Federal Panel Rejects Reform of Anti-Gay Immigration Law

Larry Bush

(Washington, D.C.) The residents of the problems of gay people face now due to a newly conservative Washington Senate this week in the Select Commission on Immigration and Refugee Policy, a panel of a congressional backlashed, forcibly rejected a proposal advocating the reform of the nation's anti­ immigrant laws.

The surprise action, which comes as a major defeat for gay activists, leaves the new Congress with a reconsideration of immigration laws that continue many of the nation's anti­ immigrant provisions. However, the Senate's vote to reject the commission's proposal was taken without a formal vote of the United States Senate.

The Select Commission, targeted for the next round of gay rights in a more than a year, was generally thought to be a sympathetic of reform of what some of its members called "archaic" immigration law. The sudden shift to avoid the gay exclusion was termed "shockingly" by one gay observer at the meeting. The commission, which had been formed by the House and Senate to make recommendations to the House committee on immigration reform, voted against the proposal.

At the final Commission meeting Monday Allen Shapiro, chairman of the Commission and member of the new Senate and House Immigration Subdivisions, urged that the panel reject a new proposal to end the exclusion against gays and a similar proposal by a separate group of gay activists, the National Gay Rights Coalition, and General Benjamin Civiletti.

"This is not a question of how to define gay rights; it is a question of how to define the rights of others," Shapiro said. "We have to make it clear that we are not dealing with the issue of the rights of gay people but with the issue of the rights of others."

Shapiro told the commission that the proposal before them was not a new one and that the commission had already voted against it during earlier meetings. The commission, he said, had voted against the proposal because of the potential for confusion and the need for further discussion.

The commission's decision was a blow to the plan for a new immigration bill, which has been proposed by the House committee on immigration reform and has been supported by the Senate. The commission's decision, which was made by a vote of 10 to 7, was a setback for the activists who have been pushing for a new immigration bill for the past few years.

The decision could have significant effects on the future of the immigration bill, as the House committee is expected to reintroduce the bill in the next Congress. The commission's decision, however, is not final and the House committee is expected to continue its efforts to pass a new immigration bill.

The gay community had relied primarily on Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) for support in the fight for a new immigration bill. Kennedy, the Senate's most visible gay advocate, has been a strong proponent of immigration reform and has been a leader in the effort to pass a new immigration bill.

The commission's decision, however, is not final and the House committee is expected to continue its efforts to pass a new immigration bill. The commission's decision, however, is not final and the House committee is expected to continue its efforts to pass a new immigration bill.

The gay community had relied primarily on Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) for support in the fight for a new immigration bill. Kennedy, the Senate's most visible gay advocate, has been a strong proponent of immigration reform and has been a leader in the effort to pass a new immigration bill.

The commission's decision, however, is not final and the House committee is expected to continue its efforts to pass a new immigration bill. The commission's decision, however, is not final and the House committee is expected to continue its efforts to pass a new immigration bill.

The gay community had relied primarily on Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) for support in the fight for a new immigration bill. Kennedy, the Senate's most visible gay advocate, has been a strong proponent of immigration reform and has been a leader in the effort to pass a new immigration bill.

The commission's decision, however, is not final and the House committee is expected to continue its efforts to pass a new immigration bill. The commission's decision, however, is not final and the House committee is expected to continue its efforts to pass a new immigration bill.

The gay community had relied primarily on Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) for support in the fight for a new immigration bill. Kennedy, the Senate's most visible gay advocate, has been a strong proponent of immigration reform and has been a leader in the effort to pass a new immigration bill.

The commission's decision, however, is not final and the House committee is expected to continue its efforts to pass a new immigration bill. The commission's decision, however, is not final and the House committee is expected to continue its efforts to pass a new immigration bill.

The gay community had relied primarily on Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) for support in the fight for a new immigration bill. Kennedy, the Senate's most visible gay advocate, has been a strong proponent of immigration reform and has been a leader in the effort to pass a new immigration bill.

