Backstage Struggle Marks Gay Pride Celebration

Robin Tyler and supporters storm demand entry to speakers platform

A work of celebration of Gay Pride was coming to a moving close when an estimated 200,000 people lined the city's streets for the Gay Freedom Day Parade on Sunday, June 29. The three hour parade featured 30,000 colorful marchers, with floats and musical units filling the Market Center Plaza for the post-parade fair. Understandably sunny skies, thousands of people joined the Plaza, stepping around on the carnival rides, stuffing themselves with junk food, and bargaining for the fair's goods.

As an incident involving lesbian combatants, Robin Tyler almost marred the otherwise upbeat celebration. Tyler, a member of the Gay Pride Committee's Board of Directors, had been approached by a Native American speaker from the list of celebs, despite denouncement by the organizers of these general members. Tyler had already been a vocal critic of the invitation for the Sydney K. Howard statue, final destiny, June 15. Anne Kronenberg and Willis Brown were added to the program committee.

Disdained at the hour of sched­uled speaker, lesbian activist Marion Vanderscheld, joined by others, attempted to arrange for women to replace her. And it was moments that women's voices, including Tyler, Allen, a woman's just band, through Barbara Cameron, a native American woman, pledged to speak at the end of her act, but no one introduced Tyler. Amy Frazer, co-chair of the Pa­rade Committee, stated that rumors were circulating throughout the day that Tyler and her supporters were going to stage the act in the hour of the city's act. The Parade Committee leaders decided such a move was planned for the Tyler speech rather than to risk a sudden service. When the inci­dent didn't occur at 2 p.m. as expected, the co-chair's claims the rumors were unfounded.

However, at 3:30, the remained inci­dent did indeed occur.

"Our strategy was to speak from the Press Plaza near the stage," said Tyler. She had been invited to speak and was prepared to address the crowd, but unable because of monitors surrounding and con­trolled the microphone. "As many gay men who believed that pushing Tyler toward the main stage, charmingly "We want Robin!"

According to Tyler, "every time the police were chanting "we want Robin," she would not take the microphone and the monitors to remove their official 1-shirts if they felt obliged to press any discriminatory acts. He raised, however, that several monitors remained on this commitment, so that the gate battle became one of monitors versus monitors.

"I looked behind the stage and the situation was bad," said amended Mars­in, one of the monitors. "People were pushing and yelling—and it looked like a riot would start."

As acting in the interest of public safety, Maspin and co-Pac Pie Board pro­ceeded to escort Tyler stage, where Maspin introduced Tyler to the audi­ence as "someone who has be­longed to the Gay Pride Committee for years," it was reported.

"I worked with Tyler and the Speech Committee, she said."

Molinario stated that prior to her less chauvinistically introduction, he had been asked by Barry Keit to intro­duce Tyler. Tyler also said that she had spoken with Barry Keit earlier in the day, and that she had asked the "sheriff's deputy officer to introduce her to the audience.

But Tyler did not do, however, and later stated that although he supported Tyler in her efforts to speak, his concern was that an ugly incident would not take place.

Alan Johnson, who was standing as the presence of the crowds, said, "the gate, a squeal against between Barry and Maspin. Barry then said to Alan, "Don't go to the stage.""

Once stage, Tyler spoke about what she "can play any gay perception"during the Holocaust, the "gay disco" in this country, in San Francisco, and the Santa Clara County rights defined as instances of an anti-gay bogey.

While most people agreed that the speech was generally well­received, some of the gay received an angry response. Tyler was angry about the tactics Tyler employed to gain access to the stage.

During the conviction, photographing Gays was staging stopping was taken from the press area behind the stage. It was alleged to have the area by Security Director Bob Futch, in spite of the ability to breach the barrier. "I asked him to leave, but he refused to leave the area," said the 부, Security Director Bob Futch, in spite of the ability to breach the barrier. According to Fournier, "I asked him to leave and told that we should clear the area.

During the predemonstration (which took place around 12:00), there were some people in the fairgrounds didn't even know the incident had occurred. They were busy in the fair, riding the carnival fair and eating the food."

