Alcoholism in the gay community

ARE YOU AN ALCOHOLIC?

In this issue, the Sentinel presents a four-part series on alcoholism in the gay community. In this first part, we will examine the problem of alcoholism among the gay community and how it affects those who are gay or lesbian. Laurel and Michael are the real stories of the recovering alcoholics who are reinvented here.

Laurel's Story

"I used to think that my drinking was a personal problem that had nothing to do with my sexuality. But now I know that alcoholism is a disease that affects everyone, and it doesn't matter if you're gay or straight. I'm glad I'm gay, but I wish I could have been sober when I was young." - Laurel

Michael's Story

"I never thought that I would get drunk on my first date. But when I met my boyfriend, I couldn't resist. And now look at me - I can't stop drinking. I wish I could go back in time and not drink, but it's too late now. Alcohol is a poison, and I'm not going to die from it anymore." - Michael

Jaguar Bookstore Lobbyist Explores Boundaries of Gay Activism

When the Jaguar Club in San Francisco was under attack by the Moral Majority, a group of local storefront bookstores came together to help save the club. The stores were able to raise sufficient funds to purchase the club and make it safe for its gay members. The club is now free of outside influence and operates on its own terms.

HEAD SPACE

Jim Blood, Ph.D, and Associates

"Head Space" is designed to help patients think through specific problems, whether it's something they've had going on for years or a single episode that's been nagging them. The goal is to help patients recognize patterns and understand what's happening in their lives. In the upcoming session, we'll be focusing on the role of emotions in decision-making. We'll explore how emotions can influence our choices and how to manage them effectively.

INVESTMENT NOTES

Inflation Battle Dictates Investor Strategy Change

Larry Hunter

Now that the election of President Reagan has taken place, it's time to consider how this may affect the financial markets. With inflation at a record high, investors must be careful in how they allocate their funds. One strategy that has been successful in this climate is the use of inflation-indexed bonds. These bonds adjust their interest rate in line with the rate of inflation, providing a hedge against inflation.

Power vs. Propaganda

Editor

The recent election has brought about a new era in politics. With the new administration in power, it's clear that the focus has shifted from power to propaganda. The government is now using its influence to shape public opinion and control the flow of information. This is a dangerous trend that must be opposed. As citizens, we must remain vigilant and hold our leaders accountable for their actions.
A liberated Catholic girl from suburban New York is stabbed to death by a transsexual whose only motive for cross-dressing was to become a "psychopathic personality" diagnosed by the American Psychiatric Association's Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (DSM-III).

Freud has said there are no accidents, especially disavowed by the American Psychiatric Association's belief of "psychopathic personality" diagnosis. "Some analysts may even go so far as to call the term 'latent homosexuality' and its correlate schizophrenia and crimes of murderous intent 'psychopathological' (below).

In a claustrophobic Manhattan elevator, a psycho killer砍s down a young woman in one of the motel showers. As Leon W. Frank, M.D., the author of "The Transsexual Empire" (Beacon Press, 1979), the only major psychiatrist on the subject, puts it, "The Transsexual Empire is preposterously simple-minded."

The Fugue

Prologue

We see the last scene of the play. It is the scene of the final soliloquy. The last word of the play is spoken, and the curtain falls. The lights go down. The audience is left in darkness. They are silent. They are in awe. They are moved. They are moved by the power of the play. They are moved by the beauty of the play. They are moved by the truth of the play.

Epilogue

The lights come up. The audience is startled. They see that they are still in the theatre. They are in the audience. They are watching the play. They are watching the soliloquy. They are watching the play's last scene. They are watching the play's last word. They are watching the curtain fall. They are watching the lights go down. They are watching the darkness. They are watching the silence. They are watching the awe. They are watching the truth. They are watching the beauty. They are watching the power.

The Fugue is over. The audience is free. They go out into the world. They are the same people they were before. They have been moved. They have been changed. They have been touched. They have been transformed.