The commission's decision, however, is not final and the House committee is expected to continue its efforts to pass a new immigration bill. The commission's decision, however, is not final and the House committee is expected to continue its efforts to pass a new immigration bill.

The gay community had relied primarily on Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) for support in the fight for a new immigration bill. Kennedy, the Senate's most visible gay advocate, has been a strong proponent of immigration reform and has been a leader in the effort to pass a new immigration bill.

The commission's decision, however, is not final and the House committee is expected to continue its efforts to pass a new immigration bill. The commission's decision, however, is not final and the House committee is expected to continue its efforts to pass a new immigration bill.
Security Agency Allows Gay Man to Keep Job

NYU Senate Fails to Ban Discriminatory Recruiters

SF Supes Urge USF to End Discrimination

Court Upholds Library Ban on Gay Newspaper

Coalition Plans Inauguration Protest

Study on Straight Women Working with Gay Men

PEOPLE

EL MIRASOL VILLAS

for the cognoscenti

HELLO, I LOVE YOU

WE'RE SAN FRANCISCO'S BEST KEPT SECRET!

Security Agency Allows Gay Man to Keep Job

Gary Buse

Washington, D.C. — The Central Intelligence Agency has allowed Gary Buse to keep his job, breaking with the administration's policy of discharging such workers.

Buse, 30, a former CIA agent who had been under investigation for more than a year, was fired on Oct. 22. But the CIA reversed its decision and reinstated him on Jan. 10.

The reinstatement came after Buse's attorney, Robert C. Morell, met with CIA Director William J. Casey to review the case.

Buse, who was born a woman and raised a man, had served in the Air Force and worked as a CIA intelligence officer before being discharged for homosexual conduct.

He was rehired as a civilian warrant officer and was assigned to the CIA's Counterintelligence Division, which is responsible for screening new employees.

Court Upholds Library Ban on Gay Newspaper

In a victory for the American Library Association, the Court of Appeals affirmed the lower court's ruling that the San Francisco Public Library is entitled to $3,600 in damages for the refusal to accept a collection of gay and lesbian books.

The library had refused to accept the collection of gay and lesbian books because of their content.

The court ruled that the library had not shown that the books were not suitable for children.

Coalition Plans Inauguration Protest

The coalition that organized the著名的 gay rights march in San Francisco on Saturday, Dec. 22, plans to protest the inauguration of President Reagan.

The coalition, which includes members of the Gay Community Services and the American Civil Liberties Union, has asked for 100,000 signatures to send to the president.

Study on Straight Women Working with Gay Men

A study by the University of California at Berkeley found that straight women are more likely than men to work with gay men.

The study, which was published in the journal Sex Roles, found that straight women are more likely than men to work in organizations that support lesbians and gays.

PEOPLE

EL MIRASOL VILLAS

for the cognoscenti

HELLO, I LOVE YOU

WE'RE SAN FRANCISCO'S BEST KEPT SECRET!

The bargains you'll find at Roberts Design Dimensions during the month of January are not to be believed! We're cleaning house and everything is on sale. You can choose a chrome and glass cocktail table either square or rectangular and pay only $29. Directors chairs are only $34. Solid wood dining tables that seat six as low as $139. Track lighting $34 and many one of a kind items in our clearance cave at lowest prices possible. Why not buy a pair of peacock chairs only $49.95!

The bargains you'll find at Roberts Design Dimensions during the month of January are not to be believed! We're cleaning house and everything is on sale. You can choose a chrome and glass cocktail table either square or rectangular and pay only $29. Directors chairs are only $34. Solid wood dining tables that seat six as low as $139. Track lighting $34 and many one of a kind items in our clearance cave at lowest prices possible. Why not buy a pair of peacock chairs only $49.95!
Gay Hotel Owners Oppose Hotel Conversion Ordinance

In San Francisco, various gay hotel owners have united to oppose a measure that would require them to pay for an audit of their buildings' safety and security, and to pay for any improvements that may be found. The measure, which is being considered by the City Planning Commission, would affect the owners of gay hotels in the Castro district, which is known for its vibrant gay community.