"I am crazy, I am crazy, I am crazy," said an unidentified woman attempts to keep comic Robin Tyler (center, with finger in mouth) from passing through the entry gate to the speakers platform at the Gay Freedom Day Celebration. Photographer Greg Day was expelled from the press area for taking pictures of the incident.

A plank calling for an end to "un­fair treatment during the Holocaust, the "gay disco" in this country, in San Francisco, and the Santa Clara County rights defined as instances of an anti-gay bogey.

"We want Robin!" Tyler's call was interrupted by a group of people in the fairgrounds who didn't even know the incident had occurred. They were busy in the fair, riding the carnival fair and eating the food."

"I am crazy, I am crazy, I am crazy," said an unidentified woman attempts to keep comic Robin Tyler (center, with finger in mouth) from passing through the entry gate to the speakers platform at the Gay Freedom Day Celebration. Photographer Greg Day was expelled from the press area for taking pictures of the incident.
SYLVESTER, CUT GLASS, THE RITCHIE FAMILY, ODYSSEY, DEBBIE JACOBS, THE VILLAGE PEOPLE AND DIANA ROSS HAVE ALL BEEN TO DREAMLAND...

WHEN THE SUN GOES DOWN — THE STARS COME OUT TO DREAMLAND!
Inside the Battle for a Gay Rights Plank

In Congress

The Sixth

Congressional Hearings on Sexual Orientation

The U.S. Catholic Conference, which serves as the ecumenical center of the U.S. Church, has been at the forefront of the battle for gay rights. The conference has been working closely with bishops and other religious leaders to advocate for the rights of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) people.

The conference has been involved in various efforts to promote the rights of gay people. For example, it has supported the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibited discrimination based on race, color, national origin, sex, or religion.

The conference has also been involved in efforts to address the discrimination faced by gay people in the workplace. In 2015, the conference supported the passage of the Employment Non-Discrimination Act (ENDA), which prohibits discrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity.

The conference has also been involved in efforts to address the discrimination faced by gay people in the area of housing. In 2017, the conference supported the passage of the Fair Housing Act of 2017, which prohibits discrimination in housing based on sexual orientation and gender identity.

The conference has also been involved in efforts to address the discrimination faced by gay people in the area of education. In 2018, the conference supported the passage of the Equality Act, which would prohibit discrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity in education.

In addition to these efforts, the conference has also been involved in efforts to address the discrimination faced by gay people in the area of health care. In 2019, the conference supported the passage of the Affordable Care Act, which prohibits discrimination in health care based on sexual orientation and gender identity.

The conference has also been involved in efforts to address the discrimination faced by gay people in the area of public accommodations. In 2020, the conference supported the passage of the Equality Act, which would prohibit discrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity in public accommodations.

In conclusion, the U.S. Catholic Conference has been a leader in the battle for gay rights. The conference has been involved in various efforts to address the discrimination faced by gay people in various areas of life, including employment, housing, education, and health care.

First Gay Refugee Arrives in San Francisco

Gustavelo, a Cuban gay man, has arrived in San Francisco. He is the first gay refugee to arrive in the city.

Gustavelo had been living in Miami, where he had been living with his partner. They were forced to leave Miami when they were targeted by the Cuban government.

Gustavelo's arrival in San Francisco is significant because it marks the first time a gay refugee has been allowed to enter the city.

The San Francisco government has been working to resettle gay refugees in the city. It has been working to provide them with housing, food, and other resources.

The city has also been working to provide gay refugees with legal assistance. It has been working to help them navigate the legal system and to provide them with legal representation.

Gustavelo's arrival in San Francisco is a significant step forward in the battle for gay rights. It is a sign that the city is committed to providing a safe and welcoming environment for all people, regardless of their sexual orientation.

In conclusion, the arrival of Gustavelo in San Francisco is a significant step forward in the battle for gay rights. It is a sign that the city is committed to providing a safe and welcoming environment for all people, regardless of their sexual orientation.
Gays may provide margin of victory in presidential election

Gay Power Comes of Age

The presence of Wells and literally seen progress made only after some blood is shed on convention floors. But the progress is nonetheless sub-

"Today, Anderson's independent campaign for the presidency relies on a number of key gay staffers who are organizing a political force to be dealt with a free fight for gay rights that lingers in the communities for the first time. A similar situation will be put to them soon. George Gates have been elected, a larger convention than others presidential candidates would cost at least $230,000. "The people with the biggest bucks on the ticket" is potentially both attractive and problematic.

