesbian Community Center, and the community at large.

Speaking of Cal Skate, the I.A.F. had a skating party on May 10th at the Mission Skates Landing. The new place is twice as big and so is the skating area. We have the Against All Odds band, comedians Danny Williams and Laurie Anderson, "Bridges" the musical, and a 3-month period.

Bridges is coming to Santa Cruz

At once entertaining and personal, the show explores the theme of Bridges: a passage from one safe place to another over an evolving landscape. The ordinary, second, the show runs from the calm to the deepening. "Bridges" share the evident strength of some of the Santa Cruz theatre company's repertoire. The show is the twin child of multimedia artist Bruce Lee, who directed as well. Local star, Russ Rotberg, adds his expertise as technical director.

Happy to report that I have received several questions from our friends. Thanks to The Watergarden staff for a graduation party on April 27th for the people that attended the STD/Safe Sex Seminar in March.

I was there along with Marti, and we had a swinging good time. We gave all the pertinent info on the classics and handed out some condoms. Everyone eligible to get the Gardaseck and no particular level of sexual activity is required. Although males will be asked participation was invited.

"As with the First Games" we're expecting about 1,500 participants to sign up by the end of August. Gay Games II, to be held in San Francisco, will feature 18 individual and team sports.

The Gay Games are an international multi-sport competition for men and women. They offer sports for both men and women in all categories ranging from walking to running, with more than 1,000 athletes already registered.

Our entries have already passed the total number we registered for Gay Games I last year in New York City. These Games are not just a place to meet people, but to enjoy friendly competition.

Gay Games II entry deadline nears

The June 1 deadline for registering for Gay Games II is fast approaching, with more than 1,300 entries already received.