The gay hotel owners are concerned that the measure would be costly and would disrupt their businesses. They argue that the measure is discriminatory and that it is not necessary to improve the safety and security of their buildings. They also argue that the measure would be burdensome for other small businesses in the city.

The gay hotel owners are concerned that the measure would be costly and would disrupt their businesses. They argue that the measure is discriminatory and that it is not necessary to improve the safety and security of their buildings. They also argue that the measure would be burdensome for other small businesses in the city.

The gay hotel owners are concerned that the measure would be costly and would disrupt their businesses. They argue that the measure is discriminatory and that it is not necessary to improve the safety and security of their buildings. They also argue that the measure would be burdensome for other small businesses in the city.

Although the measure has been a major source of concern for gay hotel owners, it has also been a source of controversy for the City Planning Commission. Some members of the commission have expressed concern that the measure would be discriminatory and that it would be costly for small businesses. Others have argued that the measure is necessary to improve the safety and security of the city's buildings.

The gay hotel owners are concerned that the measure would be costly and would disrupt their businesses. They argue that the measure is discriminatory and that it is not necessary to improve the safety and security of their buildings. They also argue that the measure would be burdensome for other small businesses in the city.

The gay hotel owners are concerned that the measure would be costly and would disrupt their businesses. They argue that the measure is discriminatory and that it is not necessary to improve the safety and security of their buildings. They also argue that the measure would be burdensome for other small businesses in the city.

The gay hotel owners are concerned that the measure would be costly and would disrupt their businesses. They argue that the measure is discriminatory and that it is not necessary to improve the safety and security of their buildings. They also argue that the measure would be burdensome for other small businesses in the city.

The gay hotel owners are concerned that the measure would be costly and would disrupt their businesses. They argue that the measure is discriminatory and that it is not necessary to improve the safety and security of their buildings. They also argue that the measure would be burdensome for other small businesses in the city.

The gay hotel owners are concerned that the measure would be costly and would disrupt their businesses. They argue that the measure is discriminatory and that it is not necessary to improve the safety and security of their buildings. They also argue that the measure would be burdensome for other small businesses in the city.

The gay hotel owners are concerned that the measure would be costly and would disrupt their businesses. They argue that the measure is discriminatory and that it is not necessary to improve the safety and security of their buildings. They also argue that the measure would be burdensome for other small businesses in the city.

The gay hotel owners are concerned that the measure would be costly and would disrupt their businesses. They argue that the measure is discriminatory and that it is not necessary to improve the safety and security of their buildings. They also argue that the measure would be burdensome for other small businesses in the city.

The gay hotel owners are concerned that the measure would be costly and would disrupt their businesses. They argue that the measure is discriminatory and that it is not necessary to improve the safety and security of their buildings. They also argue that the measure would be burdensome for other small businesses in the city.

The gay hotel owners are concerned that the measure would be costly and would disrupt their businesses. They argue that the measure is discriminatory and that it is not necessary to improve the safety and security of their buildings. They also argue that the measure would be burdensome for other small businesses in the city.

The gay hotel owners are concerned that the measure would be costly and would disrupt their businesses. They argue that the measure is discriminatory and that it is not necessary to improve the safety and security of their buildings. They also argue that the measure would be burdensome for other small businesses in the city.
1980 News In Review

San Francisco hosted a number of anti-Crushing demonstrations outside the theater in opening night along with the 11th national conference of the Democratic National Convention.

1980 was not merely a year of love. It was also the year of the growth of gay activism. A number of organizations were formed to support the cause of gay rights, including the National Gay Task Force, which was established in 1978.