"Whether Reagan will take up gay rights as a campaign issue himself is uncertain, but it seems unlikely that he will disregard the statements of his supporters who are adamant in their opposition to gays."

Even before the start of his campaign, Anderson's gay candidates have been running successfully. In California, candidates for state office have been elected, including a former gay supervisor and a gay lawyer. In Illinois, a gay man has won a congressional seat. And in Massachusetts, a gay woman has been elected to the state legislature.

The most common times for relationship formation, according to Morin and Moon, are during the first year of a relationship. "The Boy" is described as "tending to be somewhat more dominant and assertive than the Girl."

"The Boy, Morin continued, "tends to be somewhat more dominant and assertive than the Girl. This is due to the fact that the Boy is often seen as the provider, while the Girl is more likely to be the one who needs to be nurtured."

The most common times for relationship formation, according to Morin and Moon, are during the first year of a relationship. This is due to the fact that the Boy is often seen as the provider, while the Girl is more likely to be the one who needs to be nurtured.

The most common times for relationship formation, according to Morin and Moon, are during the first year of a relationship. This is due to the fact that the Boy is often seen as the provider, while the Girl is more likely to be the one who needs to be nurtured.
Anti-Gay Violence on the Rise in San Francisco

by Mark

As 8:00 p.m. approached Friday night in the city's Tenderloin district, Bobby Hark, a gay man and Babcock West's son, was standing outside his favorite restaurant, BRASSERIE, along with a friend. They sat near the door and were talking when a man with a knife approached and began yanking at Mr. Hark's hair. The bar was crowded, and there was a long line outside. Suddenly, the man began attacking Mr. Hark. He pulled out his mace and sprayed the attacker, and the men fled. Mr. Hark and his friend were hit several times, and Mr. Hark's friend was taken to the hospital. The attacker was not caught.

The gay community is used to being targeted by violence, but the recent wave of attacks has hit hard. In San Francisco, gay men and lesbians have been attacked in public spaces, in bars, on the street, and even in their homes. The attacks have been physical, verbal, and sometimes deadly. The community is now on high alert, and people are guardedly optimistic that the attacks will end soon.

Inflation-fighter President

Inflation-fighter President George Bush's last day in office is Friday. A new administration begins January 20, and the transition is already underway. Mr. Bush's legacy will be measured in the coming months, as the economy struggles to recover from the recession.

The president has been praised for his leadership during the war on terrorism, but his approval ratings have fallen in recent months. Mr. Bush's policies have been criticized for their impact on the economy and the environment. The president's legacy will be decided by the American people, and the future of the country will be shaped by the choices they make in the years to come.

to his network
Houston Gay Leader Killed On Eve of Gay Pride Parade

by Chris Barker

On the eve of the 1988 Gay Pride Parade, the Houston gay community was shocked to learn of the shooting of Fred Paez, the secretary of the parade organizers. Paez, a prominent figure in the community, was killed in an apparent police shootout. The shooting occurred during a routine traffic stop in the early hours of the morning, as Paez was driving to the parade route.

The shooting sparked outrage and demand for answers, as Paez had been an active member of the Houston Gay Pride Parade committee for several years. The community was especially shocked by the incident because the parade was scheduled for the next day, and thousands of people were expected to attend.

The Houston Gay Pride Parade had been a well-organized event, drawing thousands of participants and spectators each year. The parade was known for its vibrant atmosphere and celebration of gay pride, with floats, music, and dance performances. The shooting of Paez was seen as a tragedy that threatened to mar the event.

In the aftermath of the shooting, there were calls for a full investigation into the incident. Police officers were questioned, and a task force was established to look into the case. The task force, led by Gay Pride Parade控制器 Ken Spear, aimed to determine whether the shooting was accidental or intentional.

Spear, who had been a member of the parade committee, said that Paez had stopped and talked to a police officer before the shooting occurred. The officer, who had pulled over Paez for a routine traffic violation, was later identified as Officer K.M. McCoy. The officer had been off duty when he pulled over Paez.

McCoy was under investigation for another incident involving excessive force, and it was discovered that he had a history of confrontational behavior with the gay community. The shooting of Paez appeared to be related to this incident, raising concerns about police misconduct.

In the days following the shooting, Paez's friends and family spoke about his love for the community and his dedication to the parade. They said that Paez had been a vital part of the parade committee, working tirelessly to ensure its success.

Despite the tragedy, the Houston Gay Pride Parade proceeded as planned, with thousands of participants and spectators coming together to celebrate gay pride. The event was a testament to the community's resilience and determination to continue celebrating despite the loss.

Houston Gay Leader Killed On Eve of Gay Pride Parade

by Chris Barker

On the eve of the 1988 Gay Pride Parade, the Houston gay community was shocked to learn of the shooting of Fred Paez, the secretary of the parade organizers. Paez, a prominent figure in the community, was killed in an apparent police shootout. The shooting occurred during a routine traffic stop in the early hours of the morning, as Paez was driving to the parade route.

The shooting sparked outrage and demand for answers, as Paez had been an active member of the Houston Gay Pride Parade committee for several years. The community was especially shocked by the incident because the parade was scheduled for the next day, and thousands of people were expected to attend.

The Houston Gay Pride Parade had been a well-organized event, drawing thousands of participants and spectators each year. The parade was known for its vibrant atmosphere and celebration of gay pride, with floats, music, and dance performances. The shooting of Paez was seen as a tragedy that threatened to mar the event.

In the aftermath of the shooting, there were calls for a full investigation into the incident. Police officers were questioned, and a task force was established to look into the case. The task force, led by Gay Pride Parade controller Ken Spear, aimed to determine whether the shooting was accidental or intentional.

Spear, who had been a member of the parade committee, said that Paez had stopped and talked to a police officer before the shooting occurred. The officer, who had pulled over Paez for a routine traffic violation, was later identified as Officer K.M. McCoy. The officer had been off duty when he pulled over Paez.

McCoy was under investigation for another incident involving excessive force, and it was discovered that he had a history of confrontational behavior with the gay community. The shooting of Paez appeared to be related to this incident, raising concerns about police misconduct.

In the days following the shooting, Paez's friends and family spoke about his love for the community and his dedication to the parade. They said that Paez had been a vital part of the parade committee, working tirelessly to ensure its success.

Despite the tragedy, the Houston Gay Pride Parade proceeded as planned, with thousands of participants and spectators coming together to celebrate gay pride. The event was a testament to the community's resilience and determination to continue celebrating despite the loss.
DANCE
Brilliant mime performance at Zellerbach Playhouse

Dance: La Roue

by Louise Bourgeois

S t o r y

Louise Bourgeois born in 1911 in Argentina, the daughter of a French diplomat, Bourgeois entered the world of art at the age of 13. After a brief education in architecture, Bourgeois became involved in the world of sculpture, painting, and photography. She has been associated with several important art movements, including Surrealism and Dada. Bourgeois is best known for her sculptures, which are often figurative and explore themes of identity, family, and memory. Her work has been exhibited in numerous museums and galleries around the world.

Bay Area Dance Coalition Hits the Big Time

Choreographers: Chiubile, Zellerbach Playhouse

D ance: Bay Area Dance Coalition

The Bay Area Dance Coalition is a collective of local dance companies that have come together to promote and support the growth of dance in the San Francisco Bay Area. The coalition is made up of a diverse group of companies, ranging from small, experimental groups to larger, more established companies. The coalition aims to provide a platform for these companies to showcase their work, connect with other artists, and build a community of support for dancers in the region.

MOVIE NEWS & NOTES

Why Shoot The Music?

by Edward Catron

N atally, baby of Muriel, can sing, and Dad is a composer. When Dad dies and Mom leaves the family, Muriel decides to take matters into her own hands. She begins to make a name for herself in the music world and becomes a successful performer. However, her success comes at a cost, as she must navigate the pressures of the entertainment industry and the expectations of her family. The film follows Muriel as she strives to find her own voice and make a mark in the music world.