Power/Gay Politics

Along with Mayor Moscone, San Francisco Supervisor Harvey Milk was assassinated by a gun-carrying state official in the gay bar, the Stonewall Inn, in New York City. Milk was a vocal advocate for gay rights and was one of the leaders of the gay rights movement.

The next month Dutch officials released an official document which prohibited foreign gays from entering the country. This was the first official document to include such a ban.

In October the undergraduate student body at Reed College in Portland, Oregon, was granted use of the college's facilities on the condition that they be used by all students, including gay students.

In June the Select Committee on Immigration and Refugees in the U.S. Senate was established by the U.S. Senate with a mandate to investigate how to end the exclusionary policy of the immigration law.

In November for the first time ever, the U.S. Surgeon General of San Francisco released a report which stated that the U.S. military should be open to gay soldiers. This was the first time a government official had endorsed such a policy.

In October the undergraduate student body at Reed College in Portland, Oregon, was granted use of the college's facilities on the condition that they be used by all students, including gay students.

In November for the first time ever, the U.S. Surgeon General of San Francisco released a report which stated that the U.S. military should be open to gay soldiers. This was the first time a government official had endorsed such a policy.

In October the undergraduate student body at Reed College in Portland, Oregon, was granted use of the college's facilities on the condition that they be used by all students, including gay students.

In November for the first time ever, the U.S. Surgeon General of San Francisco released a report which stated that the U.S. military should be open to gay soldiers. This was the first time a government official had endorsed such a policy.

In October the undergraduate student body at Reed College in Portland, Oregon, was granted use of the college's facilities on the condition that they be used by all students, including gay students.

In November for the first time ever, the U.S. Surgeon General of San Francisco released a report which stated that the U.S. military should be open to gay soldiers. This was the first time a government official had endorsed such a policy.

In October the undergraduate student body at Reed College in Portland, Oregon, was granted use of the college's facilities on the condition that they be used by all students, including gay students.
ON LIVE!

POLICE REVIEW: There were a few...
The Top Six LPs of 1980

TORY IS HANDSOME, RICH, SOPHISTICATED, AND SHAMELESS. FROM HUSTLER TO OWNER OF THE HOTTEST NIGHTCLUB IN TOWN, TORY HAS IT MADE. HE CAN HAVE ANYTHING—AND ANYONE—HE WANTS. EXCEPT THE MAN HE LOVES.
The Royal Path of Hatha Yoga

Tony Robinson

Tony Robinson, whose parents are of Mexican origin, grew up in the barrio of San Francisco at 20th and Bryant. His mother, Marita, was a dancer and his father was a priest. After graduating from high school and being assigned to a Catholic seminary, he decided to become a dancer instead. "I wanted to be a dancer," he said. "I felt that was what I wanted to do."

He learned the body of yoga by watching books and by instructing, which took five years before he started instructing, is a part of it, exercising the mind with computers to determine how hard the body of yoga is to do. The subtle demand made on the muscles has to be experienced to be appreciated. Tony occasionally will give demonstrations at Fort Mason. He has presented two demonstrations for Shirley Choudhury. This summer he gave his first on Channel 22. Thisautocracy of physical perfection, he said, is what makes yoga so difficult.

Tony studied with Bishnu Ghosh, brother of Swami Kripalu, at the 13th Street in the Marina. Tony, a native of Mexico, came to the United States for the first time in 1962 and started studying yoga soon after. "I was looking for something that would give me that sense of security that I never had in life," he said. "I had a feeling of emptiness in my life and I didn't know what it was."

Tony learned from Bishnu Ghosh, brother of Swami Kripalu of the Self-Realization Fellowship in Los Angeles. Bishnu taught Tony how to do the asanas or postures by supply the feats of yogic endurance with the edge and assurance which such mastery brings. According to Tony, Bikram worked with the more thoughtful, conceptually-minded dancers in the local modern tradition, which took a year, apparently the more thoughtful, conceptually-minded dancers in the local modern tradition, which took a year, apparently.

Tony got hooked with the challenges of Hatha Yoga. "It's a real challenge," he said. "It's not easy. You have to work hard."

The Royal Path of Hatha Yoga is for the past sixteen months at the Beverly Hills branch of the Yoga Center of Los Angeles. This has been a real challenge for Tony, who has been working hard to perfect his craft. "I'm learning more about myself every day," he said. "I'm learning more about how my body works and how my body responds to different exercises."

Tony is now teaching at the Yoga College of Los Angeles. He is still learning and he is still teaching. "I'm learning more about myself every day," he said. "I'm learning more about how my body works and how my body responds to different exercises."

The Royal Path of Hatha Yoga is a part of some interviews, but in the end, many are left empty.

San Francisco Ballet premieres the George Balanchine's spirited, high-stepping Stars and Stripes headlines the program as the San Francisco Ballet launches its 1981 Repertory Season at the Opera House on Monday, January 19 at 7:30 p.m. Also on the bill for the inauguration is Balanchine's Concerto Barocco and Michael Smuin's Overture and Songs of Mahler.
Louis Falco
DANCE COMPANY

DAVIES M. HALL AND ALL MAJOR AOSNCHBa
USB TOUR MASTERCARD OR VISA 831-6400
FULL BAR ft QUALITY
CONTINENTAL CUI

Quality films to dispel winter doldrums

Castro Theatre Showcases the Selznick Classics

John Brown

When a glowering wino optical’ is up at 1306, movie screens and projectors a "Selznick International Picture," he and the perchers take it to mean a lot of long hair, cardboard outfits, and a week with a flustered, bearded, and maddeningly hazardous whiz. But now, perhaps, the dereligious myth and the residual emotions behind it mean the same thing to the American public as the 5th and 4th, the famous seasons of the San Francisco Symphony.

The Castro Theatre, the oldest and very last of the Bay Area's downtown movie palaces, is very seldom renowned. Indeed, there are very few people who recall its presence or even who seek out its current activities. But now, perhaps, the perchers have noticed that the Castro, in its fundamental way, perhaps has been providing them with the best of those long hair, cardboard outfits, and a week with a whiz. The Castro is opening a season of classical films which movie patrons will recognize from the days when they had to be shushed and delivered by the mighty Selig silent black-and-white projectors of 1925.

Films selected offer a sampling of writing to:

"The crafted wooden sign and the colonial mansion behind it meant among commercial theatres in the Bay Area, perhaps none has provided more imaginative programming than the Castro have ever seen more than a week's notice that a "Selznick International Picture" was being shown. Bring your blankets as your kith and kin.

The quality that distinguished a "Selznick International Picture" was, essentially, quality of production. The directors and actors were....

The world of Selznick Classics

TIBURON

CASTRO THEATRE
Showcases the Selznick Classics

In 1950, studio photographer John Englehard did the portrait of William Powell, whose career at Paramount was looking up. Powell was at the peak of his powers, and it showed through his portrayal of the part of a philosopher, a man who had taught to speak in the rich dialect of a transplanted American. One's first impression is, alas, scarcely to the motion picture "Made in Hollywood.

The quality that distinguished a "Selznick International Picture" was, essentially, quality of production. The directors and actors were....

The world of Selznick Classics

TIBURON
At the St. Francis and Alexandria.

instead.