SUNDANCE STUDIO

MEN'S MOVEMENT

Mangrove Back for the Summer

Mangrove, the San Francisco Mime Troupe's Subscription Theater, returns for its annual summer season with a series of innovative performances incorporating dance, theater, and music. The subscription theater is a space where artists can explore new forms of expression and connect with audiences in a unique and intimate setting. This summer, Mangrove presents a diverse lineup of shows, including a special evening with Sharon McNight, a hand-picked selection of short films, and live theater performances. Join us for an unforgettable summer of creative expression and artistic discovery.
Rape Is a Violation of the Soul

The film "Sunlit Waters, Tanned Skin and Retarded Moralizing" directed by Randall Kleiser is an American drama film released in 1980. The film portrays the experience of a young woman, Suzanne, who is raped after being plied with alcohol at a party. The film is based on a true story, and it explores the psychological and emotional impact of sexual assault on the victim.

The film is notable for its raw and authentic portrayal of rape and its consequences. The character of Suzanne is depicted as struggling to come to terms with her trauma, and the film highlights the societal and personal challenges faced by survivors of sexual assault.

The film is distributed by Warner Bros. and is available in DVD format. It has received mixed reviews, with some critics praising its realism and others criticizing its portrayal of the male character, who is depicted as a victim rather than a perpetrator of the assault.

The film was released on July 17, 1980, in the United States. It was directed by Randall Kleiser and stars the late Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action (played by Micheline Lanctot).

The film was a commercial success, grossing over $10 million in the United States and becoming a cult classic. It has since gained a following for its honest portrayal of sexual assault and its exploration of the complex emotions experienced by survivors.

The fall of President Clinton in 1998 brought a renewed interest in the film, and it has since become a touchstone for discussions about sexual assault and its effects. The film continues to be screened in university classrooms and at film festivals around the world.

Airplane Fails To Take Off

The film "Sunlit Waters, Tanned Skin and Retarded Moralizing" is a well-known piece of American gay subculture. The film is directed by Randall Kleiser and stars Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action. The film was released in 1980 and is distributed by Warner Bros.

The film is notable for its raw and authentic portrayal of rape and its consequences. The character of Suzanne is depicted as struggling to come to terms with her trauma, and the film highlights the societal and personal challenges faced by survivors of sexual assault.

The film is distributed by Warner Bros. and is available in DVD format. It has received mixed reviews, with some critics praising its realism and others criticizing its portrayal of the male character, who is depicted as a victim rather than a perpetrator of the assault.

The film was released on July 17, 1980, in the United States. It was directed by Randall Kleiser and stars the late Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action (played by Micheline Lanctot).

The film was a commercial success, grossing over $10 million in the United States and becoming a cult classic. It has since gained a following for its honest portrayal of sexual assault and its exploration of the complex emotions experienced by survivors.

The film was released on July 17, 1980, in the United States. It was directed by Randall Kleiser and stars the late Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action (played by Micheline Lanctot).

The film was a commercial success, grossing over $10 million in the United States and becoming a cult classic. It has since gained a following for its honest portrayal of sexual assault and its exploration of the complex emotions experienced by survivors.

The film was released on July 17, 1980, in the United States. It was directed by Randall Kleiser and stars the late Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action (played by Micheline Lanctot).

The film was a commercial success, grossing over $10 million in the United States and becoming a cult classic. It has since gained a following for its honest portrayal of sexual assault and its exploration of the complex emotions experienced by survivors.

The film was released on July 17, 1980, in the United States. It was directed by Randall Kleiser and stars the late Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action (played by Micheline Lanctot).

The film was a commercial success, grossing over $10 million in the United States and becoming a cult classic. It has since gained a following for its honest portrayal of sexual assault and its exploration of the complex emotions experienced by survivors.

The film was released on July 17, 1980, in the United States. It was directed by Randall Kleiser and stars the late Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action (played by Micheline Lanctot).

The film was a commercial success, grossing over $10 million in the United States and becoming a cult classic. It has since gained a following for its honest portrayal of sexual assault and its exploration of the complex emotions experienced by survivors.

The film was released on July 17, 1980, in the United States. It was directed by Randall Kleiser and stars the late Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action (played by Micheline Lanctot).

The film was a commercial success, grossing over $10 million in the United States and becoming a cult classic. It has since gained a following for its honest portrayal of sexual assault and its exploration of the complex emotions experienced by survivors.

The film was released on July 17, 1980, in the United States. It was directed by Randall Kleiser and stars the late Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action (played by Micheline Lanctot).

The film was a commercial success, grossing over $10 million in the United States and becoming a cult classic. It has since gained a following for its honest portrayal of sexual assault and its exploration of the complex emotions experienced by survivors.

The film was released on July 17, 1980, in the United States. It was directed by Randall Kleiser and stars the late Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action (played by Micheline Lanctot).

The film was a commercial success, grossing over $10 million in the United States and becoming a cult classic. It has since gained a following for its honest portrayal of sexual assault and its exploration of the complex emotions experienced by survivors.

The film was released on July 17, 1980, in the United States. It was directed by Randall Kleiser and stars the late Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action (played by Micheline Lanctot).

The film was a commercial success, grossing over $10 million in the United States and becoming a cult classic. It has since gained a following for its honest portrayal of sexual assault and its exploration of the complex emotions experienced by survivors.

The film was released on July 17, 1980, in the United States. It was directed by Randall Kleiser and stars the late Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action (played by Micheline Lanctot).

The film was a commercial success, grossing over $10 million in the United States and becoming a cult classic. It has since gained a following for its honest portrayal of sexual assault and its exploration of the complex emotions experienced by survivors.

The film was released on July 17, 1980, in the United States. It was directed by Randall Kleiser and stars the late Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action (played by Micheline Lanctot).

The film was a commercial success, grossing over $10 million in the United States and becoming a cult classic. It has since gained a following for its honest portrayal of sexual assault and its exploration of the complex emotions experienced by survivors.

The film was released on July 17, 1980, in the United States. It was directed by Randall Kleiser and stars the late Rance Howard and Full-Blow Action (played by Micheline Lanctot).

The film was a commercial success, grossing over $10 million in the United States and becoming a cult classic. It has since gained a following for its honest portrayal of sexual assault and its exploration of the complex emotions experienced by survivors.
The Plush Room Goes For Glory

by Michael Marshall

Before one can get to the heart of any cabaret review, it is essential to write down what night the review is taking place. No one wants to be disappointed by a show that is not there. However, it would have been a great disappointment if one had not attended The Plush Room's evening of July 4.

The Plush Room boasted a large stage and a large audience. The audience was well dressed and the stage was decorated with black curtains. The performers were singing their hearts out. The music was delightful and the audience was completely absorbed. The Plush Room presented a night of pure entertainment.

The Plush Room is a cabaret that is well known for its performances. The cabaret is located in the heart of San Francisco and is well known for its live music. The cabaret is popular with both locals and tourists and is a must-see for anyone visiting San Francisco.

The Plush Room has been hosting live music for over 30 years and is still going strong. The cabaret is located in the heart of San Francisco and is well known for its live music. The cabaret is popular with both locals and tourists and is a must-see for anyone visiting San Francisco.

A Festival of Masses

The Ambrose Weber Society presents a performance of the Ambrose Weber Society's Festival of Masses. The performance will take place at 8 p.m. on Saturday, July 11, at the First Baptist Church of San Francisco.

The Ambrose Weber Society is a group of singers who perform at the First Baptist Church of San Francisco. The society has performed many times at the church and is well known for its high-quality performances.

The Festival of Masses will feature a variety of songs from the Ambrose Weber Society's repertoire. The society will also perform a number of songs from other composers, including George Frideric Handel and Peter Schickele.

The performance will be conducted by Dr. Richard W. Vosika, the director of music at the First Baptist Church of San Francisco. Dr. Wosika is a well-known conductor and has conducted many performances of the Ambrose Weber Society.

The performance will be held at the First Baptist Church of San Francisco, located at 1650 Valencia Street, San Francisco. The church is located in the heart of the city and is easily accessible by public transportation.

A Gay Introduction Service

The Plush Room offers a gay introduction service for those looking to meet new people. The service is available every day, and the Plush Room is open from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m., with a full menu served.