MOVIE

duce anything so dumb; and they've

You Can,

M O VIE

which makes kidnaps a woman who's close to him.

into an outdoor bout when the mob was obscure enough for the basically antics of Clyde the orangutan—ele­ buddy Clyde all the respect due a brand of tough/tender machismo. He'll his scheduled opponent, William human, and he almost doesn't fight beforehand. There's no motivation for more money in one week than East­ grades of garbage.

higher grade than

Notably absent this time is Sondra ear-end used to be the time when class, white Americans to move to their Górmese diplomat, and the presidenplaying bilingual Scrabble with a bitch fight between rival actresses Eliza­ always loved your figure, darling, and sounds like Charles Pierce's "Bette vs.

most like a bell going ofO to be sure the Nile.

be more fun, but it's fun. Don't see they fix their "soundproofing")

(Home Office)

(Head Office)

BIFOCAL CONTACT LENSES?

If you are looking for bifocal contact lenses or if you would like more information about them, telephone us.

We will be happy to answer all questions.

Mr. Falwell's new book, "Good News for Gays & Lesbians," is the answer to a question that has been a happy one.

For the Soothsayer of Howard Street

The Soothsayer of Howard Street

Edward Colman

Shoemakers have been his bread and butter for nearly 20 years, and there's nothing else to do. However, he is a member of the community, and he would try to be of some service if he could. He has a son, Edward Jr., who is now a school teacher. He is a bitterman who has seen hard times, and yet he remains optimistic.

The full story is far more complex and intriguing, but this is the beginning of the Soothsayer's story.

Meanwhile, back at The Regency...
THE STUTTGART BALLETT

GETTING MY ACT TOGETHER AND PUTTING IT ON THE ROAD. B.V. BURGUNDY, 1976

Joe Carroll, the creator of the classic musical "Getting My Act Together and Putting It on the Road," has crafted a performance that is both humorous and poignant. The piece tells the story of a man who is trying to get his life together, but finds that life is full of unexpected obstacles.

One of the highlights of the performance is the character of Joe (played by Lawrence Halston), who is portrayed as a man who is struggling to find his place in the world. Joe is a complex character, and Lawrence Halston delivers a powerful performance that is both touching and hilarious. The audience is taken on a journey with Joe, as he attempts to overcome the challenges that life throws his way.

The setting of the performance is a series of different locations, each with its own unique atmosphere. The director has done a great job of capturing the essence of each location, and the audience is able to feel as if they are part of the story.

In conclusion, "Getting My Act Together and Putting It on the Road" is a must-see performance for anyone who loves music and theatre. The music is upbeat and catchy, and the cast delivers a superb performance that is sure to leave you smiling and in awe of the talent on display. Don't miss out on this opportunity to experience one of the greatest musicals of all time.
NEW 3-WAY SPEAKER SYSTEM (Model 985)

With Sound Quality So Fantastic You Won't Believe Your Ears!

Giant size cabinets give rich resonant sound to fill even the largest room.

$149 each ($298 for the pair).

Although these marantz speaker systems are rather large for the average room, their beautiful walnut grain color blends well with any decor.

These speaker systems are one of Marantz's newest models. (So new that most stores don't even have this new series in stock.) Do not confuse these high quality Marantz speakers with the lower priced Marantz speakers, such as the 15M, 12M, 2M, etc. This new model (the 985) is an incredible speaker system.

5 YEAR SERVICE POLICY INCLUDED FREE

This is marantz's NEATEST ONE!!!
(Model SR2000)

At a price so low, It will shock you, and drive other Stereo Dealers Insane!!!

76 WATTS RMS!!

This powerful AM-FM Receiver has an ample 38 RMS watts Per Channel (times 2 ch.) into 4 ohms minimum continuous power output from 20 Hz to 20,000 Hz with less than 0.1% Total Harmonic Distortion.

But now you can buy this great Marantz Receiver, [Brand New in factory sealed carton], for only $1 [that's right, only one dollar], when you buy one pair of the speaker systems shown above, at the price Advertised above.

Your cost for the Speaker systems above is $149.00 each, for a total of $298 for the pair.

plus $1 for the Marantz Receiver. Thus, your complete cost for the complete 3 piece group is only $299.

SUNSET STEREO
Our 12th Year of Serving San Francisco
2555 Irving Street - San Francisco