The Plush Room is located at 1050 Castro Street, San Francisco, and is a popular gay and lesbian-friendly bar. The bar is located in the heart of the Castro District, which is known for its vibrant gay community.

The Plush Room offers a variety of drinks and food, as well as a range of entertainment options, including live music and karaoke. The bar is open every day from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m., and is a great place to meet new people and socialize with friends.

Gilbert and Sullivan production

A Tale of Lords and Fairies

In the new farce, "The Plush Room Goes For Glory," Gilbert and Sullivan's "A Tale of Lords and Fairies" is presented as a cabaret-style performance. The cabaret-style performance is designed to bring the music and lyrics of the original work to life in a new and exciting way.

The cabaret-style performance features a variety of songs from the original work, as well as new adaptations and arrangements. The performance is directed by Michael Marshall, who has a long history of working with Gilbert and Sullivan's music.

The performance will take place on July 11, at 8 p.m., at the First Baptist Church of San Francisco. The church is located at 1650 Valencia Street, San Francisco, and is easily accessible by public transportation.

The performance is open to the public and is free of charge. However, a donation is suggested to support the work of the Ambrose Weber Society.

The Plush Room is located at 1050 Castro Street, San Francisco, and is a popular gay and lesbian-friendly bar. The bar is located in the heart of the Castro District, which is known for its vibrant gay community.

The Plush Room offers a variety of drinks and food, as well as a range of entertainment options, including live music and karaoke. The bar is open every day from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m., and is a great place to meet new people and socialize with friends.

The Plush Room offers a gay introduction service for those looking to meet new people. The service is available every day, and the Plush Room is open from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m., with a full menu served.
Allen Ginsberg Revisited

by Steve Gilbert

As paradox of paradox be may be the most enigmatic of the Beats. Certainly the most controversial, Ginsberg has been at the forefront of literary and social revolution for over 30 years. His works, ranging from the poetic to the novelistic, have been published around the world and have been widely praised for their audacity and originality.

The most exciting readings of my life. He'd been a great writer for me to read. He was a master of the English language, and his poetry is a masterpiece of its kind. I have a few pages, $5.95.

And of course there are many famous poet and homosexual in history, such as Allen Ginsberg, Peter Orlovsky, and John Dillinger. All the other names, none of them had any charisma. But the only one who was always there was to be Allen Ginsberg. He is the man who has been murdered by an AWOL he. He didn't seem larger than life, or the Ayatollahs. But those days are gone, not only for Allen, but for the Beatniks as such, and the pro-pot, anti-war Beatniks.

Ginsberg is the last poet of the larger-than-life generation, the legend of the South of Market, the man who has the guts to say what others are afraid to say. He is the only one that talks about the world today, the world of the present, the world of the future.
The Val Strough Company understands that you make a statement of your own personal style in every action that you take. Your style is your own. When you choose a new car or truck, you express who you are. And when you're ready to make that choice, we want to serve you.

The Val Strough Company. Seven showrooms and eight makes, from luxury to economy, Chevrolet, Honda, Jaguar, Mazda, MG, Triumph, Subaru and Volkswagen.

Experience Val Strough's difference. The outstanding design of our showrooms. Like nothing you expect. And our salespeople. No high pressure pitch. Because we respect your freedom to think and act for yourself.

It's your power. It's your style. And at Val Strough we have a vehicle for it.

Val Strough Leasing
3330 Broadway
Oakland, Phone 658-4700

Val Strough Chevrolet
3330 Broadway
Oakland, Phone 658-4700

Val Strough Mazda
3960 Broadway
Oakland, Phone 652-3031

Val Strough Honda of Oakland
2355 Broadway
Oakland, Phone 428-1776

Val Strough British
11820 San Pablo Avenue
El Cerrito, Phone 529-1323

Val Strough Honda of El Cerrito
11858 San Pablo Avenue
El Cerrito, Phone 529-1323

Val Strough Subaru
929 San Pablo Avenue
Albany, Phone 525-4914

Val Strough Volkswagen
718 San Pablo Avenue
Albany, Phone 526-2942

The Val Strough Company

Chevrolet, Honda, Jaguar, Mazda, MG, Triumph, Subaru and Volkswagen.